HOW THE LAWMAKERS LOOK

Democrats Hesitate to Vote for a Candidate Named Booze—Prohibitionists' Newspaper Project—Notes And Gossip of the Capital.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 9.—(Special)—A character sketch of the personnel of the senate may be of interest to East Liverpool readers. Lieutenant Governor Nippert's pronounced accent proves his German extraction. He is bright, clever, brainy and highly cultured. The distinguishing feature in his makeup is his affability. He will make an ideal president. Senator Archer, president pro tem, is well groomed. He parts his hair in the center, combing it flat over his temples, giving him a German look.

Burnham is a strong man and will be a leader. Chamberlain will be a power in the senate. Connell is the best dressed and best looking in the chamber. Crites is a banker and will make a useful member on the finance committee. Decker is an editor, bright, and a good mixer. Dunham is an oil producer. His pleasant face, his frankness and manliness have made him a legion of friends. When you meet him you feel as if he were going to set up the cigars. Eckert is shrewd and discerning. Godfrey is good looking, good natured and a very capable man.

Krauss is a druggist, wide awake, and progressive. Hanna—no relative of Mark—will be a power in the legislature. Harding is a handsome man with a strong cast of features and one of the brainiest men in the senate. His commanding presence, his ability as an orator make him without a peer in the assembly. Harris is a farmer, but not a hayseed. He weighs about 99 pounds. His thin, compressed lips denote inflexible will. He reminds one of the pedagogue of Dotheboy's hall in "Nicholas Nickleby." He will give away pounds in weight to some of his colleagues and come out on top. Harrison, the youngest senator, is almost boyish in appearance. He is a good talker and level headed.

Colonel Herrick, of Cleveland—cousin of Myron—is the leader of the Democrats, and a very able man. Hosea, tall and angular featured, is above the average in ability and a man of some judgment. Hurst is in real estate. If he is as successful in statesmanship as he has been in that business he will win golden honors. Judson possesses wonderful aptitude for business and will make a faithful and conscientious senator. Longworth is a clever fellow, a profound thinker and good talker. Moore is a banker and an attendant in one of the hospitals, having worked his way up. He has a fine appearance and genial manner.

Overturf is the largest man and his superabundance of adipose tissue does not outweigh his gray matter. Patterson is a fighter from Scrapville, aggressive to an assertive degree, an eminent parliamentarian, logical, lucid and forceful. Harding and Patterson are the ablest men in the senate. Pemerane possesses lots of nerve. Riggin is a farmer, small in stature, bright and will make a good record. Roudebush will cut a figure if noise counts for anything. Royor is good looking and a man of some ability.

Stillwell is a lawyer and expects to make some noise during the session. Thompson is an attorney and his home is in Columbus. Warner is a physician, at one time a professor at Berea college. He wears a skull cap. His mental powers are vigorous and healthy. Watts is a merchant, a man of force and unexceptional ability. Wilhelm wears a smile as broad as the Republican platform. Wirt is stockily built; his dark eyes flash like diamonds. His powers carry great weight. Yates is a farmer.

The Cornerstone, the organ of the Prohibition party, is now controlled by a stock company, organized under the laws of New Jersey, with $15,000 capital stock. A number of prominent Prohibitionists in the Eighteenth congressional district have agreed to take stock in the company, among whom are John Danner, of Canton, and Ex-Mayor C. F. Bough, S. J. Faulk and W. A. Weaver, of East Liverpool. The headquarters of the paper have been changed from Columbus to St. Paris, Champaign county. J. J. Ashenhurst, a former Canton resident, who has been chairman of the Prohibition party for years, will continue to wield the editorial pen of the paper. He states that $1,000 has already been contributed for campaign purposes for the party this year, and altogether it is expected to raise a fund of $10,000. The party

NUMEROUS CANDIDATES FOR LIBRARIAN AND JANITOR.

Board of the Carnegie Institution Will Soon Meet to Make Their Selections.

The board of directors of the Carnegie library will meet within the next few days for the purpose of selecting a librarian and janitor for the new institution.

A number of applications have been received from out-of-town parties for the position of librarian, and these applicants have, in every case, been persons who are well qualified and have had experience.

The members of the council who have been made acquainted with the disposition of a few individuals to make demands when the new appointments on the Carnegie board are made say they will consider requests, but not demands.

A large number of applications have been received from parties who desire to be made janitor of the Carnegie building, and it is likely some difficulty will be experienced in making a selection.

GHOULISH PRANKS

Health Officer Appealed to, But Cites Complainants to the Cemetery Trustees.

Ghoulish pranks and desecration continue at the old cemetery site, to the disturbance of the general equnimity of that vicinity. The health officer, J. H. Burgess, was appealed to yesterday by a citizen who had witnessed an aggravating instance of desecration; but was informed by the officer that he should make his report to the cemetery trustees, who should stop the practice of youthful vandals scattering unearthed human bones.

Not only have scarecrows been constructed of human bones, but boys have paraded about with them, and even played foot ball with skulls.

SHE WANTED JUSTICE

Girl From Dry Run Tells a Long Tale of Woe in Local Courts.

Ora Baker, an 18-year-old girl living near Dry Run, appeared at the mayor's office this morning in company with David Edmonds, with whom she makes her home, and asked to have an affidavit filed against Mrs. Henry Jacobs, of Dry Run.

The girl had a long story of alleged persecutions at the hands of Mrs. Jacobs. She further said that Mrs. Jacobs had defamed her character and desired that justice in great bulk be meted out post-haste.

The mayor referred the girl to a justice and she went to 'Squire McLane's office. The magistrate concluded that the case was not so aggravated as the girl would have it appear, though he agreed to inform Mrs. Jacobs that unless she desisted from further practice of the persecutions, as alleged, she would be called on to appear in court. Constable Powell served the notice.

Appointed Guardian.

Lisbon, January 9.—(Special)—Christina Fairman has been appointed guardian of Marguerite Richardson, an eight-year-old daughter of William Richardson, late of Wellsville township. Bond $1,400.

WAR THREATENED ON TRUST BREAD

Local Labor Circles Opposed to the Product of Non-Union Bakeries.

A CUT HAS BEEN MADE

In the Price of Loaves to Compete With Local Breadmakers—Trades Council Will Be Urged to Give the Question Consideration.

A stir has been on among the bakers for the past two days. It has been caused by the active competition of the National Biscuit company. The trust has reduced the price of bread to dealers of about one cent a loaf and has also established an independent retail business.

The local bakers claim that the trust is trying to drive them out, and that they will be unable to stand the work of the National Biscuit company.

For some time the trust has sold its product through stores, but has not up to the present made war on the bakers. This week they have put wagons on the street and non-union bread is in the city to the concern of the resident craftsmen.

The price of East Liverpool bread to dealers is 4 cents for a 5 cent loaf, and 8 cents for a 10 cent loaf, but bread is being sold by firms in the National biscuit company and by other outside establishments to dealers at from 3 to 3 1-2 cents for a 5 cent loaf and at 6 to 7 cents for 10 cent loaves.

Non-union goods are being bought by a few East Liverpool grocers from two firms, one of them in Pittsburg.

A letter was received yesterday by R. H. Buchanan, who is secretary of the bakers' local union No. 80, from F. H. Harzbecker, who is secretary of the International Bakers' union, with headquarters at 236 Superior street, Cleveland. It was a reply to a query made by Mr. Buchanan as to the standing of the biscuit trust in labor circles.

The letter informed Mr. Buchanan that in the convention of the American Federation of Labor held in Scranton, Pa., Dec. 5, last, the National Biscuit company had been declared unfair.

Local union No. 80 has had a small trouble with two employing firms, but expect to have the maters amicably adjusted by the close of the week. Union labels will then be placed on all East Liverpool bakers' bread.

The bakers have three delegates in the trades council who will bring the troubles of the bakers with non-union firms before that body in a few days.

SHERIFFS' FIRST TRIP

Goes to Serve Subpoenas—Grand Jury Work Will Be Light.

Lisbon, January 9.—(Special)—Sheriff C. P. Leonard started today on his first official trip. He was called to New Waterford and East Palestine to serve subpoenas for the grand jury.

The grand jury will be empaneled next Monday. The business to come before it is the lightest for years. The jail is without a prisoner.

Manager at Chester.

Jud King, who for the past several years has been an assistant in the office of the American Tin Plate company at Niles, has been promoted to the position of general office manager at the Chester plant. Mr. King is well known in this city, having resided here several years ago. He is moving his family here from Niles and will occupy a handsome new residence on Thompson avenue.

SERIOUS DEFECTS FOUND IN BOILERS

Government Inspector Condemns Several In the Tin Mill at Irondale.

REMOVAL OF THE PLANT

Will Doubtless Be Hastened Because of the Inspector's Discovery—To Continue Only Until Material Now on Hand Is Exhausted.

Irondale, January 9.—(Special)—As the result of a visit here of a government inspector, a report was given out today that several boilers in the mill have been condemned, which, it is believed, is positive assurance that the proposed removal of the plant to Chester will be speedily hastened.

Little can be learned from the mill officials concerning the orders of the inspector, but the information comes from a reliable source that as soon as the material is exhausted which is at present on hand, the departments which get their power from the condemned boilers will be closed down and the machinery removed at once.

It was learned positively that the boilers would not be repaired or replaced by new ones until the removal of the plant, as the departments which are not directly affected would be handicapped by the idleness of others, and it is the purpose to hasten the change.

The latest orders coming from the head of the steel corporation, so far as known, were to the effect that the Irondale mill would continue in operation until spring, but now that the discovery of the government boiler inspector has become known the people here would not be surprised to see the plant removed any day.

BIGAMY NO CRIME

According to the Views of the Prosecutor of Harrison County.

Steubenville January 9.—Charles Sayles, colored, of Adena, who was arrested in Harrison county a few days ago on a charge of bigamy preferred by his second wife, of Uhrichsville, and sent to jail at New Philadelphia, has been released.

Prosecuting Attorney Grier investigated the case and found Sayles' marriage had taken place in Harrison county and for that reason he could not be prosecuted in Tuscarawas county.

The prosecuting attorney of Harrison county advised against prosecution, claiming that such practice in that county among colored people is very common.

HEARING IN THIS CITY

Judge Hole Coming Here to Hear Burgess-West End Pottery Case.

Lisbon, January 9.—(Special)—Judge Hole will hear the testimony of a few witnesses in the case of William Burgess against the West End Pottery company in East Liverpool tomorrow.

The case is an old one, growing out of a partnership dispute, and has been before common pleas court for two years or more.

WHOLESALE VACCINATION

Ordered at Mingo By a State Health Officer to Check Smallpox.

Mingo, January 9.—Dr. Heinlein, of Bridgeport, a member of the state board of health, has advised that, owing to the prevalence of smallpox, everybody in the village be vaccinated, unless having recently undergone the operation.

The superintendents in all departments of the mill have been instructed by Dr. Morgan, secretary of the local health board, to request every man working in the mill that requires vaccination to have it done at once. If this request is not complied with the town will be divided into districts and physicians appointed to vaccinate everybody, and those not able to pay will be operated on at the expense of the board.

The pesthouse was built yesterday and stoves and furniture will be moved in without delay. The three hotel patients will then be moved.

PLAN FOR AID OF THE HOSPITAL

RUMMAGE SALE WILL BE HELD OPENING JANUARY 18.

All the Churches to Cooperate—Committees of Arrangements Selected.

The general committee which will have charge of the rummage sale for the benefit of the hospital held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and made arrangements for the event.

Every church in the city was represented excepting the Baptist and the A. M. E., and it is expected that these will select their committees at once.

The sale will begin Saturday, January 18, and it is the desire of the committee that contributions be brought in on Friday, the 17th.

The building on Broadway, formerly occupied by J. I. Hodson drug store, has been secured and it may be that another room will be opened on the hill later.

It was the original intention to have the three members representing each church to take charge of the sale one day each until all had taken a turn, but it was thought best to have one each from all churches to be there continually. This will provide more clerks than under the other plan and will have a tendency to make all visitors at home at all times.

The committees selected follow:

Presbyterian—Mrs. N. A. Frederick, Mrs. J. R. Warner, Miss M. E. Hazlett.

U. P.—Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. A. S. Young, Mrs. Joseph Wilson.

St. Stephen's—Mrs. Antrim, Mrs. R. Scragg, Mrs. Stubbs.

St. John's—Mrs. Argner, Mrs. Bauman, Mrs. Farrell.

St. Aloysius'—Mrs. D. E. McNicol, Mrs. Tebbutt, Mrs. W. C. Davidson.

M. E.—Mrs. Howard, Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. J. E. Anderson.

M. P.—Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Rever.

STRIKE BROKEN

NEW WATERFORD MINERS READY TO GO TO WORK.

Other Strikers Expected to Follow Their Example, Accepting Operators' Terms.

New Waterford, January 9.—(Special)—The long strike of miners in Columbiana county has been broken. The New Waterford miners have notified state headquarters of the miners' union that they are ready to go to work as soon as orders are received.

The other miners throughout the county are expected to take similar action, accepting the operators' terms.

HYDRANT LEFT OPEN

And As a Result the Bon Ton Store Is Flooded—Heavy Loss Sustained.

A water works hydrant was left open in an upper floor of the Porter building last evening, which caused a serious deluge.

Hundreds of gallons of the water poured down into the room occupied by the Bon Ton store, which caused great damage, the exact extent of which has not yet been learned.

Not a Candidate.

It is now certain that Liverpool township will have one less representative in the contest for Republican nominations at the coming county primarq. Atwood W. Thomas was seen by a News Review reporter this morning and states that he will not enter the race for county recorder.

POTTERY PROJECTED FOR YOUNGSTOWN

Youngstown's chamber of commerce is taking up with the idea of Thomas G. Burton, of this city, to locate a pottery there. For several weeks Mr. Burton has been in correspondence with influential men at Niles and other places, but has received flattering assurances from Robert A. McClain who is secretary of the chamber of commerce at Younstown, that the members of the board of industry in that city look favorably on the venture.

They are discussing a suitable site for the plant, and it is given out that a superior grade of china and kindred ware, with which Burton is familiar, will be turned out by the proposed plant.

Mr. Burton has been in the employ of various East Liverpool companies and has the reputation of being a thorough potter and having a fine knowledge of the decalcomania departments. He has of late been interested in novel specialties to the trade.

It has not been learned that any East Liverpool capitalists have been interested with Burton in his plans, but probably men from Youngstown or other cities have gone in on the investment.

Mr. Burton left today for Youngstown to meet industrial representatives of that city to discuss the proffer of building sites and whatever else in the way of favors the town might afford.

PROPOSE TO BUILD A HOME FOR USE OF LOCAL CLUBS

PHOENIX CLUB TAKES IT UP

And Negotiations Are Now Pending For Purchase of Post Office Building.

STRUCTURE WILL BE ENLARGED

In Case the Deal Is Carried Through And Great Things Are Contemplated By the Projectors—Final Decision Is Expected Soon.

At a meeting of the Phoenix club last evening a proposition which was first brought to local notice by the News Review a few months ago was taken up, which, it is believed, will result in the consummation of an important deal in which a number of the different clubs of the city will be interested.

While the proposed scheme has not as yet assumed definite proportions, there is every indication to warrant the belief that it will be carried through without delay. The matter was fully discussed at last evening's meeting of the club and all members present were heartily in favor of going ahead with it.

The proposition as thus far projected is that of purchasing the building in which the postoffice is located, and which is owned by W. W. Harker, who recently came into its possession. It is understood that as a result of negotiations which have been going on for some time the Phoenix club has received an offer whereby the deal for the purchase of the building can be closed for $19,000.

In case this is done it is proposed to erect three additional stories to the building, thus making it one of the largest in the city. The different floors will be divided off into separate apartments, thereby providing quarters for many of the different clubs, whose members are dissatisfied with their present location.

It is also the intention to have a large dancing hall, stage and gymnasium, in addition to bath rooms, closets and private rooms. Arrangements will be so effected that each club can have equal advantages in the use of all departments. It is argued that by the consummation of the scheme each club included can save hundreds of dollars yearly and at the same time enjoy many comforts that are not to be had at present.

The same scheme has been introduced in many of the cities throughout the country and has in every instance proved entirely satisfactory. Several members of the Phoenix club have been agitating the matter since the News Review first took it up, and in order to satisfy themselves of the practicability of the project a number of investigations have been made with agreeable results.

It has not yet been decided which of the clubs will be included in the deal in case it goes through, but it is probable that at the next meeting of the Phoenix club a final conclusion regarding the purchase of the desired building will be reached.

DECLAREO A NUISANCE

Salem Opera House Condemned By the Board of Health of That City.

Salem, January 9.—(Special)—At a meeting of the board of health last evening a resolution was passed declaring the Salem opera house a public nuisance, owing to defective drainage, unsanitary appliances, etc., and a menace to life and health.

The owner was ordered to abate the nuisance within 10 days.

Interesting Revival Services.

The revival services at the First M. E. church are continuing with increased interest. Last night the largest congregation since the meetings began listened to an able sermon by Rev. Dr. Clark Crawford. The text was taken from Acts 14, 8-13. Great interest was manifested. Two persons responded to the invitation and went forward to the altar.

McClain who is secretary of the chamber of commerce at Younstown, that the members of the board of industry in that city look favorably on the venture.

They are discussing a suitable site for the plant, and it is given out that a superior grade of china and kindred ware, with which Burton is familiar, will be turned out by the proposed plant.

Mr. Burton has been in the employ of various East Liverpool companies and has the reputation of being a thorough potter and having a fine knowledge of the decalcomania departments. He has of late been interested in novel specialties to the trade.

It has not been learned that any East Liverpool capitalists have been interested with Burton in his plans, but probably men from Youngstown or other cities have gone in on the investment.

Mr. Burton left today for Youngstown to meet industrial representatives of that city to discuss the proffer of building sites and whatever else in the way of favors the town might afford.

PROPOSE TO BUILD A HOME FOR USE OF LOCAL CLUBS

PHOENIX CLUB TAKES IT UP

And Negotiations Are Now Pending For Purchase of Post Office Building.

In Case the Deal Is Carried Through And Great Things Are Contemplated By the Projectors—Final Decision Is Expected Soon.

At a meeting of the Phoenix club last evening a proposition which was first brought to local notice by the News Review a few months ago was taken up, which, it is believed, will result in the consummation of an important deal in which a number of the different clubs of the city will be interested.

While the proposed scheme has not as yet assumed definite proportions, there is every indication to warrant the belief that it will be carried through without delay. The matter was fully discussed at last evening's meeting of the club and all members present were heartily in favor of going ahead with it.

The proposition as thus far projected is that of purchasing the building in which the postoffice is located, and which is owned by W. W. Harker, who recently came into its possession. It is understood that as a result of negotiations which have been going on for some time the Phoenix club has received an offer whereby the deal for the purchase of the building can be closed for $19,000.

In case this is done it is proposed to erect three additional stories to the building, thus making it one of the largest in the city. The different floors will be divided off into separate apartments, thereby providing quarters for many of the different clubs, whose members are dissatisfied with their present location.

It is also the intention to have a large dancing hall, stage and gymnasium, in addition to bath rooms, closets and private rooms. Arrangements will be so effected that each club can have equal advantages in the use of all departments. It is argued that by the consummation of the scheme each club included can save hundreds of dollars yearly and at the same time enjoy many comforts that are not to be had at present.

The same scheme has been introduced in many of the cities throughout the country and has in every instance proved entirely satisfactory. Several members of the Phoenix club have been agitating the matter since the News Review first took it up, and in order to satisfy themselves of the practicability of the project a number of investigations have been made with agreeable results.

It has not yet been decided which of the clubs will be included in the deal in case it goes through, but it is probable that at the next meeting of the Phoenix club a final conclusion regarding the purchase of the desired building will be reached.

PLAN FOR AID OF THE HOSPITAL

RUMMAGE SALE WILL BE HELD OPENING JANUARY 18.

All the Churches to Cooperate—Committees of Arrangements Selected.

The general committee which will have charge of the rummage sale for the benefit of the hospital held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and made arrangements for the event.

Every church in the city was represented excepting the Baptist and the A. M. E., and it is expected that these will select their committees at once.

The sale will begin Saturday, January 18, and it is the desire of the committee that contributions be brought in on Friday, the 17th.

The building on Broadway, formerly occupied by J. I. Hodson drug store, has been secured and it may be that another room will be opened on the hill later.

It was the original intention to have the three members representing each church to take charge of the sale one day each until all had taken a turn, but it was thought best to have one each from all churches to be there continually. This will provide more clerks than under the other plan and will have a tendency to make all visitors at home at all times.

The committees selected follow:

Presbyterian—Mrs. N. A. Frederick, Mrs. J. R. Warner, Miss M. E. Hazlett.

U. P.—Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. A. S. Young, Mrs. Joseph Wilson.

St. Stephen's—Mrs. Antrim, Mrs. R. Scragg, Mrs. Stubbs.

St. John's—Mrs. Argner, Mrs. Bauman, Mrs. Farrell.

St. Aloysius'—Mrs. D. E. McNicol, Mrs. Tebbutt, Mrs. W. C. Davidson.

M. E.—Mrs. Howard, Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. J. E. Anderson.

M. P.—Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Rever.

And As a Result the Bon Ton Store Is Flooded—Heavy Loss Sustained.

A water works hydrant was left open in an upper floor of the Porter building last evening, which caused a serious deluge.

Hundreds of gallons of the water poured down into the room occupied by the Bon Ton store, which caused great damage, the exact extent of which has not yet been learned.

DECLAREO A NUISANCE

Salem Opera House Condemned By the Board of Health of That City.

Salem, January 9.—(Special)—At a meeting of the board of health last evening a resolution was passed declaring the Salem opera house a public nuisance, owing to defective drainage, unsanitary appliances, etc., and a menace to life and health.

The owner was ordered to abate the nuisance within 10 days.

Interesting Revival Services.

The revival services at the First M. E. church are continuing with increased interest. Last night the largest congregation since the meetings began listened to an able sermon by Rev. Dr. Clark Crawford. The text was taken from Acts 14, 8-13. Great interest was manifested. Two persons responded to the invitation and went forward to the altar.

EAST END

AN EXPRESS AGENT

THE EAST END HAS SUCH AN OFFICIAL AGAIN.

People Also Want a Freight Agent. Great Inconvenience Because There Is None.

Business men of the East End have succeeded in getting the reestablishment of the Adams express station which was abolished a week ago. It was abandoned because W. C. Supplee had resigned and no one had been found to take his place, on account of the smallness of the salary.

A strong remonstrance was presented to the Adams company, for it had been a great inconvenience to manufacturers and merchants to go to the down town office for express. They were highly pleased when H. H. Dooley, a newly appointed agent, reopened the East End office this morning. His headquarters are in McAllister's store.

The people would like very much to have a better arrangement with the Pennsylvania in freight consignments. Unless the shipments are prepaid they are not unloaded at the Mulberry street crossing, but at the down town freight house. This is unsatisfactory, for the reason that it is generally desirable to pay freight bills after the goods have been unloaded and examined.

One man could serve in the capacity of depot agent for freight and passenger traffic and could likewise attend to the express business. It is considered by East Enders that this would be an economical arrangement and would also be of incalculable convenience to patrons of the railroad. However, this brings up the proposed new depot, which the Pennsylvania has not yet started.

LARGE STEAM FAN

Installed at the East End Brick Works to Be Used in Drying Process.

Another improvement has been made at the East End brick yard, which the owners hope will be of much benefit. Trouble has been experienced at this plant, since the new management secured control in drying bricks in the green state, and during the past few months several appliances have been tried without success.

A steam fan four feet in diameter was installed yesterday in front of a large furnace to drive the hot air into the new drying kilns.

While this change could be called an experiment the company is of the opinion that in forcing the hot air into the kilns in this manner the bricks can be dried more quickly.

Dramatic Club Proposed.

Several young people of histrionic bent are discussing a home talent dramatic club which will perhaps be organized in the course of a week by E. M. Fisher. They will undergo training and anticipate giving a series of entertainments for pleasure and profit.

SENSATION AT BELOIT

YOUNG WIDOW LOVED WELL AND OFTEN BUT NOT WISELY.

Suitors of the Woman Use Her As a Tool And Work a Swindling Game.

Beloit, January 9.—The latest acquisition to a long list of sensational episodes that have furnished unlimited material for interesting gossip in this usually quiet village for several months, has culminated in the disappearance of Eugene Walton, a young man, who has been making his home at the Beloit hotel.

Walton had recently been paying some attention to a young widow who resides at Damascus. He seemed infatuated with her and lavishly expended money upon her. He lived beyond his income, but used his credit to make up the deficiency. Back of this there is another who comes upon the scene, another who had paid attention to the same young Damascus widow and who also roomed at the Beloit hotel. He had for a time been infatuated with her, but the infatuation subsided and it is alleged he procured Walton as a substitute.

A ring purchased by the former suitor for the widow was withheld and Walton bought it and presented it to her. He persuaded Homer Boyle to become security for a new suit of clothes. He betrayed Heacock Bros. for about $5 and a like sum was extracted from Goddard & McLean. He borrowed money of others and forgot to see them to say "goodbye." He even asserted that the widow and himself were to be married at an early date, and that he was preparing for the event.

As the widow is sick he found many willing to become his creditors. But the widow proved unsatisfactory to him in the eleventh hour, or he to her, and the engagement was broken off. It then dawned upon some fertile brains that it was a well laid plot of suitor number one to untangle his alliance by entangling another, and it certainly succeeded.

As a fitting climax Walton absconded, leaving numerous creditors to mourn his departure for fresh fields of conquest. The widow is almost distracted.

A CAT IN A MAIL BOX

It Gave a Carrier a Warm Reception And Trouble Is Promised for Somebody.

Beaver Falls, Pa., January 9.—A United States inspector has been here for several days trying to learn who put a big "Tom" cat in a small paper box in Twenty-fourth street a few days ago.

When Carrier James Patterson, in the darkness of early morning, unlocked the box, the cat sprang at his face and scratched him badly. It then dashed out of sight before he realized what had struck him. The mail in the box was in a badly mutilated condition.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. MISS FORAKER MARRIED.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Miss Julia Foraker, youngest daughter of Senator and Mrs. Foraker, was married at her parents' residence here to Mr. Francis King Wainwright, of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Mackay-Smith, and was followed by a reception at which about 400 guests were present. The bride's wedding dress was of heavy white satin, with yoke and sleeves of rose point. The veil of tulle was held by orange blossoms. The jewels worn were gifts—a crescent of diamonds from her father and a dog collar of pearls from the groom.

The bridal party and personal friends of the couple, twenty in all, sat at the table together for their wedding breakfast. Senatorial, diplomatic and social circles were largely represented in the guests attending the reception. The bride received a number of elegant gifts, which made a glittering collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright left for a honeymoon jaunt. Their future home will be at Bryn Mawr, but until their new house there is completed the couple will live in Philadelphia.

AID EVERETT-MOORE CONCERN.

Seventy Per Cent of Creditors Agree to Extension.

Cleveland, ., Jan. 9.—Seventy per cent of all the creditors of the Everett-Moore syndicate have now given their consent to the asked-for extension of time; this includes both traction and telephone interests, and is regarded as very encouraging. The main committee of seven has decided to divide itself into sub-committees, each of whom will be allotted certain portions of the interests to investigate thoroughly, and when the work is completed the several sub-committees will then report as a committee of the whole. At the completion of the investigation a general statement will be issued to the press.

Henry A. Everett was to go to New York City last night, to confer with creditors of the syndicate in that city. He hopes to secure their consent to the desired extension of time. A statement from the bankers' committee may be given out today covering the work already done, and which will include the seven or eight traction companies. Reports were also made today, concerning seven of the constituent telephone companies out of the twenty forming the Federal company's system. Six of these show a surplus over fixed charges and operating expenses, the seventh being the only one not showing a surplus, and this is accounted for because of its being a new company and but recently having begun operation.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER TAKE HOLY VOWS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—At the Ursaline convent in this city, Mrs. J. King and her daughter, Miss Katherine King, of Niles, Mich., took perpetual vows before Vicar General Hickey. Mrs. King is a widow and is greatly attached to her daughter. When the latter entered the Ursaline convent here, about two years ago, her mother, rather than be separated from her daughter, followed her, and ended by taking vows yesterday with her daughter.

After nearly six years of absence Kyrle Bellew has returned to New York and is appearing at Wallack's theater as the star of "A Gentleman of France." It is enough to delight the heart of any actor to see such fashionable and crowded houses, and indeed a pardonable cause for pride to get the overwhelming reception with which this favorite was greeted.

Mr. Bellew has lost none of his handsome, manly appearance or his inimitable grace and ease of manner. It is doubtful if his many admirers will be quite satisfied with the medium selected for his return to this city. The play, "A Gentleman of France," is a dramatization by Harriet Ford of the novel of the same name by Stanley Weyman. I have not read the book, but I doubt if the handling has done justice to the original. As it stands now it is incoherent and too talky and must be touched up in many places before it will make a good play.

Gaston de Marsac, the hero, as played by Mr. Bellew cannot fail to win applause, not untinged with regret that this excellent actor has not a role more fitted to his ability. It is not good enough for Kyrle Bellew. Of course the hero overcomes all difficulties, and when he thinks his labors are ended finds himself again worsted by fate, only to rise triumphant and once more hear the approbation of the audience, especially that portion of it nearest heaven. The admirable work of every one on the stage in the fifth scene deserves special mention, and the storm which greeted them was sweet music to ears which earned every atom of it. In this scene the hero has almost rescued the heroine when he finds himself at the head of a straight flight of steps, threatened by five assailants with drawn swords.

In a twinkling the stage is a moving, fighting crowd, with flash of steel and final victory over all by Marsac. Everything was so well and so quickly done as to rouse the wild enthusiasm of the entire house. It was a bit of training and stage management many players would do well to copy. The fall of one of the dead men down the whole flight was almost startling. I would name this gentleman if it were possible in the whirl of this scene to know any one except the hero and the rescued lady.

I took up my programme during the fourth scene to assure myself of the identity of the actor who was playing the role of Simon Fliex, Marsac's faithful servant, and was not surprised at his magnificent work when I read the name of Edgar Selwyn. This part was admirably done and gives the gentleman even more scope than Tony in "Arizona," in which he made such a hit.

Mlle. de la Vire, played by Eleanor Robson, was beautifully worked out. It is a sweet, attractive character, and all that can be said is that it could not have been better carried out than was done by Miss Robson. Next, in my opinion, in point of merit comes Ada Dwyer, whose rendition of Fanchette, the attendant of Mlle. de la Vire, would have been even better if she had been more serious in some parts. She verged painfully on comedy in the balcony scene.

Clarence Handysides looked handsome and played the role of Baron de Rosny in a manly and pleasing fashion, and Manthurine, the jester, was well done by Janet Ford. The mounting of "A Gentleman of France" was in every respect fine.

At the Victoria theater the present attraction is George H. Boker's play, "Francesca da Rimini." Otis Skinner is the star, and he is surrounded by a very good company. The character of Lanciotto, a deformed soldier of Rimini, is, of course, taken by Mr. Skinner. Lanciotto is a great military leader, and his victories are a foregone conclusion. His bravery and his slavish love for his younger brother are two of his characteristics, but his greatest quality is his true unselfishness, his total self obliteration. Almost every noble quality of manhood is centered in him, and mingled with these are a sort of dread of social prominence and a timid retirement of nature owing to his deformity.

He is a hunchback and in private life began his diplomatic career as an attache of the Belgian legation at The Hague. From there he went to Madrid, then to Vienna, Berlin and Lisbon. In Rome Baron Moncheur represented his government as councilor, and in Luxembourg he was acting charge d'affaires. His next post was in Mexico as Belgium's minister.

While in Mexico Baron Moncheur met the daughter of Powell Clayton, American embassador, Miss Charlotte Clayton, to whom he will be married on Jan. 15 in her father's home.

Baron Moncheur is a widower and one of the most genial and democratic men in the diplomatic service. His wife was Miss Holman, the half sister of Mr. Padelford of Washington. The baron has three children, little girls, who are still in Mexico, but will come to Washington in the spring with their grandmother, with whom they will live after their arrival here.

Baron Moncheur has taken the house of the late Senator and Mrs. Davis, 1719 H street, and is furnishing it very handsomely for the reception of his bride. The minister and his bride will doubtless entertain extensively, as the baron enjoys society.

More than usual interest is manifested in the new Persian minister, who succeeds General Isaac Khan, one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps. On his arrival in Washington he was entertained at a large dinner given in his honor by the Russian embassador and Countess Cassini, thus receiving his introduction to social life under the most happy auspices.

Phya Akharaj, the Siamese envoy, comes from the land where the white elephant is a sacred creature, housed in a golden palace, fed and attended by awestricken domestics and served on bended knee. Nevertheless he displays all the outward signs of civilization. His diplomatic uniform is, according to the international fashion of the corps, a spiketailed coat, richly embossed with fern leaves and branches laid on heavy bullion. He wears the regulation cocked hat of a lieutenant general and the white trousers of a huzzar.

He is a young man to have attained his diplomatic rank, a native of the capital of his country, Bangkok, and a descendant of the ancient nobility. After completing his home education he was sent to Oxford, where he took both graduate and postgraduate degrees. He is a very wealthy man, both in his own right and in his expected inheritance. His previous official experience

Mirrors of the Greeks and Romans.

The mirrors of the ancient Greeks and Romans were thin disks of bronze, highly polished and usually fashioned with handles, though sometimes they were set upright on stands. Later on silver was used, and the first mirror of solid silver is said to have been made by Praxiteles in the time of Julius Cæsar. Subsequently silver mirrors took the place of brass or bronze ones almost altogether, though steel, copper and even gold were also employed. Looking glasses of metal were employed everywhere up to the fifteenth century.

The bride's wedding dress was of heavy white satin, with yoke and sleeves of rose point. The veil of tulle was held by orange blossoms. The jewels worn were gifts—a crescent of diamonds from her father and a dog collar of pearls from the groom.

The bridal party and personal friends of the couple, twenty in all, sat at the table together for their wedding breakfast. Senatorial, diplomatic and social circles were largely represented in the guests attending the reception. The bride received a number of elegant gifts, which made a glittering collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright left for a honeymoon jaunt. Their future home will be at Bryn Mawr, but until their new house there is completed the couple will live in Philadelphia.

AID EVERETT-MOORE CONCERN.

Seventy Per Cent of Creditors Agree to Extension.

Cleveland, ., Jan. 9.—Seventy per cent of all the creditors of the Everett-Moore syndicate have now given their consent to the asked-for extension of time; this includes both traction and telephone interests, and is regarded as very encouraging. The main committee of seven has decided to divide itself into sub-committees, each of whom will be allotted certain portions of the interests to investigate thoroughly, and when the work is completed the several sub-committees will then report as a committee of the whole. At the completion of the investigation a general statement will be issued to the press.

Henry A. Everett was to go to New York City last night, to confer with creditors of the syndicate in that city. He hopes to secure their consent to the desired extension of time. A statement from the bankers' committee may be given out today covering the work already done, and which will include the seven or eight traction companies. Reports were also made today, concerning seven of the constituent telephone companies out of the twenty forming the Federal company's system. Six of these show a surplus over fixed charges and operating expenses, the seventh being the only one not showing a surplus, and this is accounted for because of its being a new company and but recently having begun operation.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—At the Ursaline convent in this city, Mrs. J. King and her daughter, Miss Katherine King, of Niles, Mich., took perpetual vows before Vicar General Hickey. Mrs. King is a widow and is greatly attached to her daughter. When the latter entered the Ursaline convent here, about two years ago, her mother, rather than be separated from her daughter, followed her, and ended by taking vows yesterday with her daughter.

After nearly six years of absence Kyrle Bellew has returned to New York and is appearing at Wallack's theater as the star of "A Gentleman of France." It is enough to delight the heart of any actor to see such fashionable and crowded houses, and indeed a pardonable cause for pride to get the overwhelming reception with which this favorite was greeted.

Mr. Bellew has lost none of his handsome, manly appearance or his inimitable grace and ease of manner. It is doubtful if his many admirers will be quite satisfied with the medium selected for his return to this city. The play, "A Gentleman of France," is a dramatization by Harriet Ford of the novel of the same name by Stanley Weyman. I have not read the book, but I doubt if the handling has done justice to the original. As it stands now it is incoherent and too talky and must be touched up in many places before it will make a good play.

OTIS SKINNER AS LANCIOTTO IN "FRANCESCA DA RIMINI."

Gaston de Marsac, the hero, as played by Mr. Bellew cannot fail to win applause, not untinged with regret that this excellent actor has not a role more fitted to his ability. It is not good enough for Kyrle Bellew. Of course the hero overcomes all difficulties, and when he thinks his labors are ended finds himself again worsted by fate, only to rise triumphant and once more hear the approbation of the audience, especially that portion of it nearest heaven. The admirable work of every one on the stage in the fifth scene deserves special mention, and the storm which greeted them was sweet music to ears which earned every atom of it. In this scene the hero has almost rescued the heroine when he finds himself at the head of a straight flight of steps, threatened by five assailants with drawn swords.

In a twinkling the stage is a moving, fighting crowd, with flash of steel and final victory over all by Marsac. Everything was so well and so quickly done as to rouse the wild enthusiasm of the entire house. It was a bit of training and stage management many players would do well to copy. The fall of one of the dead men down the whole flight was almost startling. I would name this gentleman if it were possible in the whirl of this scene to know any one except the hero and the rescued lady.

I took up my programme during the fourth scene to assure myself of the identity of the actor who was playing the role of Simon Fliex, Marsac's faithful servant, and was not surprised at his magnificent work when I read the name of Edgar Selwyn. This part was admirably done and gives the gentleman even more scope than Tony in "Arizona," in which he made such a hit.

Mlle. de la Vire, played by Eleanor Robson, was beautifully worked out. It is a sweet, attractive character, and all that can be said is that it could not have been better carried out than was done by Miss Robson. Next, in my opinion, in point of merit comes Ada Dwyer, whose rendition of Fanchette, the attendant of Mlle. de la Vire, would have been even better if she had been more serious in some parts. She verged painfully on comedy in the balcony scene.

Clarence Handysides looked handsome and played the role of Baron de Rosny in a manly and pleasing fashion, and Manthurine, the jester, was well done by Janet Ford. The mounting of "A Gentleman of France" was in every respect fine.

At the Victoria theater the present attraction is George H. Boker's play, "Francesca da Rimini." Otis Skinner is the star, and he is surrounded by a very good company. The character of Lanciotto, a deformed soldier of Rimini, is, of course, taken by Mr. Skinner. Lanciotto is a great military leader, and his victories are a foregone conclusion. His bravery and his slavish love for his younger brother are two of his characteristics, but his greatest quality is his true unselfishness, his total self obliteration. Almost every noble quality of manhood is centered in him, and mingled with these are a sort of dread of social prominence and a timid retirement of nature owing to his deformity.

He is a hunchback and in private life began his diplomatic career as an attache of the Belgian legation at The Hague. From there he went to Madrid, then to Vienna, Berlin and Lisbon. In Rome Baron Moncheur represented his government as councilor, and in Luxembourg he was acting charge d'affaires. His next post was in Mexico as Belgium's minister.

While in Mexico Baron Moncheur met the daughter of Powell Clayton, American embassador, Miss Charlotte Clayton, to whom he will be married on Jan. 15 in her father's home.

Baron Moncheur is a widower and one of the most genial and democratic men in the diplomatic service. His wife was Miss Holman, the half sister of Mr. Padelford of Washington. The baron has three children, little girls, who are still in Mexico, but will come to Washington in the spring with their grandmother, with whom they will live after their arrival here.

Baron Moncheur has taken the house of the late Senator and Mrs. Davis, 1719 H street, and is furnishing it very handsomely for the reception of his bride. The minister and his bride will doubtless entertain extensively, as the baron enjoys society.

More than usual interest is manifested in the new Persian minister, who succeeds General Isaac Khan, one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps. On his arrival in Washington he was entertained at a large dinner given in his honor by the Russian embassador and Countess Cassini, thus receiving his introduction to social life under the most happy auspices.

Phya Akharaj, the Siamese envoy, comes from the land where the white elephant is a sacred creature, housed in a golden palace, fed and attended by awestricken domestics and served on bended knee. Nevertheless he displays all the outward signs of civilization. His diplomatic uniform is, according to the international fashion of the corps, a spiketailed coat, richly embossed with fern leaves and branches laid on heavy bullion. He wears the regulation cocked hat of a lieutenant general and the white trousers of a huzzar.

He is a young man to have attained his diplomatic rank, a native of the capital of his country, Bangkok, and a descendant of the ancient nobility. After completing his home education he was sent to Oxford, where he took both graduate and postgraduate degrees. He is a very wealthy man, both in his own right and in his expected inheritance. His previous official experience has been in the office of the secretary of state of Siam. At the time of his appointment to Washington he was first assistant secretary of state.

Mirrors of the Greeks and Romans.

The mirrors of the ancient Greeks and Romans were thin disks of bronze, highly polished and usually fashioned with handles, though sometimes they were set upright on stands. Later on silver was used, and the first mirror of solid silver is said to have been made by Praxiteles in the time of Julius Cæsar. Subsequently silver mirrors took the place of brass or bronze ones almost altogether, though steel, copper and even gold were also employed. Looking glasses of metal were employed everywhere up to the fifteenth century.

Rear-End Collision.

It was a rear end collision between a South Norwalk local that ran in over the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and was halted by block signals at the southern entrance of the tunnel and a White Plains local that came by the Harlem branch of the New York Central. The wreck occurred at 817 yesterday morning, at which hour the trains were crowded by suburbanites. Most of the deaths, injury and damage were wrought by the engine of the White Plains train which plunged into the rear car of the motionless train and was driven through to the middle of the car, smashing the seats and furnishings and splitting the sides as it moved forward. The victims either were mangled in the mass of wreckage carried at the pilot, crushed in the space between boiler and car sides, or scalded by steam which came hissing from broken pipes and cylinders. The engine, in its final plunge of 40 feet, carried the rear car forward and sent twisted iron, broken timbers and splinters crashing into the coach ahead. Lights were extinguished and from the wreckage and darkness came the cries of the injured and calls for assistance by those who escaped. Within a few minutes the work of rescue marked by heroism and sacrifice, began. Alarms that brought every available ambulance in the city, the police reserves of five precincts, and the firemen of the central eastern district of Manhattan, were sounded at once. With police, firemen and surgeons, came a score of volunteer physicians and half a dozen clergymen.

Noble Work of Chaplains.

Ladders were run down the tunnel air shafts and the firemen and police attacked the debris with ropes and axes. Passengers already had rallied and were trying to release those imprisoned in the debris. Rev. Father Smith and Rev. Dr. Walkley, chaplains of the department, crawled in over the wreckage and ministered to the dying. Lieut. Clarke, of the fire department, forced his way to the point where Miss Rice and Miss Short lay, and stood in water that scalded the flesh from his limbs until the women were released. T. M. Murphy, a passenger, both of whose legs were broken and still held by the timbers, volunteered to remain as he was until those around him were assisted.

Two policemen and Chaplain Walkley reached Mrs. Howard, and the chaplain gave her a stimulant. The policemen were cutting away the seat which held the woman down when a pipe broke. The scalding steam drove them back, and when the rescuers returned Mrs. Howard was dead.

Injured persons in need of immediate attention were given temporary dressing by the ambulance and volunteer surgeons, and then hoisted to the street. Many Park avenue mansions were thrown open to the suffering but most of the injured were at once taken to hospitals. The dead were carried to morgues and police stations.

Responsibility for the disaster is unfixed, but Supt. Franklin said that so far as he had been able to discover, J. M. Wischo, engineer of the White Plains train is to blame. It is declared that when the South Norwalk train stopped a flagman ran back into the tunnel, and besides placing a torpedo on the track endeavored to flag the oncoming train. The tunnel was beclouded with steam and smoke while the snow which fell through the air shafts tended to obscure the view Engineer Wischo and Fireman Christopher Flynn were arrested. A signalman also was detained for a time, but was released.

Uncle Sam's Mail Service

requires physical and mental ability of a high degree to withstand its hard labors. The high tension to which the nervous system is constantly subjected, has a depressing effect, and soon headache, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, etc., develop in severe form. Such was the case of Mail Carrier S. F. Sweinhart, of Huntsville, Ala., he says:

"An attack of pneumonia left me with muscular rheumatism, headache, and pains that seemed to be all over me. I was scarcely able to move for about a month when I decided to give Dr. Miles' Pain Pills and Nerve Plasters a trial. In three days I was again on my route and in two weeks I was free from pain and gaining in flesh and strength."

A Step Ahead For Labor and Capital

By Senator MARK HANNA

I CONSIDER THE RECENT CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK THE GREATEST STEP EVER TAKEN FOR THE SPEEDY SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES ARISING BETWEEN LABOR AND CAPITAL. The organization of capital, which has come to stay, was an evolution which naturally followed the organization of labor, which also has come to stay, and the concentration of the interests of the two sides, which should be friendly and not hostile, into the hands of a comparatively few individuals will make for the best interests of both.

Too much, of course, must not be expected at first. The agreement reached at the New York conference was simply a platform, and the good that is to result from it must develop in the future. The public must not get the idea that we are to revolutionize everything relating to the condition of labor and capital or that the joint committee is to undertake arbitration by compulsion.

The first step will be to establish a relationship between the two interests, and this will serve as a foundation to work on. WHILE WE DO NOT EXPECT THAT THERE WILL BE NO STRIKES, THEY WILL BE MINIMIZED AS A RESULT OF THE CONCILIATORY AND ARBITRATION POLICY.

WANT AMERICANS TO INVEST.

Chinese Official Asks Conger to Induce Americans.

Pekin, Jan. 9.—The director of railroads and mines of Shan-Si province visited United States Minister Conger, and said that a branch of the Belgian railroad will be extended to Shan-Si in the spring.

He explained the great mining resources of the province and requested Mr. Conger to exert his influence to induce Americans to invest capital in the province, saying that the policy of the United States during the recent troubles had led the Chinese to prefer dealing with Americans, as they have greater confidence in their honesty.

HONOR TO MISS ROOSEVELT.

German Foreign Office Pleased With Its Effect in America.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The German foreign office is delighted with the excellent effect produced in the United States by Emperor William's request that Miss Alice Rosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, christen his new yacht now being built on Staten Island. The German people are equally pleased at the result of this request.

The illustrated papers published this week contain portraits of Miss Roosevelt, and the social columns of the aristocratic journals give considerable space to a description of the Twelfth Night ball given January 6 in Washington by the Misses Kean of New Jersey, in honor of Miss Roosevelt, and print a long list of the diplomats who attended the function.

NO REPLY FROM CASTRO.

But Germany is Inclined to Allow Him Reasonable Time.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The attention of the German foreign office has been directed to the recurrence of stories to the effect that Germany is about to send an ultimatum to Venezuela. The foreign office has again informed the correspondent here of the Associated Press that a reply from President Castro of Venezuela to the note handed him January 2 by the German charge d'affaires at Caracas (Herr Von Pilgrim Baltazzi), has not yet been received; that Germany will give Castro a reasonable time in which to answer, and that she has no disposition unduly to press the President of Venezuela.

WILL HOLD DOWN PENSIONS.

Gallinger So Amended—None Likely Ror Lazeare's Widow.

Washington, Jan. 9.—During consideration by the Senate of private pension legislation some important statements were made by Mr. Gallinger, chairman of the Committe on Pensions, in respect to regulations adopted by the committee to govern it in consideration of private pension bills. He announced that none but absolutely meritorious cases would be presented to the Senate for its consideration, and that the closest scrutiny would be given by the committee to every bill introduced. He said that no pension exceeding $50 a month would be recommended by the committee for the widow of a general officer, and that pensions for the widows of other officers would be scaled down proportionately.

The interesting case of Dr. Lazeare, who at the instance of Johns Hopkins University and of the Government went to Cuba and submitted himself to inocculation with yellow fever through mosquito bites and died from the disease thus contracted, was brought to the Senate's attention by Mr. McComas, who inquired whether Dr. Lazeare's widow would be entitled to a pension. No decision was reached, but it was the opinion of Senators Gallinger and Cockrell that the case had no pensionable status.

Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Rear-End Collision.

It was a rear end collision between a South Norwalk local that ran in over the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and was halted by block signals at the southern entrance of the tunnel and a White Plains local that came by the Harlem branch of the New York Central. The wreck occurred at 817 yesterday morning, at which hour the trains were crowded by suburbanites. Most of the deaths, injury and damage were wrought by the engine of the White Plains train which plunged into the rear car of the motionless train and was driven through to the middle of the car, smashing the seats and furnishings and splitting the sides as it moved forward. The victims either were mangled in the mass of wreckage carried at the pilot, crushed in the space between boiler and car sides, or scalded by steam which came hissing from broken pipes and cylinders. The engine, in its final plunge of 40 feet, carried the rear car forward and sent twisted iron, broken timbers and splinters crashing into the coach ahead. Lights were extinguished and from the wreckage and darkness came the cries of the injured and calls for assistance by those who escaped. Within a few minutes the work of rescue marked by heroism and sacrifice, began. Alarms that brought every available ambulance in the city, the police reserves of five precincts, and the firemen of the central eastern district of Manhattan, were sounded at once. With police, firemen and surgeons, came a score of volunteer physicians and half a dozen clergymen.

Noble Work of Chaplains.

Ladders were run down the tunnel air shafts and the firemen and police attacked the debris with ropes and axes. Passengers already had rallied and were trying to release those imprisoned in the debris. Rev. Father Smith and Rev. Dr. Walkley, chaplains of the department, crawled in over the wreckage and ministered to the dying. Lieut. Clarke, of the fire department, forced his way to the point where Miss Rice and Miss Short lay, and stood in water that scalded the flesh from his limbs until the women were released. T. M. Murphy, a passenger, both of whose legs were broken and still held by the timbers, volunteered to remain as he was until those around him were assisted.

Two policemen and Chaplain Walkley reached Mrs. Howard, and the chaplain gave her a stimulant. The policemen were cutting away the seat which held the woman down when a pipe broke. The scalding steam drove them back, and when the rescuers returned Mrs. Howard was dead.

Injured persons in need of immediate attention were given temporary dressing by the ambulance and volunteer surgeons, and then hoisted to the street. Many Park avenue mansions were thrown open to the suffering but most of the injured were at once taken to hospitals. The dead were carried to morgues and police stations.

Responsibility for the disaster is unfixed, but Supt. Franklin said that so far as he had been able to discover, J. M. Wischo, engineer of the White Plains train is to blame. It is declared that when the South Norwalk train stopped a flagman ran back into the tunnel, and besides placing a torpedo on the track endeavored to flag the oncoming train. The tunnel was beclouded with steam and smoke while the snow which fell through the air shafts tended to obscure the view Engineer Wischo and Fireman Christopher Flynn were arrested. A signalman also was detained for a time, but was released.

requires physical and mental ability of a high degree to withstand its hard labors. The high tension to which the nervous system is constantly subjected, has a depressing effect, and soon headache, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, etc., develop in severe form. Such was the case of Mail Carrier S. F. Sweinhart, of Huntsville, Ala., he says:

"An attack of pneumonia left me with muscular rheumatism, headache, and pains that seemed to be all over me. I was scarcely able to move for about a month when I decided to give Dr. Miles' Pain Pills and Nerve Plasters a trial. In three days I was again on my route and in two weeks I was free from pain and gaining in flesh and strength."

A Step Ahead For Labor and Capital

By Senator MARK HANNA

I CONSIDER THE RECENT CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK THE GREATEST STEP EVER TAKEN FOR THE SPEEDY SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES ARISING BETWEEN LABOR AND CAPITAL. The organization of capital, which has come to stay, was an evolution which naturally followed the organization of labor, which also has come to stay, and the concentration of the interests of the two sides, which should be friendly and not hostile, into the hands of a comparatively few individuals will make for the best interests of both.

Too much, of course, must not be expected at first. The agreement reached at the New York conference was simply a platform, and the good that is to result from it must develop in the future. The public must not get the idea that we are to revolutionize everything relating to the condition of labor and capital or that the joint committee is to undertake arbitration by compulsion.

The first step will be to establish a relationship between the two interests, and this will serve as a foundation to work on. WHILE WE DO NOT EXPECT THAT THERE WILL BE NO STRIKES, THEY WILL BE MINIMIZED AS A RESULT OF THE CONCILIATORY AND ARBITRATION POLICY.

WANT AMERICANS TO INVEST.

Chinese Official Asks Conger to Induce Americans.

Pekin, Jan. 9.—The director of railroads and mines of Shan-Si province visited United States Minister Conger, and said that a branch of the Belgian railroad will be extended to Shan-Si in the spring.

He explained the great mining resources of the province and requested Mr. Conger to exert his influence to induce Americans to invest capital in the province, saying that the policy of the United States during the recent troubles had led the Chinese to prefer dealing with Americans, as they have greater confidence in their honesty.

HONOR TO MISS ROOSEVELT.

German Foreign Office Pleased With Its Effect in America.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The German foreign office is delighted with the excellent effect produced in the United States by Emperor William's request that Miss Alice Rosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, christen his new yacht now being built on Staten Island. The German people are equally pleased at the result of this request.

The illustrated papers published this week contain portraits of Miss Roosevelt, and the social columns of the aristocratic journals give considerable space to a description of the Twelfth Night ball given January 6 in Washington by the Misses Kean of New Jersey, in honor of Miss Roosevelt, and print a long list of the diplomats who attended the function.

NO REPLY FROM CASTRO.

But Germany is Inclined to Allow Him Reasonable Time.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The attention of the German foreign office has been directed to the recurrence of stories to the effect that Germany is about to send an ultimatum to Venezuela. The foreign office has again informed the correspondent here of the Associated Press that a reply from President Castro of Venezuela to the note handed him January 2 by the German charge d'affaires at Caracas (Herr Von Pilgrim Baltazzi), has not yet been received; that Germany will give Castro a reasonable time in which to answer, and that she has no disposition unduly to press the President of Venezuela.

FOR M'KINLEY MEMORIAL DAY.

January 29 Will Be Observed in West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 9.—Governor White issued proclamation designating January 29 as McKinley memorial day and suggesting that on that day children of the public schools of the State make contributions to the McKinley National Memorial association, the money to be sent to T. C. Miller, State superintendent of public schools. The proclamation further suggests that appropriate services be held in the churches of the State on Sunday, January 26, and that collections be made for the same purpose, the money to be sent to State Treasurer Peter Silman.

WILL HOLD DOWN PENSIONS.

Gallinger So Amended—None Likely Ror Lazeare's Widow.

Washington, Jan. 9.—During consideration by the Senate of private pension legislation some important statements were made by Mr. Gallinger, chairman of the Committe on Pensions, in respect to regulations adopted by the committee to govern it in consideration of private pension bills. He announced that none but absolutely meritorious cases would be presented to the Senate for its consideration, and that the closest scrutiny would be given by the committee to every bill introduced. He said that no pension exceeding $50 a month would be recommended by the committee for the widow of a general officer, and that pensions for the widows of other officers would be scaled down proportionately.

The interesting case of Dr. Lazeare, who at the instance of Johns Hopkins University and of the Government went to Cuba and submitted himself to inoculation with yellow fever through mosquito bites and died from the disease thus contracted, was brought to the Senate's attention by Mr. McComas, who inquired whether Dr. Lazeare's widow would be entitled to a pension. No decision was reached, but it was the opinion of Senators Gallinger and Cockrell that the case had no pensionable status.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hooper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-tf-3-tf

The advocates of the Panama canal route are now coming to the front with many and specious arguments in favor of building the shipway across the isthmus there. The question is not one to be lightly or hastily settled. The canal is to be for all time. It will be a costly work, but the United States has the money to pay for it. Before it starts work, however, it should have the assurance that it is to get the best possible results for the investment. The offer of the Panama Canal company to sell its holdings for a comparatively low figure is one that should not be rejected without due consideration. Better a little delay in starting the work than an error in doing so that will be irremmediable. The subject is one demanding the utmost wisdom and discretion on the part of congress.

Governor Nash's words concerning corporations and the duty of the state to exercise supervision over them are being warmly commended. On this subject the Chicago Record Herald says: "If the state creates the corporation and gives it a permit to do business under papers bearing the state's seal it is difficult to see how it can escape the obligation to exercise supervision over it to the extent that the public may not be deceived regarding its stock, its liabilities and its securities. This is certainly as far as the state can go in regulating the affairs of the corporations. It cannot be permitted to unjustly interfere in the legitimate business of industrial enterprise. It cannot heed the senseless clamor of politicians in dealing with great industrial activities involving investments of capital."

Secretary Gage has issued an order intended to prevent treasury department employes from piling up debts which they do not intend to pay. Government employes' salaries, unlike other people's, are beyond the reach of creditors, and it is said there are a good many clerks in Washington who take advantage of this fact to defraud creditors out of their just dues. The order of the secretary declares that any employe who fails, without good reason, to pay his debts, shall be promptly dismissed from the service. It is a commendable rule. The clerk who cheats his grocer or his tailor will bear watching. There are enough honest men in the land so that Uncle Sam need employ none who are not above suspicion. The man who can pay his bills and won't is not deserving of success, nor is he likely to attain it.

The United States, including the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam, Porto Rico and Alaska, had a population of 84,250,000 at the close of the nineteenth century. At the beginning of that period its population was about 5,333,000. It has increased about 16 fold in 100 years, and only China, the British empire and the Russian empire are now more populous. In material prosperity its progress has more than kept pace with the increase of numbers.

A wealthy Englishman has made a gift of $1,000,000 for the establishment of a sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis. It would be hard to point out a field where philanthropic or scientific effort could be invested with better prospects of benefit to the human race.

There is nothing encouraging for China or for the world in the fact that the imperial Chinese court is again established in Pekin. There is small chance for reform in Chinese government as long as the Dowager Empress lives. She is the evil genius of her people.

Some of the East Liverpool grocers appear to have misunderstood what was said in this column yesterday regarding the supreme court decision on the Ohio oleomargarine bill. The idea intended to be conveyed was this: That a customer should get what he pays for. That is the intent of the law, which, we understand is well observed in this city.

The christening of the kaiser's yacht by Miss Roosevelt will be such a pretty international incident, if it takes place, that it is difficult to see why even professional grumblers should object.

A Tennessee candidate for office has read himself out of politics and out of southern favor by revising Dave Hill's famous dictum, making it read: "I am a Democrat, but I don't drink."

With all his millions John D. Rockefeller cannot buy a good appetite though he stands in sorest need of it.

Briquettes From Garbage.

One problem which municipal authorities of all countries have been seeking to solve is how to best dispose of the city's garbage. A process has been discovered in France by which garbage is converted into briquettes. It consists of mincing the refuse from abattoirs, fish markets, etc., straw, paper and the like, and adding tar and naphthalene. The whole mass is then mixed in a kneading apparatus, dried and pressed into briquettes.

HALO OF HEVELIUS IS RARE

St. Louis Astronomer Talks of Unusual Phenomenon.

"The great halo of Hevelius observed recently at Cleveland, O.," said the Rev. M. S. Brennan, lecturer on astronomy at St. Louis university, to a reporter of the St. Louis Republic, the other day, "is a phenomenon remarkable only for its rarity. It is produced by the same condition that gives us rainbows, parhelia, paraselenæ, sun dogs and a number of other halos about the sun and moon.

"All these are caused by light both reflected and refracted by vesiculous clouds—that is, clouds which carry small particles of water. In these the light is separated as in a prism, the white rays of the sun or moon coming forth in bars showing all the colors of the spectrum. That is refraction. If this is then reflected upon the earth, it is visible to us. We then see the various phenomena I have mentioned.

"The common sun ring, or halo, is at a distance of 22 degrees. There is another, less common, at a distance of 46 degrees. The third, very rare indeed, at a distance of 90 degrees, is that first accurately described by Hevelius about the time of Galilei, though observed previously. This has been seen since its description only seven times until the recent observation of the Rev. Frederick Odenbach of St. Ignatius' college in Cleveland.

"Though this observation has not yet been reported officially, I have no doubt it was substantially correct as related in the press dispatches. The atmospheric conditions over the country are now in a state calculated to exhibit such phenomena. This great halo may not be seen again in hundreds of years, or it might possibly appear every day for a week."

HEATING THE WHITE HOUSE

Open Fireplaces Made Use of by the President.

With a thought to solid comfort the architects of the White House planned an open fireplace for almost every room in the house, but not since the furnaces were put in years ago have they been generally used until the advent of President Roosevelt and his family, writes the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. Mrs. Roosevelt always has open fires in the rooms in which she receives her guests on reception days.

The president and, in fact, the entire family use the library more than has any president's family in many years, and an open fire glows on the hearth all the time. Each of the other living rooms have open grates, and they are kept in use most of the time. In the executive part of the White House the open fires also are used, and nothing so accentuates the southern air of the White House as the carrying of coal in huge scuttles from room to room to replenish the fires.

It is a matter of unceasing interest to the northern bred children of the president to watch the firemen keep the fires going. They are planning great times for Christmas, when corn popping over the bright coals will be one of their amusements.

NEGRO WORLD'S FAIR.

Company Has Been Organized and Cities Are Asked to Bid.

The Negro World's Fair company has been organized, the plan being to hold the fair some time in 1904, and cities throughout the country are being asked to bid for it, says a dispatch from Savannah to the New York Tribune. The Rev. H. N. Newsome of Opelika, Ala., is president of the organization that purposes to hold a mammoth fair for the amusement and enlightenment of the colored race. He has urged the Savannah city council to make an offer to secure the fair.

The north, east, south and west are already represented in the company. The promoters say that the fair will attract persons from the four corners of the globe and are enthusiastic for the undertaking.

For Nursing Tramp, $5,000.

George Adams, a miner living at Shaner, near McKeesport, Pa., ten years ago was summoned to his door one cold night. A stranger was there almost famished from hunger and cold. Adams gave him food and a bed. In the morning the stranger was too ill to proceed on his way. Adams and his wife nursed him for two weeks. After he recovered the stranger, who gave his name as David Craig, left. Adams has just received a letter, according to the New York World, from a lawyer in Denver saying that Craig, who had died in that city, had left $5,000 in his will to Adams and his wife.

WHIPPED THIRTY CADETS.

West Point Graduate Has a Record as a Fighter.

When a cable dispatch announced the other day that Captain Frank Schoeffel of the Ninth infantry had been wounded in a fight with bolomen in the Philippines, his friends recalled an interesting episode in the career of the young soldier. While a student at the Military school at West Point young Schoeffel met and defeated with his fists the whole upper class of thirty men.

CAPTAIN FRANK SCHOEFFEL.

At the time of the Booz hazing investigation Mr. Schoeffel was called to the stand and told of his experience in that line. In telling his story to the board of investigation young Schoeffel related under oath a most remarkable experience.

He said that he had attained his full growth when he decided in 1887 to try for West Point. Having heard of the physical requirements of a young soldier from his father, Colonel Francis A. Schoeffel, he determined to be prepared for whatever might come his way.

When he made application for a cadetship, he was over six feet tall and possessed of good muscular development. He went into systematic training and took boxing lessons from an expert, so that when his appointment came he was in fine condition for the ordeal that awaited him.

At West Point he was promptly called out, and before his would be tormentors had got through with him he had met and defeated every one of the upper class in the academy. One day the class planned a severe test to humiliate him, and five picked sluggers were sent up against him one after the other. He defeated them all in one, two, three order in twenty-six rounds. One particularly obnoxious upper class man had something of a record as a bully, and it was arranged that they should fight. Young Schoeffel won a signal victory, and the bully went to the hospital for repairs.

The Kress Airship.

The airship upon which Herr Kress has been working for the past twenty-five years was recently tested at Tullerbacher, lower Austria. The idea which the inventor has been trying to evolve is that of a machine to be run upon water until it developed a certain speed, which, when attained, would raise it into the air. This speed was fixed at thirty-five feet a second. In the trial the speed was reached, and the airship rose in the air, but when only a few feet from the surface of the water it was struck by a terrific squall, which turned it over, and it went to the bottom of the lake. Herr Kress had a life belt and so escaped drowning.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1902.

The advocates of the Panama canal route are now coming to the front with many and specious arguments in favor of building the shipway across the isthmus there. The question is not one to be lightly or hastily settled. The canal is to be for all time. It will be a costly work, but the United States has the money to pay for it. Before it starts work, however, it should have the assurance that it is to get the best possible results for the investment. The offer of the Panama Canal company to sell its holdings for a comparatively low figure is one that should not be rejected without due consideration. Better a little delay in starting the work than an error in doing so that will be irremmediable. The subject is one demanding the utmost wisdom and discretion on the part of congress.

Governor Nash's words concerning corporations and the duty of the state to exercise supervision over them are being warmly commended. On this subject the Chicago Record Herald says: "If the state creates the corporation and gives it a permit to do business under papers bearing the state's seal it is difficult to see how it can escape the obligation to exercise supervision over it to the extent that the public may not be deceived regarding its stock, its liabilities and its securities. This is certainly as far as the state can go in regulating the affairs of the corporations. It cannot be permitted to unjustly interfere in the legitimate business of industrial enterprise. It cannot heed the senseless clamor of politicians in dealing with great industrial activities involving investments of capital."

Secretary Gage has issued an order intended to prevent treasury department employes from piling up debts which they do not intend to pay. Government employes' salaries, unlike other people's, are beyond the reach of creditors, and it is said there are a good many clerks in Washington who take advantage of this fact to defraud creditors out of their just dues. The order of the secretary declares that any employe who fails, without good reason, to pay his debts, shall be promptly dismissed from the service. It is a commendable rule. The clerk who cheats his grocer or his tailor will bear watching. There are enough honest men in the land so that Uncle Sam need employ none who are not above suspicion. The man who can pay his bills and won't is not deserving of success, nor is he likely to attain it.

The United States, including the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam, Porto Rico and Alaska, had a population of 84,250,000 at the close of the nineteenth century. At the beginning of that period its population was about 5,333,000. It has increased about 16 fold in 100 years, and only China, the British empire and the Russian empire are now more populous. In material prosperity its progress has more than kept pace with the increase of numbers.

A wealthy Englishman has made a gift of $1,000,000 for the establishment of a sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis. It would be hard to point out a field where philanthropic or scientific effort could be invested with better prospects of benefit to the human race.

There is nothing encouraging for China or for the world in the fact that the imperial Chinese court is again established in Pekin. There is small chance for reform in Chinese government as long as the Dowager Empress lives. She is the evil genius of her people.

Some of the East Liverpool grocers appear to have misunderstood what was said in this column yesterday regarding the supreme court decision on the Ohio oleomargarine bill. The idea intended to be conveyed was this: That a customer should get what he pays for. That is the intent of the law, which, we understand is well observed in this city.

The christening of the kaiser's yacht by Miss Roosevelt will be such a pretty international incident, if it takes place, that it is difficult to see why even professional grumblers should object.

A Tennessee candidate for office has read himself out of politics and out of southern favor by revising Dave Hill's famous dictum, making it read: "I am a Democrat, but I don't drink."

Among the most enthusiastic celebrators of "Jackson day" were Democrats in whose company Andrew would never have been seen with his knowledge or consent.

With all his millions John D. Rockefeller cannot buy a good appetite though he stands in sorest need of it.

Briquettes From Garbage.

One problem which municipal authorities of all countries have been seeking to solve is how to best dispose of the city's garbage. A process has been discovered in France by which garbage is converted into briquettes. It consists of mincing the refuse from abattoirs, fish markets, etc., straw, paper and the like, and adding tar and naphthalene. The whole mass is then mixed in a kneading apparatus, dried and pressed into briquettes.

HALO OF HEVELIUS IS RARE

St. Louis Astronomer Talks of Unusual Phenomenon.

"The great halo of Hevelius observed recently at Cleveland, O.," said the Rev. M. S. Brennan, lecturer on astronomy at St. Louis university, to a reporter of the St. Louis Republic, the other day, "is a phenomenon remarkable only for its rarity. It is produced by the same condition that gives us rainbows, parhelia, paraselenæ, sun dogs and a number of other halos about the sun and moon.

"All these are caused by light both reflected and refracted by vesiculous clouds—that is, clouds which carry small particles of water. In these the light is separated as in a prism, the white rays of the sun or moon coming forth in bars showing all the colors of the spectrum. That is refraction. If this is then reflected upon the earth, it is visible to us. We then see the various phenomena I have mentioned.

"The common sun ring, or halo, is at a distance of 22 degrees. There is another, less common, at a distance of 46 degrees. The third, very rare indeed, at a distance of 90 degrees, is that first accurately described by Hevelius about the time of Galilei, though observed previously. This has been seen since its description only seven times until the recent observation of the Rev. Frederick Odenbach of St. Ignatius' college in Cleveland.

"Though this observation has not yet been reported officially, I have no doubt it was substantially correct as related in the press dispatches. The atmospheric conditions over the country are now in a state calculated to exhibit such phenomena. This great halo may not be seen again in hundreds of years, or it might possibly appear every day for a week."

WELLSVILLE

BIG BUSINESS BLOCK

PROJECT TO ERECT A BRICK STRUCTURE TO COST $90,000.

Ten Business Firms to Be Accommodated on Lower Floor And Families Above.

There is a deal on among some of the most prominent business men of Wellsville, which, if it materializes, will mean much, not alone to the promoters, but citizens in general. The men are now simply considering the advisability of the deal, but they have employed a lawyer to negotiate with several parties concerned, and it is highly probable that some definite understanding will have been reached within a few days.

The plan is to purchase the block which fronts on Main street and extends from Fifth street up to Wooley's confectionery store. If this can be done, the gentlemen intend to remove all of the buildings which are now standing and have erected in their stead one massive two-story brick structure which will cover the entire block. The new structure is to be partitioned off into ten store rooms and each room on the ground floor will be occupied by one of the promoters. The second story will be divided into living apartments and will be rented to tenants.

One of the promoters stated last evening that the paramount idea is to dispense with the enormous rent bill which they are compelled to meet every month. None of them own the buildings in which they conduct their business and they are far-sighted enough to see that it will take but a few years' rent to pay the amount which will be required of each in the deal.

The estimated cost of the block is placed at $50,000, and a rough estimate on the cost of the proposed new building is $40,000, making a total cost of $90,000.

As the men in the deal will number not more than ten it will require a capital of $9,000 for each man. The project is pronounced a most worthy one.

IT DOES NOT SATISFY

A Twelve-Minute Street Car Schedule in Wellsville Alone Not Enough.

The street car which will be placed in Wellsville by Supt. Healy in a few days will run between the turntable at Eighteenth street and the bridge at First street. Wellsville residents are very thankful to Supt. Healy for his concession, but do not think it enough.

The council assuredly did not think, when it ordered Mr. Healy to reinstate the 12-minute schedule, that he would simply have the schedule operated in Wellsville. It was not principally for the benefit of Wellsville travelers that council issued the order. It was more for the benefit of the workingmen of both East Liverpool and Wellsville, who are compelled to ride to and from their work.

The reinstallment of the old schedule will do such men no good. It is said the only way to have a 12-minute schedule from the West End, Wellsville, to the East End, East Liverpool, will be for the residents of each city to jointly appeal to the county commissioners. The commissioners have the power to dictate to Supt. Healy in regard to the running of cars between the corporate limits of the cities as have the councils in their respective cities.

To Meet Alliance Bowlers.

Captain Shingler is in receipt of a letter from the Alliance bowlers in which they stated that they have dates for every night of this week, but will be open for an engagement the first of next week, and are very anxious that a Wellsville team make them a visit. Captain Shingler will likely accept the invitation and feels assured that his team will come out victorious. His men have all bought new uniforms and are capable of playing an excellent game.

Shut Down for Repairs.

The I. B. Clark brick yards have shut down for a few weeks, owing to the urgent need of repairs. When the repairing is finished Mr. Clark states that the manufacturing of brick will be resumed. He has the contract for furnishing Contractor Rinehart with the thousands of brick which will he will use for street paving in the spring.

FAMOUS ENGLISH ACTRESS.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell to Display Her Art In America.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the famous English actress, who with her London company is making her first American tour, is said to be a woman of extraordinary fascination. Enthusiastic, she loves to win applause and hates to be adversely criticised.

Mrs. Campbell is the widow of Patrick Campbell, an English army officer who was killed at Petersfontein in

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL.

April, 1900. Her courtship and marriage were romantic. She fell in love with young Pat Campbell of Stranraer, Ireland. Her father did not wish her to marry Campbell, and his parents also opposed the match. The lovers continued to meet, arranged an elopement and finally succeeded in getting married.

No actress in London theaters during the last decade has held more of public attention than Mrs. Patrick Campbell. She had been a provincial actress until in 1893 she appeared in the title role of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Her success was immediate, her power and originality as an actress capturing the public, although the critics mercilessly attacked her.

It is significant of her individuality that Mrs. Campbell has never acquired what is known as a theatrical manner. Her acting is natural, sometimes to the point of ineffectiveness in parts which are not distinctly marked. Mrs. Campbell is an exquisite musician, and in Paris, where she was educated, she won a scholarship in music. Her voice is rich and ample, and she uses it with great skill.

The American tour of Mrs. Patrick Campbell will last for a limited number of weeks, brief engagements being allotted to the leading cities. Her repertoire includes "Magda," "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith," problem dramas; "Mariana," from the Spanish; "Beyond Human Power" and "Pelleas and Melisande." These will give to Mrs. Campbell full opportunity to display her art.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Light Question And Speed of Railway Trains Will Be Considered.

The city council will meet tonight for the first time in two weeks. Among other important matters will be the light question. Nothing definite can be done toward contracting for the lights for the reason of a deficiency in the treasury. To furnish the city with lights an outlay of nearly $2,000 is required, and there are now only $400 in the treasury.

The ordinance passed at the last meeting of council affecting the steam railroad will also be discussed tonight. A representative of the railroad company will be present and endeavor to convince council of its error in drawing up the ordinance. The company wants the regulation of speed raised from six miles per hour hour to eight and also also desires that the provisions prohibiting flying switches within the city limits be altered.

BOYS PLEADED GUILTY

To Charge of Disturbing a Church Meeting—Released With Good Advice.

The Lyons boys were arraigned before 'Squire Johnston yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charge of unlawfully disturbing a religious meeting. Rev. Mr. Carnahan, who had the boys arrested, was present and after their plea of guilty he withdrew his charge and the youngsters were given their liberty, but not before they had listened to severe reproaches from the 'squire and fatherly advice from the minister.

The boys rather reluctantly admitted that they had imbibed to freely of hard cider, but promised not to do so again—at least, before entering a church.

HOW TO FIGHT THE AMERICAN TRUSTS

By WILLIAM II., Emperor of Germany
(As Reported by Gaston de Segur, Noted French Litterateur)

I SEE A FUTURE MENACE IN THESE COLOSSAL "TRUSTS" DEAR TO THE YANKEE BILLIONAIRE. THEY TEND TO PUT AN INDUSTRY OR AN INTERNATIONAL TRAFFIC INTO THE HANDS OF A SINGLE MAN OR A HANDFUL OF INDIVIDUALS.

SUPPOSE THAT J. PIERPONT MORGAN SHOULD SUCCEED IN COMBINING UNDER HIS OWN FLAG SEVERAL OF THE OCEANIC LINES. He occupies no official position in his country—no position outside that which the power of his money gives him.

It would then be impossible to treat with him if it should occur that an international incident or a foreign power became involved in his enterprise, yet one could not make representations to the state, which, having no part in his affairs, would decline all responsibility. Then to whom could one turn?

TO OBVIATE THIS DANGER I FORESEE THE NECESSITY OF FORMING A EUROPEAN "ZOLLVEREIN"—A CUSTOMS LEAGUE—AGAINST THE UNITED STATES, SIMILAR TO THE BLOCKADE ATTEMPTED BY NAPOLEON AGAINST ENGLAND, TO THE END THAT WE MAY SAFEGUARD CONTINENTAL INTERESTS AND ASSURE FREEDOM OF COMMERCE AT THE EXPENSE OF AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT.

In such an eventuality, I say without reserve, England will be placed in the position of choosing between two policies absolutely opposed to one another—EITHER TO JOIN IN THE BLOCKADE AND RANGE HERSELF ON THE SIDE OF EUROPE AGAINST THE UNITED STATES OR ELSE ALLY HERSELF WITH THE STATES AGAINST THE POWERS OF THE CONTINENT.

FAMOUS AUTHOR MARRIED.

Mary E. Wilkins Becomes the Bride of Dr. Freeman.

The much talked of and often delayed marriage of Mary E. Wilkins, the novelist, having at last taken place, hereafter she will be known as Mrs. Charles M. Freeman. The bridegroom is a physician, forty-two years old, while the bride acknowledges thirty-five summers.

Miss Wilkins was born at Randolph, Mass., and began her literary career by winning a prize of $50 offered for a children's story by a Boston newspaper. In her girlhood Miss Wilkins suffered from extreme poverty. She is descended from old Puritan stock and carries the stamp of her descent in her appearance and in her rather shy though direct manner.

Miss Wilkins is one of the really good short story writers, and she has earned her reputation by honest hard work. She is not a prolific producer, but her stories are always finished and rarely lack distinction. Most of her subjects are taken from New England life.

Relating the circumstances of her start on a literary career, Miss Wilkins said she was much indebted to a friend who encouraged her to try for the fifty dollar prize which she captured. Then came her second story, "The Old Lovers," which was sent to Harper's Bazar. Because of the peculiarly child-like characters of the handwriting the editor, Mrs. Booth, at first decided not to read it, but something in it arrested her attention, with the result that the story was accepted. This launched Miss Wilkins on a literary career, and she has continued writing with success. In 1895 her story "The Long Arm" captured a prize of $2,000 from the Bacheller syndicate. There were over 3,000 manuscripts submitted in this contest, and that Miss Wilkins' story was considered the best of the lot is a sufficient guarantee of its high quality. The judge in making the award said that the story combined dramatic interest, inventiveness, novelty and simplicity and directness of style in the highest degree.

Miss Wilkins' marriage is the culmination of a romantic wooing on the part of Dr. Freeman, who is a wealthy business man.

WELLSVILLE

BIG BUSINESS BLOCK

PROJECT TO ERECT A BRICK STRUCTURE TO COST $90,000.

Ten Business Firms to Be Accommodated on Lower Floor And Families Above.

There is a deal on among some of the most prominent business men of Wellsville, which, if it materializes, will mean much, not alone to the promoters, but citizens in general. The men are now simply considering the advisability of the deal, but they have employed a lawyer to negotiate with several parties concerned, and it is highly probable that some definite understanding will have been reached within a few days.

The plan is to purchase the block which fronts on Main street and extends from Fifth street up to Wooley's confectionery store. If this can be done, the gentlemen intend to remove all of the buildings which are now standing and have erected in their stead one massive two-story brick structure which will cover the entire block. The new structure is to be partitioned off into ten store rooms and each room on the ground floor will be occupied by one of the promoters. The second story will be divided into living apartments and will be rented to tenants.

One of the promoters stated last evening that the paramount idea is to dispense with the enormous rent bill which they are compelled to meet every month. None of them own the buildings in which they conduct their business and they are far-sighted enough to see that it will take but a few years' rent to pay the amount which will be required of each in the deal.

The estimated cost of the block is placed at $50,000, and a rough estimate on the cost of the proposed new building is $40,000, making a total cost of $90,000.

As the men in the deal will number not more than ten it will require a capital of $9,000 for each man. The project is pronounced a most worthy one.

IT DOES NOT SATISFY

A Twelve-Minute Street Car Schedule in Wellsville Alone Not Enough.

The street car which will be placed in Wellsville by Supt. Healy in a few days will run between the turntable at Eighteenth street and the bridge at First street. Wellsville residents are very thankful to Supt. Healy for his concession, but do not think it enough.

The council assuredly did not think, when it ordered Mr. Healy to reinstate the 12-minute schedule, that he would simply have the schedule operated in Wellsville. It was not principally for the benefit of Wellsville travelers that council issued the order. It was more for the benefit of the workingmen of both East Liverpool and Wellsville, who are compelled to ride to and from their work.

The reinstallment of the old schedule will do such men no good. It is said the only way to have a 12-minute schedule from the West End, Wellsville, to the East End, East Liverpool, will be for the residents of each city to jointly appeal to the county commissioners. The commissioners have the power to dictate to Supt. Healy in regard to the running of cars between the corporate limits of the cities as have the councils in their respective cities.

To Meet Alliance Bowlers.

Captain Shingler is in receipt of a letter from the Alliance bowlers in which they stated that they have dates for every night of this week, but will be open for an engagement the first of next week, and are very anxious that a Wellsville team make them a visit. Captain Shingler will likely accept the invitation and feels assured that his team will come out victorious. His men have all bought new uniforms and are capable of playing an excellent game.

Shut Down for Repairs.

The I. B. Clark brick yards have shut down for a few weeks, owing to the urgent need of repairs. When the repairing is finished Mr. Clark states that the manufacturing of brick will be resumed. He has the contract for furnishing Contractor Rinehart with the thousands of brick which will he will use for street paving in the spring.

RUSSIANS WHIPPED

In Fist Fights With American and British Tars, at New Chwang.

OFFICIALS ARE UNFRIENDLY.

Due to Social Code of Administrator Russian Foreign Officials Refused to Recognize—Russians Arrested Americans By Mistake.

Pekin, Jan. 9.—While the actual casualties during the fighting at New Chwang between American sailors belonging to the United States gunboat Vicksburg, which is wintering there, and Russian soldiers attached to the garrison of that port, are trifling up to date, the matter has resulted in unpleasantly strained relations between the Americans, Russian and British authorities there. The Washington and St. Petersburg governments are now endeavoring to arrange matters so there may be no further friction.

The trouble originated in the action of some sailors belonging to the British sloop of war Algerine, also in winter quarters at New Chwang, in carrying ashore six rifles for use in a theatrical performance. The Russian administration sent a force of men to arrest the British sailors. The Russians, however, by mistake, broke into a reading room where a party of the Vicksburg's men were seated and tried to arrest them. The Americans resisted, defending themselves with chairs. They were overpowered after a sharp fight, however, and handed over to the United States consul, who sent them on board the Vicksburg. The bad feeling which arose from this incident resulted in several fights whenever American or British sailors met Russian soldiers, and the latter, not being accustomed to fist-fights, were usually badly worsted. This condition of affairs culminated on New Year's day in a more serious affray, and the Russian minister here, M. Paul Lessaru, complained to Minister Conger that two members of the Vicksburg's crew had fired a revolver at an unoffending Russian soldier, wounding him in the arm.

Relations between the American and British consuls and naval commanders and the Russian administration at New Chwang are strained, which makes a friendly settlement of the affair difficult. The administration attempted to enforce a social code which the foreign officials refused to recognize, and consequently their relations have been limited to strictly official interviews, and these have not been amiable, consisting mostly on the one side in protests of the administrator against the conduct of the sailors.

The memorandum presented by the Russian minister to the United States minister here related to various alleged assaults committed by Americans. On one occasion, it was asserted, three sailors attacked a sentry, and owed their lives to the sentry's forbearance in not exercising his right to shoot. The administrator demanded that the United States consul try the offenders, but the commander of the Vicksburg, E. B. Barry, wrote a curt refusal.

Minister Conger is endeavoring to restore friendly relations at New Chwang. He is urging the United States consul there, Henry B. Miller, to co-operate with the Russian authorities in suppressing and punishing violence. The steps taken are, however, seriously handicapped by the action of the Russians, who refuse to allow foreigners to use the telegraph line.

The foreigners at New Chwang attribute the trouble largely to lack of tact upon the part of the administrator.

How I Would End The Boer War

By LORD ROSEBERY, Ex-Premier of England

I BELIEVE in the stern, efficient, vigorous prosecution of the war to its natural end, but I believe that its natural end is a regular peace and a regular settlement. THEREFORE I SHOULD NOT BE DEAF TO ANY OVERTURES OF PEACE THAT CAME FROM THE EXILED GOVERNMENT WHICH SURROUNDS EX-PRESIDENT KRUGER. You may say that it is a scattered government, but it is the government which went to war with us and must, even in Holland, in the absence of any other, retain some vestige of its former authority. I do not mean, of course, that a Boer embassador should visit London or that the king should send an embassador to Holland. Some of the greatest peaces in the world's history have begun with an apparently casual meeting of two travelers in a neutral inn, and I think it might well happen that some such fortuitous meeting might take place under the auspices of his majesty's government and of the exiled Boer government. Though I would not offer terms to them, I should not be deaf to any overtures from them.

I DO NOT BELIEVE IN INDEPENDENCE or in Lord Milner being the difficulty in the way of peace.

I wish the Boers to blend with our people when peace comes and not to settle once more as a hostile and injured and a sullen camp in the middle of our nation, for we have got to bring 40,000 of them back from prison to their own country.

I AM FOR AS LARGE AND AS LIBERAL AN AMNESTY AS IT IS POSSIBLE TO GIVE. Of course, there will be cases which must be excepted which do not fall within the rules of warfare. There may be necessarily temporary disfranchisements, but on the broad policy of a large and liberal amnesty I am as clear and convinced as on any subject of politics at the present time, and, what is still more, that no other policy is practicable.

I would go so far as to give full civil rights to all Boers who took and signed a definite and drastic oath of allegiance.

I do not believe that as regards representative government we can settle that at once. We must wait till the country is resettled.

And with regard to all transactions which involved money, such as the resettlement and restocking of the farms, I would act with the most lavish liberality. We are spending five millions a month in prosecuting this war. I would infinitely rather spend that five millions a month in procuring, even by lavish generosity, a definite peace in South Africa and in appeasing the remains of civil rancor. And as to what is called the Kitchener proclamation—a proclamation which, so far as I know, has done unmixed harm in prolonging the war and in driving the Boers to desperation—I would certainly annul it. Then, as regards the other matters in dispute between Lord Kitchener and General Botha, I venture to say that half a dozen sound business people representing the Boers on one side and Great Britain on the other could settle them in a week.

ANNOYING THE PRESIDENT.

Reply Sent to a Woman Who Lectured Him For Sabbath Breaking.

Among the annoyances of a president's life are the intrusions of well intentioned people upon his private and personal affairs, says Harper's Weekly. He is the common property of the nation. He has no home, or as little of one as the public is compelled to leave him. He is worse off than any private citizen in the country in this respect, for when he and his wife ask some friends to call on them on a certain day of the week persons who are not asked and who do not know them accept the invitation which was not given them and go also. Not so annoying perhaps are the people who open upon the president as teachers of personal morality. They have no delicacy. They rush in where they are not asked, and they insist that now the president is in the White House he shall conform his life to theirs, shall live as they think is right and is a monster of iniquity if he does not accept their tutelage. There is not a president who has escaped them, and there never will be until we have a score or so of presidents each of whom will not heed them, who will not answer their letters, who will insist on having his own habits and on living according to his own light and not according to the light of another.

We have recently had a temperance president who has been called a drunkard because some one said he saw him drink a glass of champagne at dinner. Denials of the truth of the statement merely whetted the appetite for objurgation. And now we have another president, a very abstemious man, who receives letters nearly every day whose writers express the regret that we have a "winebibber" in the White House. These letters, we are told, are not answered, but a reply was sent to the woman who reminded the president of the commandment, "Six days shalt thou labor," and then lectured him for Sabbath breaking. The reply was written by Secretary Cortelyou and was this:

"I am directed by the president to say that he goes to church on Sunday morning and takes his wife and children into the country Sunday afternoon.

"To which of these occupations do you object?"

Lead Enamel on Iron.

A new and successful process for applying a coating of lead enamel to iron surfaces by mechanical means, invented by M. A. Dormoy, was recently described in La Nature. The articles to be coated, after being heated to redness, are placed in a double hermetically sealed chamber with glazed sides. Each half of the chamber can be worked alternately, and the surplus enamel powder, dusted over the metal by means of a sieve, is removed from the chamber by the draft from a high chimney.

OUR LANDED GENTRY

RISE OF THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN IN THE UNITED STATES.

Old World Outdone In Magnificence by Modern Millionaires—Vast Estate of George Vanderbilt at Biltmore—A Mighty Hunting Lodge.

The progress of anglophobia in this country has been marked in the last ten or fifteen years by the rise of the American country place, and during that period more rural estates have been made by men of wealth than the whole country contained before. The idea, borrowed from the English, seems destined to continue until so called gentlemen farmers will be as numerous here as they are in Great Britain.

While in a measure this movement of wealthy men to form country estates is an aping of our over the sea cousins, the real reason is the desire to escape from the turmoil of city life, and as large fortunes have been established their lucky possessors have turned to the country as affording a better medium for its enjoyment.

As a result, great landed estates have been established in various parts of the country, where the life and surroundings of the English nobility are closely copied. Idle Hour, the country seat of W. K. Vanderbilt on Long Island, very nearly approaches the British idea. There is a fine mansion, with parks, drives, greenhouses, etc., the forests stocked with game and all guarded by a gamekeeper and assistant foresters.

More famous and better known is Biltmore, on the Swannanoa river, near Asheville, N. C., the property of George Vanderbilt. Here on a vast tract of land containing 120,000 acres, comprising mountain ranges, picturesque valleys, waterfalls, forests and meadows, has been constructed the most remarkable country home in the United States.

Originally a tract of almost valueless mountain land, it has been transformed by the touch of gold into an ideal spot. The chateau is situated on a plateau 2,000 feet above sea level and overlooks the Blue Ridge mountains. The building is 375 feet in length, and its extreme width is 192 feet. The main building is of Indiana limestone, and in its construction 6,000 barrels of cement and 11,000,000 bricks were used in addition to the stone.

The grand entrance opens upon a winter garden octagon in shape and sixty feet in diameter. From this garden or court radiate the principal apartments. To the north is the banquet hall, 72 feet wide and 70 feet high, with one span and a domed ceiling. Opposite is a magnificent library 60 by 40 feet. On the main floor also are the music room and tapestry gallery, the latter seventy-five feet long and containing numerous specimens of historical and valuable tapestries.

On the upper floors there are about a hundred rooms. The family and guest chambers number about twenty, and each possesses a bath.

Farther up in the mountains has been built of rough oaken logs a hunting lodge that cost upward of $30,000, and here Mr. Vanderbilt entertains his guests in regal style. All the year round this place is kept in order, ready for a chance call from its owner, and beside the enormous fireplace in the great hall is kept a heap of logs ten to twelve feet in length, the fireplace being of such size as to accommodate fuel of this mammoth size. The great hall is a huge square room with the fireplace at one end. Hanging to the chimneypiece are rows of iron spits designed to hold the carcass of deer or bear or such other animal as may be cooked over the mighty fire.

Here on New Year's day Mr. Vanderbilt gave a truly Brobdingnagian feast, among his guests being Joseph Choate, embassador to England, and Prince Delgracio Talleyrand Perigord. In this mighty hall, decorated with hundreds of skins of wildcats, deer, bears and smaller game, the distinguished guests were regaled on the products of the chase, cooked and served by the corps of keepers.

Our modern millionaires easily outstrip the old English lords and barons in the magnificence and extent of their country seats and in the rich lavishness of entertainment.

When Mr. Vanderbilt starts on the thirty mile drive that intervenes between his Biltmore estate and the hunting lodge; one might imagine that the traveler was some European potentate and his attendants sworn vassals, so imposing is the turnout and so deferential the servants. Thus like barons of old are the new lords of wealth.

PROLONGED BY YEARS.

Short Lives Lengthened By Removing Cause of Disease.

Many Glowing Tributes Paid to Blood Wine, The Great French Discovery, Which Cures Colds, Consumption, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, etc.

That "Blood Wine" fully comes up to the expectations of our people is evidenced by the expression of satisfaction from the many who have already given it a test. "If I had to go without some of the necessities of life, I would have 'Blood Wine' in the house," said a certain gentleman living in the northern part of the city. It wards off coughs, colds, indigestion, bowel troubles and a dozen and one other diseases that are apt to attack any one. "A bottle of good medicine always handy is the 'stitch in time' that saves suffering and misery; and this is just the kind of medicine that will do it." To begin away down at the roots of any sickness, what is the first step to be taken? "Purify the blood," is the answer from every physician. Regulate the bowels and purify the blood. Microbes, Bacteria, Baccilli and all kinds of germs float through the system in the blood.

Just stop and reason it out; think of your blood teeming with these myriads of little demons, floating hither and thither like wreckage on a great ocean, to be cast up against the delicate organs of the system where they find lodging places, stay, thrive and breed, perhaps in the lungs, perhaps in the throat, kidneys, heart or tender tissues of the body anywhere. This is the beginning of trouble. Cleanse your blood and you purify the whole system.

With pure blood and a good circulation no one ever contracted consumption or other fatal disease. "Blood Wine" gives new life because it makes new blood. It brings rest and quiet because it soothes the nerves; it creates a good appetite by toning up the digestive organs; it regulates the system by producing healthy, regular operations of the bowels. It kills that tired feeling and makes one feel like running, jumping and exercising; it gives elasticity to the body by acting directly on the muscles and causing them to respond to the mind's dictates. One teaspoonful of "Blood Wine" makes the blood tingle; it is instantaneous in its action and leaves no room for doubt. It contains no wine or opiates.

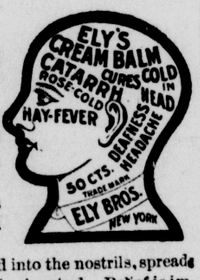

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle but you can sample it at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores, free of charge. It stands on its own merits; it is the only medicine that has ever been placed on sale with the local dealer authorized to keep a bottle of it always open to be administered to anyone free of cost.

I DO NOT BELIEVE IN INDEPENDENCE or in Lord Milner being the difficulty in the way of peace.

I wish the Boers to blend with our people when peace comes and not to settle once more as a hostile and injured and a sullen camp in the middle of our nation, for we have got to bring 40,000 of them back from prison to their own country.

I AM FOR AS LARGE AND AS LIBERAL AN AMNESTY AS IT IS POSSIBLE TO GIVE. Of course, there will be cases which must be excepted which do not fall within the rules of warfare. There may be necessarily temporary disfranchisements, but on the broad policy of a large and liberal amnesty I am as clear and convinced as on any subject of politics at the present time, and, what is still more, that no other policy is practicable.

I would go so far as to give full civil rights to all Boers who took and signed a definite and drastic oath of allegiance.

I do not believe that as regards representative government we can settle that at once. We must wait till the country is resettled.

And with regard to all transactions which involved money, such as the resettlement and restocking of the farms, I would act with the most lavish liberality. We are spending five millions a month in prosecuting this war. I would infinitely rather spend that five millions a month in procuring, even by lavish generosity, a definite peace in South Africa and in appeasing the remains of civil rancor. And as to what is called the Kitchener proclamation—a proclamation which, so far as I know, has done unmixed harm in prolonging the war and in driving the Boers to desperation—I would certainly annul it. Then, as regards the other matters in dispute between Lord Kitchener and General Botha, I venture to say that half a dozen sound business people representing the Boers on one side and Great Britain on the other could settle them in a week.

ANNOYING THE PRESIDENT.

Reply Sent to a Woman Who Lectured Him For Sabbath Breaking.

Among the annoyances of a president's life are the intrusions of well intentioned people upon his private and personal affairs, says Harper's Weekly. He is the common property of the nation. He has no home, or as little of one as the public is compelled to leave him. He is worse off than any private citizen in the country in this respect, for when he and his wife ask some friends to call on them on a certain day of the week persons who are not asked and who do not know them accept the invitation which was not given them and go also. Not so annoying perhaps are the people who open upon the president as teachers of personal morality. They have no delicacy. They rush in where they are not asked, and they insist that now the president is in the White House he shall conform his life to theirs, shall live as they think is right and is a monster of iniquity if he does not accept their tutelage. There is not a president who has escaped them, and there never will be until we have a score or so of presidents each of whom will not heed them, who will not answer their letters, who will insist on having his own habits and on living according to his own light and not according to the light of another.

We have recently had a temperance president who has been called a drunkard because some one said he saw him drink a glass of champagne at dinner. Denials of the truth of the statement merely whetted the appetite for objurgation. And now we have another president, a very abstemious man, who receives letters nearly every day whose writers express the regret that we have a "winebibber" in the White House. These letters, we are told, are not answered, but a reply was sent to the woman who reminded the president of the commandment, "Six days shalt thou labor," and then lectured him for Sabbath breaking. The reply was written by Secretary Cortelyou and was this:

"I am directed by the president to say that he goes to church on Sunday morning and takes his wife and children into the country Sunday afternoon.

"To which of these occupations do you object?"

Lead Enamel on Iron.

A new and successful process for applying a coating of lead enamel to iron surfaces by mechanical means, invented by M. A. Dormoy, was recently described in La Nature. The articles to be coated, after being heated to redness, are placed in a double hermetically sealed chamber with glazed sides. Each half of the chamber can be worked alternately, and the surplus enamel powder, dusted over the metal by means of a sieve, is removed from the chamber by the draft from a high chimney.

OUR LANDED GENTRY

RISE OF THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN IN THE UNITED STATES.

Old World Outdone In Magnificence by Modern Millionaires—Vast Estate of George Vanderbilt at Biltmore—A Mighty Hunting Lodge.

The progress of anglophobia in this country has been marked in the last ten or fifteen years by the rise of the American country place, and during that period more rural estates have been made by men of wealth than the whole country contained before. The idea, borrowed from the English, seems destined to continue until so called gentlemen farmers will be as numerous here as they are in Great Britain.

While in a measure this movement of wealthy men to form country estates is an aping of our over the sea cousins, the real reason is the desire to escape from the turmoil of city life, and as large fortunes have been established their lucky possessors have turned to the country as affording a better medium for its enjoyment.

As a result, great landed estates have been established in various parts of the country, where the life and surroundings of the English nobility are closely copied. Idle Hour, the country seat of W. K. Vanderbilt on Long Island, very nearly approaches the British idea. There is a fine mansion, with parks, drives, greenhouses, etc., the forests stocked with game and all guarded by a gamekeeper and assistant foresters.

More famous and better known is Biltmore, on the Swannanoa river, near Asheville, N. C., the property of George Vanderbilt. Here on a vast tract of land containing 120,000 acres, comprising mountain ranges, picturesque valleys, waterfalls, forests and meadows, has been constructed the most remarkable country home in the United States.

Originally a tract of almost valueless mountain land, it has been transformed by the touch of gold into an ideal spot. The chateau is situated on a plateau 2,000 feet above sea level and overlooks the Blue Ridge mountains. The building is 375 feet in length, and its extreme width is 192 feet. The main building is of Indiana limestone, and in its construction 6,000 barrels of cement and 11,000,000 bricks were used in addition to the stone.

The grand entrance opens upon a winter garden octagon in shape and sixty feet in diameter. From this garden or court radiate the principal apartments. To the north is the banquet hall, 72 feet wide and 70 feet high, with one span and a domed ceiling. Opposite is a magnificent library 60 by 40 feet. On the main floor also are the music room and tapestry gallery, the latter seventy-five feet long and containing numerous specimens of historical and valuable tapestries.

On the upper floors there are about a hundred rooms. The family and guest chambers number about twenty, and each possesses a bath.

Farther up in the mountains has been built of rough oaken logs a hunting lodge that cost upward of $30,000, and here Mr. Vanderbilt entertains his guests in regal style. All the year round this place is kept in order, ready for a chance call from its owner, and beside the enormous fireplace in the great hall is kept a heap of logs ten to twelve feet in length, the fireplace being of such size as to accommodate fuel of this mammoth size. The great hall is a huge square room with the fireplace at one end. Hanging to the chimneypiece are rows of iron spits designed to hold the carcass of deer or bear or such other animal as may be cooked over the mighty fire.

Here on New Year's day Mr. Vanderbilt gave a truly Brobdingnagian feast, among his guests being Joseph Choate, embassador to England, and Prince Delgracio Talleyrand Perigord. In this mighty hall, decorated with hundreds of skins of wildcats, deer, bears and smaller game, the distinguished guests were regaled on the products of the chase, cooked and served by the corps of keepers.

Our modern millionaires easily outstrip the old English lords and barons in the magnificence and extent of their country seats and in the rich lavishness of entertainment.

When Mr. Vanderbilt starts on the thirty mile drive that intervenes between his Biltmore estate and the hunting lodge; one might imagine that the traveler was some European potentate and his attendants sworn vassals, so imposing is the turnout and so deferential the servants. Thus like barons of old are the new lords of wealth.

PROLONGED BY YEARS.

Short Lives Lengthened By Removing Cause of Disease.

Many Glowing Tributes Paid to Blood Wine, The Great French Discovery, Which Cures Colds, Consumption, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, etc.

That "Blood Wine" fully comes up to the expectations of our people is evidenced by the expression of satisfaction from the many who have already given it a test. "If I had to go without some of the necessities of life, I would have 'Blood Wine' in the house," said a certain gentleman living in the northern part of the city. It wards off coughs, colds, indigestion, bowel troubles and a dozen and one other diseases that are apt to attack any one. "A bottle of good medicine always handy is the 'stitch in time' that saves suffering and misery; and this is just the kind of medicine that will do it." To begin away down at the roots of any sickness, what is the first step to be taken? "Purify the blood," is the answer from every physician. Regulate the bowels and purify the blood. Microbes, Bacteria, Baccili and all kinds of germs float through the system in the blood.

Just stop and reason it out; think of your blood teeming with these myriads of little demons, floating hither and thither like wreckage on a great ocean, to be cast up against the delicate organs of the system where they find lodging places, stay, thrive and breed, perhaps in the lungs, perhaps in the throat, kidneys, heart or tender tissues of the body anywhere. This is the beginning of trouble. Cleanse your blood and you purify the whole system.

With pure blood and a good circulation no one ever contracted consumption or other fatal disease. "Blood Wine" gives new life because it makes new blood. It brings rest and quiet because it soothes the nerves; it creates a good appetite by toning up the digestive organs; it regulates the system by producing healthy, regular operations of the bowels. It kills that tired feeling and makes one feel like running, jumping and exercising; it gives elasticity to the body by acting directly on the muscles and causing them to respond to the mind's dictates. One teaspoonful of "Blood Wine" makes the blood tingle; it is instantaneous in its action and leaves no room for doubt. It contains no wine or opiates.

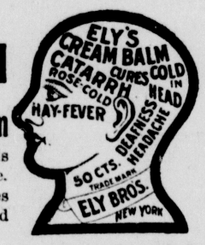

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle but you can sample it at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores, free of charge. It stands on its own merits; it is the only medicine that has ever been placed on sale with the local dealer authorized to keep a bottle of it always open to be administered to anyone free of cost.

PANAMA SENTIMENT

Developed In Debate on Nicaraguan Canal Bill, In the House.

FINAL VOTE LIKELY TODAY.

Nine of the Speakers, Yesterday, Advocating Amendment, Authorizing President to Select Panama Route if Found Best.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The debate on the Nicaraguan canal bill in the House yesterday developed sentiment in favor of giving consideration to the recent offer of the Panama company to sell its franchises and property for $40,000,000, this sentiment taking the form of advocating the Morris amendment to empower the President to select the latter route if the canal commission, upon considering the company's offer, recommends it, and the required concessions can be obtained from Colombia. Of sixteen members who spoke yesterday, nine favored the Morris amendment. It was agreed that general debate should close today at 2 o'clock, after which the bill will be open to amendment under the five-minute rule. The final vote probably will be taken today.

The speakers to-day were Messrs. Shackleford (Mo.); Parker (N. J.); Lovering (Mass.); Morris (Minn.); Burton (Ohio); Hill (Conn.); Bromwell (Ohio); Gillett (Mass.), and Littlefield (Me.), in favor of the Morris amendment, and Messrs. Burgess

(Texas); Bell (Colo.); Cooney (Mo.); Cummings (N. Y.); Gibson (Tenn.), and Lacey (Iowa), for the bill in its present form.

Mr. Morris (Minn.), who offered the amendment Tuesday to give the President the alternative authority to select the Panama route if it was recommended by the commission after the consideration of the Panama company's new offer, in the course of his speech, explained the purpose of his amendment, which, he said, was not to impede the construction of the canal, but to insure the selection of the best canal—the best as to location, cost of maintenance and operation, durability and freedom from danger from destruction. Before the Isthmian commission made its report he did not believe the Panama route feasible. He thought it had been used solely for the purpose of delay. But since reading the report he was unable to reach a conclusion as to which was the better route. Moreover, he did not believe that any gentleman could read the report and tell which route the commission would have selected had the cost and conditions been equal. In embarking upon an enterprise that was to cost $200,000,000, perhaps more, he considered it wise that the experts should have an opportunity to consider the new offer of the Panama company.

If the bill passed in the form in which it was reported the President could not entertain the offer of the Panama company, and under it the President by treaty might bind the United States to construct the Nicaraguan canal even though we afterward became convinced that the other was the beter route.

Mr. Burton (Ohio), who led the opposition to a similar bill in the last Congress, said he would now be glad to see the pending bill pass. The pending bill conformed to treaty obligations and insured the neutrality of the proposed canal. As between the two routes which the commission reported to be feasible he was inclined to favor the Panama. He could not rid himself of the conviction that the shortnes of the Panama route in time would tell powerfully in its favor. He believed that the Morris amendment should be adopted. In speaking of the advantages of the Panama route he said a member of the commission had told him a few days ago that the examination of the Panama route had been much more thorough than the other, and there was far less danger of disagreeable surprises as the work progressed. Mr. Burton received a round of applause as he concluded.

From Former Panama Canal Employes

Mr. Hill (Conn.), read a letter from Prof. Ward, of Bridgeport, Conn., who was employed as an engineer on the Panama canal for six and a half years, contending that the Panama route was the better on the following grounds:

First, it has two excellent ports with a well-equipped railroad.

Second, an established line of steamers to New York.

Third, competent equipment of cars and machinery.

Fourth, accommodation for 10,000 laborers.

Fifth, actual definite plans for the completion of the canal with all the experimental work done.

Sixth, the serious danger of volcanic disturbances at Nicaragua.

Prof. Ward, in his letter, said he was not actuated in writing the letter by the French company, but because he desired to have his country have the best. Mr. Hill said he would vote for the alternative proposition.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From East Liverpool Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of East Liverpool, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mr. P. J. Green, veterinary surgeon, says: "When attending a sick horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Gardiner, of 168 Jackson street, he remarked to me, that the horse seemed to be in pain. I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could at that time scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pains. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me, and it was agony to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and acidous; that I had spells of dizziness when I could see black specks floating before my eyes and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said he had the very thing I needed to cure me in his house—Doan's Kidney Pills. He went into the house and brought me eight pills. I took them with me and I used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing. I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. pharmacy and bought a box and took them. The encouragement held out to me by the first eight pills was not mythical, as by their continued use the improvement continued and I consider no expression of praise too strong for Doan's Kidney Pills; in short, they are ne plus ultra."

CAN YOU SEE THE POOR DOG?

WEAKNESS IN U. S. STEEL.

Yielded to By the Stock Market Wednesday—Some of the Features.

New York, Jan. 9.—The stock market yielded this morning to the sympathetic effect of the acute weakness in United States Steel stocks, and fell generally from 1 to 2 points below last night's level for the principal stocks. After the speculative liquidation in the United States Steel issues had spent its force there was an effective rally in the market, led by Union Pacific and the whole of the transcontinental group. The driving to cover of the considerable short account which was put out yesterday and this morning in the downward course of prices helped on the recovery of the latter part of the day. The closing was very active and strong, with prices aggressively on the upgrade. The recovery in the Steel stocks was not decisive, and they closed at net losses of ¾ for the common and preferred. The extreme declines were 2¼ for the preferred and 1½ for the common. Considering the fact that rumors recently in circulation had placed the net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter at as high as $38,000,000 and that other rumors had alleged average monthly earnings of $12,000,000, the actual figures for the quarter, $29,751,615, were naturally a disappointment, especially as the three months showed successive declines down to the estimate for December of less than $8,000,000. An increase of only about a million dollars over the previous quarter was considered unsatisfactory, as that previous quarter included the period of the costly steel strike and reports of current trade have been enthusiastic for some time past. The enormous absorption of the Union Pacific and its aggressive recovery to 104⅛ from the early low level of 101⅝ was an effective factor in soothing the uneasiness caused by the proceeding against the Northern Securities company in the supreme court. Owing to the wide reaching importance attached to this whole subject, the resiliency of this group of stocks had a notable sentimental effect on the whole market. There was no news to explain the movement, unless it might be due to a report that the inter-state commerce commission had adjourned its proposed inquiry into the affairs of the Northern Securities company until later in the month. The excuse offered by the United States Steel authorities that car shortage and freight blockades had affected their earnings was taken as renewed confirmation that the railroads had all the business they could handle. The speculators used this as a favorable argument for the rally in the railroads. Somewhat inconsistently, last week's sharp decrease in gross earnings in some of the soft coal carriers was attributed also to car shortage. Rock Island was strong on the large net earnings for November. The movement in Sugar was characteristic of an annual meeting today. The rise to 124¼ was attributed to the appeal by the President of the company for the abolition of the duty on raw sugar. The seeming certainty that no gold will go out this week and the hope that next week's probable outgo will be offset by receipts of cash from other sources helped on the late rally. The firmness of Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting was due to reports of a heavy export movement of copper.

The bond market was somewhat irregular but responded to the late United States bonds were all unstrength of stocks.

Total sales, par value, $3,800,000. changed on the last call.

ALLEN FOUND DEAD IN ROAD.

Washington County Farmers Greatly Excited Over Supposed Murder.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 9.—James Allen, 55 years old, a farmer of East Bethlehem township, was found lying dead along the county road. Foul play is suspected.

Allen had left home to drive to the county seat, and had gone but a short distance when it is supposed he was attacked by some unknown persons and killed. His body was found within a few miles of his home by a boy, who ran to the man's home and notified his family.

Allen's horse and buggy were found about a half mile from the place where his body was found, and there were evidences of a struggle. On Allen's head was a deep wound, where he had evidently been struck with some heavy instrument.

The farmers of the township are greatly excited over the affair. Allen is survived by a wife and nine children.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop formation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. Your only need a few does of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. How the... BRITISH Parliament OPENS

The session of the British parliament which opens Jan. 16 promises to be a most interesting and exciting one. It is called upon to face a serious situation of public affairs in England, and all classes are interested and anxious as to what measures will be adopted. Great Britain's three years of warfare in South Africa have absorbed a stupendous sum of money, and a great deal more is being added every week. Taxes are very high, the necessities of life are at the top notch, and the entire working class are wondering how they are going to make both ends meet.

The opening of a session of the American congress is attended with little or no formality, and anything like ceremony is dispensed with. The opening of the British parliament, however, is a most brilliant and impressive spectacle, and the ceremony is stately and interesting. Officially it commences at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but unofficially it begins at midnight. Of the 670 gentlemen elected to serve in the house of commons any one of them can at any moment after 12 take his seat, and seats are secured as early as possible owing to the fact that there are only enough seats for about two-thirds of the members.

A member secures his seat by placing his hat upon it; but, according to the rules of the house, it must be his real working hat and not a colorless substitute. This means that if a member were to bring a second hat with him and were to leave the house for a walk in the street he would forfeit all right to the seat on which he had placed the other hat. Members must, therefore, stay about the precincts of the house, no matter how early they may have made their appearance. But this they can do very comfortably, having at Westminster all the advantages of a first class club, dining rooms, tearooms, smoking rooms, library, bathrooms and a large staff of attendants.

Remembering how long the house of commons has existed and the part it has had to play in national annals, there need be no surprise perhaps that quaint rules and old world traditions should be so inextricably mixed in its affairs. Parliament is summoned in the name of the sovereign, but really by the cabinet. A proclamation signed by the king is published calling together the lords and the representatives of the people for the transaction of divers urgent and important business on a certain day. Tuesday or Thursday is usually chosen, and 2 o'clock is the hour fixed for the opening ceremony.

The extensive cellars beneath the houses of parliament are always

searched in the morning that parliament opens. This is done by a number of yeomen of the guards or the guards of the Tower of London, clad in quaint and picturesque uniforms. This searching of the cellars originated after the attempt of Guy Fawkes to blow up the two houses and their members in the days of James I., and such is the unwillingness of parliament to part with any of its ceremonies that this custom has survived for nearly three centuries and will probably last as long as parliament itself.

The house of commons, as the lower branch of parliament is called, opens with less ceremony than the house of lords. As the hour approaches the animated buzz of conversation is suddenly stilled by cries of "Way for the speaker! Way for the speaker!" The cry is followed by a rush of members to their places. Arrayed in a flowing silk gown, knee breeches, silk stockings, shoes with silver buckles, on his head a huge wig and carrying his three cornered hat in his right hand, the speaker, attended by his chaplain and the sergeant at arms, marches slowly and solemnly up the floor of the chamber, and as he approaches the chair which he is to occupy he makes it three low obeisances.

The members, in single file, then pass the chair and shake hands with the speaker. Before half of them have tendered their greetings, a cry again resounds through the lobby outside. This time it is "Black Rod! Way for Black Rod!" It puts an end to the shaking of the speaker's hand, and the members at once return to their seats. Black Rod, however, is not given a very warm welcome. The moment the shout of "Way for Black Rod!" reaches the sergeant at arms he springs from his chair, rushes to the open door, slams it with a most inhospitable bang right in the face of the approaching Black Rod and securely locks and bolts it.

Members, however, do not look in the least alarmed. The house of commons is full of odd ways, peculiarities and traditions, and as Black Rod is a messenger of the upper chamber this ceremony of slamming the door in his face is the immemorial way in which the commons shows its independence of the lords. The sergeant at arms is presently seen peering through a grating in the door he has just closed and presently three faint knocks are heard. The knocks are intended to indicate that Black Rod requests admission to the house of commons and does not demand it as a right. In response to this humble summons, the doors are thrown wide open at a signal from the speaker, and in walks Black Rod.

He has come to summon the commons to the house of lords to hear the king's speech. He marches up the floor, making three low bows to the chair, and on reaching the table delivers his message to the speaker, while all the members are on their feet with heads uncovered as a mark of respect to the sovereign.

When parliament is opened by the king in person, Black Rod says, "Mr. Speaker, the king commands this honorable house to attend his majesty immediately in the house of peers." But in the absence of the king the summons comes from the lords commissioners, and Black Rod softens the command to a "desire."

There is then a retreat on the part of the messenger, and it is only when he reaches the door that he turns his back on the commons. The speaker, attended by the sergeant at arms bearing the mace on his shoulder and accompanied by the members in a mass behind, follows Black Rod out through the lobbies to the bar of the house of lords.

The spectacle in the upper chamber is a most brilliant one when King Edward opens parliament in person. So keen is the desire of the commons to witness the ceremony that the members hustle and jostle each other and press closely on the heels of the speaker in their eagerness to secure good places in the very limited space allotted to them in the house of lords. The king sits on the throne, a magnificent oaken chair, richly carved and raised on a crimson dais at the end of the chamber; the crimson benches are crowded with the peers in their scarlet robes, with the bishops in their black, flowing robes and lawn sleeves of liberal amplitude; the galleries around are bright with the fair faces, the variegated dresses and the diamonds and flowers of peeresses and other ladies of high degree. This brilliant picture is magnificently framed by the dark oak paneling of the chamber. The speech gives a forecast of the business of the session and is usually read by the sovereign or by the lord chancellor at his command. In the absence of royalty the most conspicuous figures in the ceremony are five personages sitting in a row on a bench beneath the throne and wearing scarlet robes trimmed with white fur and black three cornered hats. The center figure is the lord chancellor, and the others are the lords high commissioners, who are appointed by the king to act on his behalf when he does not open parliament in person. The clerk of parliament reads the royal commission, which is the formal opening of parliament.

PANAMA SENTIMENT

Developed In Debate on Nicaraguan Canal Bill, In the House.

FINAL VOTE LIKELY TODAY.

Nine of the Speakers, Yesterday, Advocating Amendment, Authorizing President to Select Panama Route if Found Best.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The debate on the Nicaraguan canal bill in the House yesterday developed sentiment in favor of giving consideration to the recent offer of the Panama company to sell its franchises and property for $40,000,000, this sentiment taking the form of advocating the Morris amendment to empower the President to select the latter route if the canal commission upon considering the company's offer, recommends it, and the required concessions can be obtained from Colombia. Of sixteen members who spoke yesterday, nine favored the Morris amendment. It was agreed that general debate should close today at 2 o'clock, after which the bill will be open to amendment under the five-minute rule. The final vote probably will be taken today.

The speakers to-day were Messrs. Shackleford (Mo.); Parker (N. J.); Lovering (Mass.); Morris (Minn.); Burton (Ohio); Hill (Conn.); Bromwell (Ohio); Gillett (Mass.), and Littlefield (Me.), in favor of the Morris amendment, and Messrs. Burgess

(Texas); Bell (Colo.); Cooney (Mo.); Cummings (N. Y.); Gibson (Tenn.), and Lacey (Iowa), for the bill in its present form.

Mr. Morris (Minn.), who offered the amendment Tuesday to give the President the alternative authority to select the Panama route if it was recommended by the commission after the consideration of the Panama company's new offer, in the course of his speech, explained the purpose of his amendment, which, he said, was not to impede the construction of the canal, but to insure the selection of the best canal—the best as to location, cost of maintenance and operation, durability and freedom from danger from destruction. Before the Isthmian commission made its report he did not believe the Panama route feasible. He thought it had been used solely for the purpose of delay. But since reading the report he was unable to reach a conclusion as to which was the better route. Moreover, he did not believe that any gentleman could read the report and tell which route the commission would have selected had the cost and conditions been equal. In embarking upon an enterprise that was to cost $200,000,000, perhaps more, he considered it wise that the experts should have an opportunity to consider the new offer of the Panama company.

If the bill passed in the form in which it was reported the President could not entertain the offer of the Panama company, and under it the President by treaty might bind the United States to construct the Nicaraguan canal even though we afterward became convinced that the other was the beter route.

Mr. Burton (Ohio), who led the opposition to a similar bill in the last Congress, said he would now be glad to see the pending bill pass. The pending bill conformed to treaty obligations and insured the neutrality of the proposed canal. As between the two routes which the commission reported to be feasible he was inclined to favor the Panama. He could not rid himself of the conviction that the shortnes of the Panama route in time would tell powerfully in its favor. He believed that the Morris amendment should be adopted. In speaking of the advantages of the Panama route he said a member of the commission had told him a few days ago that the examination of the Panama route had been much more thorough than the other, and there was far less danger of disagreeable surprises as the work progressed. Mr. Burton received a round of applause as he concluded.

From Former Panama Canal Employes

Mr. Hill (Conn.), read a letter from Prof. Ward, of Bridgeport, Conn., who was employed as an engineer on the Panama canal for six and a half years, contending that the Panama route was the better on the following grounds:

First, it has two excellent ports with a well-equipped railroad.

Second, an established line of steamers to New York.

Third, competent equipment of cars and machinery.

Fourth, accommodation for 10,000 laborers.

Fifth, actual definite plans for the completion of the canal with all the experimental work done.

Sixth, the serious danger of volcanic disturbances at Nicaragua.

Prof. Ward, in his letter, said he was not actuated in writing the letter by the French company, but because he desired to have his country have the best. Mr. Hill said he would vote for the alternative proposition.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From East Liverpool Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of East Liverpool, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mr. P. J. Green, veterinary surgeon, says: "When attending a sick horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Gardiner, of 168 Jackson street, he remarked to me that the horse seemed to be in pain. I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could at that time scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pains. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me, and it was agony to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and acidous; that I had spells of dizziness when I could see black specks floating before my eyes and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said he had the very thing I needed to cure me in his house—Doan's Kidney Pills. He went into the house and brought me eight pills. I took them with me and I used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing, I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. pharmacy and bought a box and took them. The encouragement held out to me by the first eight pills was not mythical, as by their continued use the improvement continued and I consider no expression of praise too strong for Doan's Kidney Pills; in short, they are ne plus ultra."

CAN YOU SEE THE POOR DOG?

WEAKNESS IN U. S. STEEL.

Yielded to By the Stock Market Wednesday—Some of the Features.

New York, Jan. 9.—The stock market yielded this morning to the sympathetic effect of the acute weakness in United States Steel stocks, and fell generally from 1 to 2 points below last night's level for the principal stocks. After the speculative liquidation in the United States Steel issues had spent its force there was an effective rally in the market, led by Union Pacific and the whole of the transcontinental group. The driving to cover of the considerable short account which was put out yesterday and this morning in the downward course of prices helped on the recovery of the latter part of the day. The closing was very active and strong, with prices aggressively on the upgrade. The recovery in the Steel stocks was not decisive, and they closed at net losses of ¾ for the common and preferred. The extreme declines were 2¼ for the preferred and 1½ for the common. Considering the fact that rumors recently in circulation had placed the net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter at as high as $38,000,000 and that other rumors had alleged average monthly earnings of $12,000,000, the actual figures for the quarter, $29,751,615, were naturally a disappointment, especially as the three months showed successive declines down to the estimate for December of less than $8,000,000. An increase of only about a million dollars over the previous quarter was considered unsatisfactory, as that previous quarter included the period of the costly steel strike and reports of current trade have been enthusiastic for some time past. The enormous absorption of the Union Pacific and its aggressive recovery to 104⅛ from the early low level of 101⅛ was an effective factor in soothing the uneasiness caused by the proceeding against the Northern Securities company in the supreme court. Owing to the wide reaching importance attached to this whole subject, the resiliency of this group of stocks had a notable sentimental effect on the whole market. There was no news to explain the movement, unless it might be due to a report that the inter-state commerce commission into the affairs of the Northern Securities company until later in the month. The excuse offered by the United States Steel authorities that car shortage and freight blockades had affected their earnings was taken as renewed confirmation that the railroads had all the business they could handle. The speculators used this as a favorable argument for the rally in the railroads. Somewhat inconsistently, last week's sharp decrease in gross earnings in some of the soft coal carriers was attributed also to car shortage. Rock Island was strong on the large net earnings for November. The movement in Sugar was characteristic of an annual meeting today. The rise to 124¼ was attributed to the appeal by the President of the company for the abolition of the duty on raw sugar. The seeming certainty that no gold will go out this week and the hope that next week's probable outgo will be offset by receipts of cash from other sources helped on the late rally. The firmness of Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting was due to reports of a heavy export movement of copper.

The bond market was somewhat irregular but responded to the late United States bonds were all unstrength of stocks.

Total sales, par value, $3,800,000. changed on the last call.

ALLEN FOUND DEAD IN ROAD.

Washington County Farmers Greatly Excited Over Supposed Murder.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 9.—James Allen, 55 years old, a farmer of East Bethlehem township, was found lying dead along the county road. Foul play is suspected.

Allen had left home to drive to the county seat, and had gone but a short distance when it is supposed he was attacked by some unknown persons and killed. His body was found within a few miles of his home by a boy, who ran to the man's home and notified his family.

Allen's horse and buggy were found about a half mile from the place where his body was found, and there were evidences of a struggle. On Allen's head was a deep wound, where he had evidently been struck with some heavy instrument.

The farmers of the township are greatly excited over the affair. Allen is survived by a wife and nine children.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop formation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. Your only need a few does of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. How the... BRITISH Parliament OPENS

The session of the British parliament which opens Jan. 16 promises to be a most interesting and exciting one. It is called upon to face a serious situation of public affairs in England, and all classes are interested and anxious as to what measures will be adopted. Great Britain's three years of warfare in South Africa have absorbed a stupendous sum of money, and a great deal more is being added every week. Taxes are very high, the necessities of life are at the top notch, and the entire working class are wondering how they are going to make both ends meet.

The opening of a session of the American congress is attended with little or no formality, and anything like ceremony is dispensed with. The opening of the British parliament, however, is a most brilliant and impressive spectacle, and the ceremony is stately and interesting. Officially it commences at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but unofficially it begins at midnight. Of the 670 gentlemen elected to serve in the house of commons any one of them can at any moment after 12 take his seat, and seats are secured as early as possible owing to the fact that there are only enough seats for about two-thirds of the members.

A member secures his seat by placing his hat upon it; but, according to the rules of the house, it must be his real working hat and not a colorless substitute. This means that if a member were to bring a second hat with him and were to leave the house for a walk in the street he would forfeit all right to the seat on which he had placed the other hat. Members must, therefore, stay about the precincts of the house, no matter how early they may have made their appearance. But this they can do very comfortably, having at Westminster all the advantages of a first class club, dining rooms, tearooms, smoking rooms, library, bathrooms and a large staff of attendants.

Remembering how long the house of commons has existed and the part it has had to play in national annals, there need be no surprise perhaps that quaint rules and old world traditions should be so inextricably mixed in its affairs. Parliament is summoned in the name of the sovereign, but really by the cabinet. A proclamation signed by the king is published calling together the lords and the representatives of the people for the transaction of divers urgent and important business on a certain day. Tuesday or Thursday is usually chosen, and 2 o'clock is the hour fixed for the opening ceremony.

The extensive cellars beneath the houses of parliament are always

It is the purpose of the committee in charge to make the occasion an enjoyable one. A Pittsburg costumer will provide the suits.

Didn't Appear at Trial — Mr. and Mrs. George Parry, who were defendants in two civil cases which were set for trial in Justice McCarron's court yesterday afternoon, failed to appear and judgments against them were rendered by default. The plaintiffs were Stephen and Jennie Hague. The former claimed $24.50 for labor performed and the latter $14.40 for labor also.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Given By Miss Lillian Burford in Honor of a Visting Friend.

At her home on Sixth street last evening, Miss Lillian Burford entertained a large company of friends in a delightful manner. The affair was in honor of her visiting friend, Miss Eula Smith, of Fremont, O.

The Burford residence was beautifully decorated in pink and green. The dining room was especially pretty, red and white forming the color scheme. Strands of red and white were festooned from the arc light above the table to the four corners. In the center was a large bouquet of carnations and trailing vines. Every variety of refreshments were served.

The principal amusement of the evening was that favorite game "Tailless Donkey." The amusement was entered into by all present with the greatest of zest and resulted in the carrying off of first prize—a handsome water color, the work of Miss Josephine Burford—by Harry T. Hall. David Crumrine won the "booby" prize. Music, both vocal and instrumental, aided in making the evening more pleasant.

About 40 guests partook of the hospitality of the hostess. Among the out-of-town guests were: Miss Elizabeth Martin, of East End: George Lowrey and David Crumrine, of Wellsville. The young people had a most enjoyable evening.

Woodmen's Installation.

The Modern Woodmen installed officers at their meeting last night. An enjoyable entertainment was held, the program consisting of vocal and instrumental music and readings. The order is in a prosperous condition.

The new officers are: V. C., W. S. Culp; W. A. D. F. Bowers; banker, Samuel McShane; clerk, H. L. G. Jackson; escort, Josiah Ford; watchman, William Maley; sentry, H. Mossman; managers, Joseph Garner, C. C. Wells, Joseph Ford; D. H. C., Louis Lord.

WILL GIVE 'EM TIPS

CINCINNATI'S CHIEF OF POLICE HAS A SCHEME.

Will Unfold It at Columbus at a Meeting of the "Blue Coats." Thompson Going.

A meeting of the chiefs of police and marshals of the different cities and towns of the state will be held at Columbus Jan. 14, at which time an effort will be made to effect an organiaztion. The call for the meeting has just been sent out by Chief of Police Philip Deitsch, of Cincinnati.

The organization when effected will be of great worth to the police departments in the state in apprehending criminals. While all the larger organizations are members of the national organization of chiefs of police, the smaller towns and villages are entirely without the protection which such an organization can give. The mutual help that is given the members is very great.

Chief Thompson, who expects to attend, and who received a notification of the meeting today, said to a reporter: "I think it is the best move that has ever been made by the police authorities of the state, and it will go a long way toward putting down the crimes which are being committed daily all over the state.

"Organized gangs work in the small towns, robbing banks and committing similar crimes, and their harvest has been great in the past year. This organization will do much toward putting down crime."

NO ROBBERY ATTEMPTED

Officers Deny a Report Concerning the Recent Commotion At a Broadway Saloon.

Policemen Davidson and Aufderheide, who were Tuesday night covering the beat in which lower Broadway is included, at which time the shots were fired in front of Campbell's saloon, are indignant over the report that has gained some credence that a burglary at the saloon was attempted.

The officers were on the scene immediately after the shots were fired, and the young man with the pistol admitted himself that he saw no robber. The facts of the case are as published in the News Review, and the alleged thief was no one other than a harmless drunken man who broke the glass in the saloon door while trying to gain admission to get another drink.

There is a probability that the young man who did the shooting will be called on to pay a fine.

FOR CLERK OF COURTS

CITY CLERK JAMES N. HANLEY IS A CANDIDATE.

Well Fitted For the Position—A Good Republican, Deserving of Hearty Support.

The announcement is made else where in these columns today, of the candidacy of James N. Hanley for the office of Clerk of Courts for which office he is undeniably peculiarly well fitted. Local voters will undoubtedly confine their efforts largely to the canvass of Mr. Hanley for the nomination to the office to which he aspires.

"Jim" Hanley, as he is popularly known, was born and raised in this city and received a good common school education in the city schools.

He left school early and took a position as a jiggerman in a local pottery which he held for several years after being first elected city clerk, attending largely to the duties of that office after working hours.

He was a member of the local jiggermen's union and was presiding officer of local union No. 12, N. B. of O. P. two successive terms.

For the past ten years Mr. Hanley has devoted his entire time to the duties of city clerk with complete satisfaction to the citizens of East Liverpool.

He has been an active member of both city and county Republican central committees for several years and is at present treasurer of the county Republican executive committee, and of the city central committee.

These qualities demand that loyal voters should stand by the home candidate and give him full support, thus undoubtedly serving the best interests of the county.

Mr. Hanley's career in this city has left him peculiarly clean handed and he has never been half hearted or lukewarm in his efforts to serve the interests of the party from whose hands he asks support and election to the office of clerk of courts. 7-h

Wm. S. Harris, who represents the 24th-26th joint senatorial districts in Ohio legislature, is the son of Rufus Harris, who was reared in Salem, Columbiana county. Mr. and Mrs. David Harris, the grand children of Senator Harris, moved to Salem from an eastern city considerably over a half century ago, and resided there many years. Both died in Salem and were buried in the Friends' cemetery there. Mr. Harris' home is in Ashtabula. He served two terms in the house of representatives in the 90's, and was the author of the famous Harris local option bill. The bill, it will be remembered, was defeated after a hard struggle. The Anti-Saloon league is relying on Senator Harris to secure the passage of a local option law similar to the Clark bill, which was defeated two years ago in the senate.

Andy Jackson, a friend and comrade of Postmaster Surles, of East Liverpool, was elected sergeant-at-arms in the house. A candidate named Booze was turned down by the Republicans because his name was too Democratic.

19TH YEAR. NO. 7. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1902. TWO CENTS.

SOME STRIKING FIGURES IN THE OHIO STATE SENATE

An Interesting Pen Picture of the Lawmakers in the Upper House.

A FINE BODY OF MEN

An Ashtabula Senator Who Was Born and Reared in Columbiana County.

HOW THE LAWMAKERS LOOK

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 9.—(Special)—A character sketch of the personnel of the senate may be of interest to East Liverpool readers. Lieutenant Governor Nippert's pronounced accent proves his German extraction. He is bright, clever, brainy and highly cultured. The distinguishing feature in his makeup is his affability. He will make an ideal president. Senator Archer, president pro tem, is well groomed. He parts his hair in the center, combing it flat over his temples, giving him a German look.

Burnham is a strong man and will be a leader. Chamberlain will be a power in the senate. Connell is the best dressed and best looking in the chamber. Crites is a banker and will make a useful member on the finance committee. Decker is an editor, bright, and a good mixer. Dunham is an oil producer. His pleasant face, his frankness and manliness have made him a legion of friends. When you meet him you feel as if he were going to set up the cigars. Eckert is shrewd and discerning. Godfrey is good looking, good natured and a very capable man.

Krauss is a druggist, wide awake, and progressive. Hanna—no relative of Mark—will be a power in the legislature. Harding is a handsome man with a strong cast of features and one of the brainiest men in the senate. His commanding presence, his ability as an orator make him without a peer in the assembly. Harris is a farmer, but not a hayseed. He weighs about 99 pounds. His thin, compressed lips denote inflexible will. He reminds one of the pedagogue of Dotheboy's hall in "Nicholas Nickleby." He will give away pounds in weight to some of his colleagues and come out on top. Harrison, the youngest senator, is almost boyish in appearance. He is a good talker and level headed.

Colonel Herrick, of Cleveland—cousin of Myron—is the leader of the Democrats, and a very able man. Hosea, tall and angular featured, is above the average in ability and a man of some judgment. Hurst is in real estate. If he is as successful in statesmanship as he has been in that business he will win golden honors. Judson possesses wonderful aptitude for business and will make a faithful and conscientious senator. Longworth is a clever fellow, a profound thinker and good talker. Moore is a banker and an attendant in one of the hospitals, having worked his way up. He has a fine appearance and genial manner.

Overturf is the largest man and his superabundance of adipose tissue does not outweigh his gray matter. Patterson is a fighter from Scrapville, aggressive to an assertive degree, an eminent parliamentarian, logical, lucid and forceful. Harding and Patterson are the ablest men in the senate. Pemerane possesses lots of nerve. Riggin is a farmer, small in stature, bright and will make a good record. Roudebush will cut a figure if noise counts for anything. Royor is good looking and a man of some ability.

Stillwell is a lawyer and expects to make some noise during the session. Thompson is an attorney and his home is in Columbus. Warner is a physician, at one time a professor at Berea college. He wears a skull cap. His mental powers are vigorous and healthy. Watts is a merchant, a man of force and unexceptional ability. Wilhelm wears a smile as broad as the Republican platform. Wirt is stockily built; his dark eyes flash like diamonds. His powers carry great weight. Yates is a farmer.

The Cornerstone, the organ of the Prohibition party, is now controlled by a stock company, organized under the laws of New Jersey, with $15,000 capital stock. A number of prominent Prohibitionists in the Eighteenth congressional district have agreed to take stock in the company, among whom are John Danner, of Canton, and Ex-Mayor C. F. Bough, S. J. Faulk and W. A. Weaver, of East Liverpool. The headquarters of the paper have been changed from Columbus to St. Paris, Champaign county. J. J. Ashenhurst, a former Canton resident, who has been chairman of the Prohibition party for years, will continue to wield the editorial pen of the paper. He states that $1,000 has already been contributed for campaign purposes for the party this year, and altogether it is expected to raise a fund of $10,000. The party

NUMEROUS CANDIDATES FOR LIBRARIAN AND JANITOR.

Board of the Carnegie Institution Will Soon Meet to Make Their Selections.

The board of directors of the Carnegie library will meet within the next few days for the purpose of selecting a librarian and janitor for the new institution.

A number of applications have been received from out-of-town parties for the position of librarian, and these applicants have, in every case, been persons who are well qualified and have had experience.

The members of the council who have been made acquainted with the disposition of a few individuals to make demands when the new appointments on the Carnegie board are made say they will consider requests, but not demands.

A large number of applications have been received from parties who desire to be made janitor of the Carnegie building, and it is likely some difficulty will be experienced in making a selection.

Health Officer Appealed to, But Cites Complainants to the Cemetery Trustees.

Ghoulish pranks and desecration continue at the old cemetery site, to the disturbance of the general equnimity of that vicinity. The health officer, J. H. Burgess, was appealed to yesterday by a citizen who had witnessed an aggravating instance of desecration; but was informed by the officer that he should make his report to the cemetery trustees, who should stop the practice of youthful vandals scattering unearthed human bones.

Not only have scarecrows been constructed of human bones, but boys have paraded about with them, and even played foot ball with skulls.

SHE WANTED JUSTICE

Girl From Dry Run Tells a Long Tale of Woe in Local Courts.

Ora Baker, an 18-year-old girl living near Dry Run, appeared at the mayor's office this morning in company with David Edmonds, with whom she makes her home, and asked to have an affidavit filed against Mrs. Henry Jacobs, of Dry Run.

The girl had a long story of alleged persecutions at the hands of Mrs. Jacobs. She further said that Mrs. Jacobs had defamed her character and desired that justice in great bulk be meted out post-haste.

The mayor referred the girl to a justice and she went to 'Squire McLane's office. The magistrate concluded that the case was not so aggravated as the girl would have it appear, though he agreed to inform Mrs. Jacobs that unless she desisted from further practice of the persecutions, as alleged, she would be called on to appear in court. Constable Powell served the notice.

WAR THREATENED ON TRUST BREAD

Local Labor Circles Opposed to the Product of Non-Union Bakeries.

A CUT HAS BEEN MADE

In the Price of Loaves to Compete With Local Breadmakers—Trades Council Will Be Urged to Give the Question Consideration.

A stir has been on among the bakers for the past two days. It has been caused by the active competition of the National Biscuit company. The trust has reduced the price of bread to dealers of about one cent a loaf and has also established an independent retail business.

The local bakers claim that the trust is trying to drive them out, and that they will be unable to stand the work of the National Biscuit company.

For some time the trust has sold its product through stores, but has not up to the present made war on the bakers. This week they have put wagons on the street and non-union bread is in the city to the concern of the resident craftsmen.

The price of East Liverpool bread to dealers is 4 cents for a 5 cent loaf, and 8 cents for a 10 cent loaf, but bread is being sold by firms in the National biscuit company and by other outside establishments to dealers at from 3 to 3 1-2 cents for a 5 cent loaf and at 6 to 7 cents for 10 cent loaves.

Non-union goods are being bought by a few East Liverpool grocers from two firms, one of them in Pittsburg.

A letter was received yesterday by R. H. Buchanan, who is secretary of the bakers' local union No. 80, from F. H. Harzbecker, who is secretary of the International Bakers' union, with headquarters at 236 Superior street, Cleveland. It was a reply to a query made by Mr. Buchanan as to the standing of the biscuit trust in labor circles.

The letter informed Mr. Buchanan that in the convention of the American Federation of Labor held in Scranton, Pa., Dec. 5, last, the National Biscuit company had been declared unfair.

Local union No. 80 has had a small trouble with two employing firms, but expect to have the maters amicably adjusted by the close of the week. Union labels will then be placed on all East Liverpool bakers' bread.

The bakers have three delegates in the trades council who will bring the troubles of the bakers with non-union firms before that body in a few days.

SHERIFFS' FIRST TRIP

Manager at Chester.

Jud King, who for the past several years has been an assistant in the office of the American Tin Plate company at Niles, has been promoted to the position of general office manager at the Chester plant. Mr. King is well known in this city, having resided here several years ago. He is moving his family here from Niles and will occupy a handsome new residence on Thompson avenue.

SERIOUS DEFECTS FOUND IN BOILERS

Government Inspector Condemns Several In the Tin Mill at Irondale.

REMOVAL OF THE PLANT

Will Doubtless Be Hastened Because of the Inspector's Discovery—To Continue Only Until Material Now on Hand Is Exhausted.

Irondale, January 9.—(Special)—As the result of a visit here of a government inspector, a report was given out today that several boilers in the mill have been condemned, which, it is believed, is positive assurance that the proposed removal of the plant to Chester will be speedily hastened.

Little can be learned from the mill officials concerning the orders of the inspector, but the information comes from a reliable source that as soon as the material is exhausted which is at present on hand, the departments which get their power from the condemned boilers will be closed down and the machinery removed at once.

It was learned positively that the boilers would not be repaired or replaced by new ones until the removal of the plant, as the departments which are not directly affected would be handicapped by the idleness of others, and it is the purpose to hasten the change.

The latest orders coming from the head of the steel corporation, so far as known, were to the effect that the Irondale mill would continue in operation until spring, but now that the discovery of the government boiler inspector has become known the people here would not be surprised to see the plant removed any day.

BIGAMY NO CRIME

According to the Views of the Prosecutor of Harrison County.

Steubenville January 9.—Charles Sayles, colored, of Adena, who was arrested in Harrison county a few days ago on a charge of bigamy preferred by his second wife, of Uhrichsville, and sent to jail at New Philadelphia, has been released.

Prosecuting Attorney Grier investigated the case and found Sayles' marriage had taken place in Harrison county and for that reason he could not be prosecuted in Tuscarawas county.

The prosecuting attorney of Harrison county advised against prosecution, claiming that such practice in that county among colored people is very common.

HEARING IN THIS CITY

Judge Hole Coming Here to Hear Burgess-West End Pottery Case.

Lisbon, January 9.—(Special)—Judge Hole will hear the testimony of a few witnesses in the case of William Burgess against the West End Pottery company in East Liverpool tomorrow.

The case is an old one, growing out of a partnership dispute, and has been before common pleas court for two years or more.

WHOLESALE VACCINATION

Ordered at Mingo By a State Health Officer to Check Smallpox.

Mingo, January 9.—Dr. Heinlein, of Bridgeport, a member of the state board of health, has advised that, owing to the prevalence of smallpox, everybody in the village be vaccinated, unless having recently undergone the operation.

The superintendents in all departments of the mill have been instructed by Dr. Morgan, secretary of the local health board, to request every man working in the mill that requires vaccination to have it done at once. If this request is not complied with the town will be divided into districts and physicians appointed to vaccinate everybody, and those not able to pay will be operated on at the expense of the board.

The pesthouse was built yesterday and stoves and furniture will be moved in without delay. The three hotel patients will then be moved.

POTTERY PROJECTED FOR YOUNGSTOWN

Youngstown's chamber of commerce is taking up with the idea of Thomas G. Burton, of this city, to locate a pottery there. For several weeks Mr. Burton has been in correspondence with influential men at Niles and other places, but has received flattering assurances from Robert A. McClain who is secretary of the chamber of commerce at Younstown, that the members of the board of industry in that city look favorably on the venture.

They are discussing a suitable site for the plant, and it is given out that a superior grade of china and kindred ware, with which Burton is familiar, will be turned out by the proposed plant.

Mr. Burton has been in the employ of various East Liverpool companies and has the reputation of being a thorough potter and having a fine knowledge of the decalcomania departments. He has of late been interested in novel specialties to the trade.

It has not been learned that any East Liverpool capitalists have been interested with Burton in his plans, but probably men from Youngstown or other cities have gone in on the investment.

Mr. Burton left today for Youngstown to meet industrial representatives of that city to discuss the proffer of building sites and whatever else in the way of favors the town might afford.

PROPOSE TO BUILD A HOME FOR USE OF LOCAL CLUBS

PHOENIX CLUB TAKES IT UP

And Negotiations Are Now Pending For Purchase of Post Office Building.

In Case the Deal Is Carried Through And Great Things Are Contemplated By the Projectors—Final Decision Is Expected Soon.

At a meeting of the Phoenix club last evening a proposition which was first brought to local notice by the News Review a few months ago was taken up, which, it is believed, will result in the consummation of an important deal in which a number of the different clubs of the city will be interested.

While the proposed scheme has not as yet assumed definite proportions, there is every indication to warrant the belief that it will be carried through without delay. The matter was fully discussed at last evening's meeting of the club and all members present were heartily in favor of going ahead with it.

The proposition as thus far projected is that of purchasing the building in which the postoffice is located, and which is owned by W. W. Harker, who recently came into its possession. It is understood that as a result of negotiations which have been going on for some time the Phoenix club has received an offer whereby the deal for the purchase of the building can be closed for $19,000.

In case this is done it is proposed to erect three additional stories to the building, thus making it one of the largest in the city. The different floors will be divided off into separate apartments, thereby providing quarters for many of the different clubs, whose members are dissatisfied with their present location.

It is also the intention to have a large dancing hall, stage and gymnasium, in addition to bath rooms, closets and private rooms. Arrangements will be so effected that each club can have equal advantages in the use of all departments. It is argued that by the consummation of the scheme each club included can save hundreds of dollars yearly and at the same time enjoy many comforts that are not to be had at present.

The same scheme has been introduced in many of the cities throughout the country and has in every instance proved entirely satisfactory. Several members of the Phoenix club have been agitating the matter since the News Review first took it up, and in order to satisfy themselves of the practicability of the project a number of investigations have been made with agreeable results.

It has not yet been decided which of the clubs will be included in the deal in case it goes through, but it is probable that at the next meeting of the Phoenix club a final conclusion regarding the purchase of the desired building will be reached.

PLAN FOR AID OF THE HOSPITAL

RUMMAGE SALE WILL BE HELD OPENING JANUARY 18.

All the Churches to Cooperate—Committees of Arrangements Selected.

The general committee which will have charge of the rummage sale for the benefit of the hospital held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and made arrangements for the event.

Every church in the city was represented excepting the Baptist and the A. M. E., and it is expected that these will select their committees at once.

The sale will begin Saturday, January 18, and it is the desire of the committee that contributions be brought in on Friday, the 17th.

The building on Broadway, formerly occupied by J. I. Hodson drug store, has been secured and it may be that another room will be opened on the hill later.

It was the original intention to have the three members representing each church to take charge of the sale one day each until all had taken a turn, but it was thought best to have one each from all churches to be there continually. This will provide more clerks than under the other plan and will have a tendency to make all visitors at home at all times.

The committees selected follow:

Presbyterian—Mrs. N. A. Frederick, Mrs. J. R. Warner, Miss M. E. Hazlett.

U. P.—Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. A. S. Young, Mrs. Joseph Wilson.

St. Stephen's—Mrs. Antrim, Mrs. R. Scragg, Mrs. Stubbs.

St. John's—Mrs. Argner, Mrs. Bauman, Mrs. Farrell.

St. Aloysius'—Mrs. D. E. McNicol, Mrs. Tebbutt, Mrs. W. C. Davidson.

M. E.—Mrs. Howard, Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. J. E. Anderson.

M. P.—Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Rever.

19TH YEAR. NO. 8. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1902. TWO CENTS.

SERIOUS WRECK ON THE C. & P.

Collision of Bellaire Accommodation and Work Train in Allegheny.

ELEVEN PASSENGERS HURT

Among the Number Being a Wellsville Lady—Cars Were Smashed And Piled Up in Great Confusion. Passengers Wildly Excited.

The Bellaire accommodation struck a relief work train in the Allegheny yards last evening, occasioning the serious injury of 11 persons, among whom was Mrs. Barney Householder, of Wellsville. She received a bad cut on the face and several cuts and bruises about her head and back.

Mrs. Householder is the proprietress of a general notion store on lower Main street, Wellsville, and was in Pittsburg yesterday buying a stock of spring grades. When seen this morning by a reporter she did not present the appearance of one who had so narrowly escaped death. Her wounds had been dressed and although a little nervous from the excitement which always follows a wreck of the kind she was apparently in her usual health.

The wreck was a most exciting one. As a result of it the down passenger train due here at 7:33, was over three hours late.

The following were injured:

MRS. B. F. HOUSEHOLDER, of Wellsville, cut and seriously bruised.

MRS. J. C. BUTLER, Ontario street, Allegheny, bruised about the side.

J. W. MOORE, yardmaster, resides at 327 Calhoun avenue, Allegheny, cut about the face and head.

J. F. MURRAY, yard conductor, 16 California avenue, Allegheny, right arm sprained.

R. M. ABEL, engineer of the Bellaire accommodation; home in Bellaire; back injured and cut about the head.

W. SWARTZ, conductor of the accommodation; left arm bruised and cut about the body.

D. H. MAYS, fireman of the accommodation; resides at Bellaire; injured about the back.

WILLIAM EMMETT, fireman of the engine of the relief train; resides in lower Allegheny; left ankle sprained.

M. R. OSBOURNE, brakeman, of 1218 Washington avenue, Allegheny; face bruised.

H. A. NYE, brakeman on the accommodation; resides at 217 Smithton avenue, Allegheny; cut above the head and back and scriously bruised on the left side.

R. SMITH, car inspector; resides in lower Allegheny; cut about the face.

Most of the injured were removed to their homes in carriages, while others living more distant were sent home on trains.

The Bellaire accommodation train left the Ft. Wayne station in Allegheny at 5:55 o'clock, city time. A few minutes later it struck the work train, consisting of an engine and two cars, which was also going west and which was just entering the main track upon which the passenger train was running. The passenger engine, going at the rate of 35 miles an hour, struck the other engine and the sides of the coaches struck those of the work train.

When the cars crashed together they were raised up and derailed. The sides of the cars attached to the work train were completely stove in, and the passenger train, except one car, was almost completely ruined. The engine of the passenger train was battered up and was overturned. The other locomotive was also rendered almost useless.

The accommodation train carried about 150 passengers. Only two passengers were seriously hurt, though others were slightly bruised. The responsibility for the wreck has not been fixed. It is claimed the work train had the right of way.

The cab of the passenger engine was almost completely torn off, and Engineer Abel only escapel fatal injuries by jumping when his engine went over on its side. Fireman Mays was less fortunate. When he felt the engine turning over he prepared to jump, but before he could move to save himself he was thrown out over the yard tracks for a distance of about 50 feet and had his back badly injured.

When the engine turned over on its side the accommodation was brought to a sudden stop and the panic-stricken passengers, some of whom were cut by flying glass, were taken from the cars by the yard employes. Many of the passengers suffered considerably from shock and had to be attended to by the physicians who were called to the scene of the wreck. As soon as another train could be made up it was sent to the Manchester yards and the passengers sent on their way.

Besides wrecking the coach of the work train, the front trucks of the tender on the passenger were completely torn out from under the tender and the piston rod on the express engine, with the driving arm, was torn completely off the engine. The employes' coach was badly splintered and the tracks for about 100 feet were torn up.

On the wrecked train were several persons from East Liverpool. They were shaken up but none injured. Mrs. William Patterson, of the East End, was on the train and also Alfred Meanor.

PROJECT IS FAVORED

PHOENIX CLUB'S SCHEME EXCITES MUCH INTEREST.

Members of Other Clubs Express a Desire to See the Proposed Home a Reality.

The project which has been taken up by the Phoenix club to purchase the post office building and enlarge the structure for the accommodation of other similar local organizations has occasioned considerable comment.

Many members of almost every club in the city heartily endorse the scheme and express a desire to see it successfully carried through. The project for the present, at least, is left to the decision of the members of the Phoenix club, who are alone negotiating for the purchase of the post office building.

It is the opinion of a number of the interested ones that an equally desirable location can be secured with a smaller outlay of capital than is required in the purchase of the building now being sought, while others think that the clubs should share equally in the cost and erect a new building.

However, there is little doubt in case the Phoenix boys carry out their ideas as now in contemplation that those of the other interested clubs will quickly "get in the swim" and lend their cooperation.

OIL PROSPECTS

ARE EXCELLENT ON THE LEASE OF C. A. SMITH.

Most Encouraging Indications Which Lend Impetus to Turkeyfoot Field Work.

C. A. Smith and James Flood returned from the Turkeyfoot oil field last evening, where they located a well on Mr. Smith's lease.

Arrangements were made to begin drilling early next week, and the prospects seem bright for a good producer.

A well being drilled on the Ramsay farm of the Miller & Murray lease began to flow at a rapid rate yesterday, while but two bits in the sand. The oil rose for a distance of 575 feet and caused a considerable amount of inconvenience and some apprehension. Work was suspended at once and the drillers set about making changes in the apparatus without delay.

The engine was moved farther away from the well today, and it is thought everything will be in readiness by morning to resume the drilling. The work will be continued until the bottom of the sand is reached.

Work in the Smith's Ferry field is going steadily forward. Three firms, the Forrest Oil company, Kitchlow & Kirk and the Gaylards, have located wells, but to the present no favorable indications have been noted.

THE GAME LAW IS A FAILURE

Deputy Game Warden Wilfing, of Wellsville, Says It Is Poorly Observed.

RECORD OF THE PAST YEAR

In Columbiana County Was Two Arrests And Two Convictions—The Provisions of the Statutes Not Regarded As Strong Enough.

Columbus, Jan. 10.—(Special)—C. L. Wilfing, of Wellsville, deputy game warden of Columbiana county, has filed his annual report with Chief Warden Reutinger, of the state game and fish commission. It shows that during the year five violations of the game laws were reported, two arrests were made and two convictions secured. The fines collected amounted to $34. Two violations of the fish laws were reported, but no arrests were made.

Deputy Wilfing reported that the laws were not generally observed, and attributed this to the fact that violators were fully aware of the laxity of the statutes and the difficulty to secure convictions under them. He declared they are weak in that they are not sufficiently binding. He traveled 35 miles during the year in the pulpit of his official duties, and reported quail as being plentiful during the open season and scarce prior to that time.

Pheasant was scarce and rabbits and squirrel were not as numerous as in former years. The annual report of the game and fish commission will probably be submitted to the governor this week. It will embody the new bill which is designed to correct the idiosyncrasies of the present game laws. Senator Archer helped to draft the new bill and it is expected that he will introduce it in the senate.

BOTHERED BY TRAMPS

Northside Residents Ask the Police to Apprehend the Vagrants.

A number of residents of the Northside have complained at different times at police headquarters that tramps have been annoying them. One or two of the roadsters, it is claimed, have been begging food and clothing for several days, and on one or two occasions frightened women.

The police have made frequent investigations in the infected district, but have been unable as yet to locate any of the troublesom tramps. It is thought they are members of a gang that has been holding out in the Klondike, in the East End.

However, there have been no reports of any serious depredations having been committed by the tourists.

VISIONS OF RICHES FOR INVENTORS

Wellsville Men Have Refused $20,000 For a Device For Railroad.

LOOK FOR A FORTUNE

The Invention a Nut Lock for Steel Rails Which Is Claimed to Be One of the Best Devices of the Age. Patent Applied For.

Messrs. Hugh Anderson and C. C. Lawson, life long residents of Wellsville, are interested in a nut lock invention, which, it is expected, will be the means of enriching them to the amount of many thousands of dollars. The lock, which is to be used on nuts that are applied to braces by which steel rails on railroads are made secure, is the invention of Mr. Anderson, who perfected it last November after four years of unremitting study and work.

Mr. Anderson not being able to push his invention appealed to Mr. Lawson for assistance, and they have received very encouraging reports from it. A patent was applied for December 1 and they expect a notification of its being granted by the patent office at Washington in a few days. Although the lock in appearance is of simple mechanism, no one but an adept in machinery could well describe it. Mr. Lawson, when asked for a statement in regard to the invention, said:

"It is pronounced by eminent machinists of the country to be the greatest invention of the age. To the railroads of the world it will be invaluable. Mr. Anderson and I have been offered $20,000 for it, but did not even consider the offer. We expect to be made immensely rich through the sale of the invention, because within a few years the 200,000 miles of steel rails laid within the boundaries of the United States will be connected with bolts on which are our locks.

"The bolt with the lock and washer weighs one and one-quarter pounds and will cost only 3 1-2 cents per pound. By request of the Pennsylvania and Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroads we have given them a number of the locks which are to be tested on their roads for six months. If they prove to be a success these companies have agreed to adopt them. There are a few of the locks under a test at the West End shops, and the master mechanic thinks it a perfect device."

JACKSON-BAXLEY

Lisbon, January 10.—(Special)—George Clinton Baxley and Miss Eva L. Jackson were married last evening at the home of the bride's father on the Canton road. The couple went at once to their new home on Orchard street in the McKinnon addition.

EXCELLENT CONCERT

In the High School Course Given By the Boston Ladies' Orchestra.

The entertainment in the high school course last evening was one that was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience present. The Boston Ladies' Symphony orchestra, under the leadership of Frank W. McKee, with Carl Crance, of New York, basso soloist, gave a concert of much excellence. The ladies look well and play better. The program of 10 numbers, considerably lengthened by encores, included both classical and popular airs.

Particularly pleasing were the soloists—Miss E. Ralphina Parsons, trombone; Miss Florence E. Beckett, flute, and Miss Mabel Beaman McKee, violin. Miss McKee was especially good. Carl Crance, the sole vocalist, was down for only one number, but he had to sing three selections ere the audience, even then reluctantly, allowed him to go. He has a bass voice of great strength and compass and sings without apparent effort. His was by far the most satisfactory feature of a performance in which all the artists acquitted themselves most agreeably. His rendition of the "Beware" song from "Robin Hood" was of striking excellence.

The orchestra was much better than that which appeared last year, and Prof. Rayman is to be congratulated on securing such an excellent entertainment.

A BAPTIST CHURCH

EFFORT TO RAISE MONEY FOR LOT AND BUILDING.

Pastor Owens Made Financial Agent And at Work With That End in View.

There is now being put forth an effort to raise money for a lot and building for the First Baptist church. The hall in which the meetings have been held is inadequate to meet the needs of the growing church organized a little over a year ago.

By recent action of the church, Mr. Oscar L. Owens was made financial agent and will superintend the work of raising money for the enterprise.

The members of the church will do what they can and an opportunity will also be given to all the people of East Liverpool to contribute to this worthy object. Cash subscriptions will be received at any time and those desiring to make monthly or annual payments may secure pledge blanks by applying to the financial agent.

At Zanesville Next Sunday Will Be Attended By Local Knights.

A number of the members of the local lodge, Knights of Columbus, will go to Zanesville next Sunday, where the first, second and third degrees will be conferred upon a large class of eligible members.

An attempt was made to induce the railroad companies to run special trains to Zanesville for the occasion, but it was impossible to do so. Had the attempt been successful a very large crowd would have attended. As it is, only a few intend going from the several towns along the river.

GAS EXPLOSION AT CHESTER MILL

Clark Vermillion Blown Fifteen Feet and Most Painfully Injured.

HEAD AND FACE SCORCHED

But Dangerous Hurts Were Fortunately Avoided—The Accident of a Peculiar Nature And Entirely Unexpected—Nobody Else Hurt.

As a result of a terrible explosion of gas in the mills of the American Tin Plate company in Chester early this morning, Clark J. Vermillion was painfully injured. He has been employed as a "pair heater" in the mills and was in the discharge of his duties when the accident occurred. He was working at the mouth of one of the large furnaces and without thinking of the possible results, he too suddenly raised a damper which controls the fire in the furnace and the explosion followed.

The door of the furnace was blown violently open and an immense volume of gas and smoke belched forth, striking him full in the face and precipitating him backward to a distance of 15 feet. In a badly crippled condition he was removed from the mill to his home, where a physician was summoned. Upon an examination it was found that his injuries, although painful, were not dangerous. His face and head and parts of his body were terribly burned. No one else was near at the time.

Mr. Vermillion has been a resident of the city for years. Until recently he was agent for the Reymann Brewing company, of Wheeling.

A VERY CLOSE CALL

Passenger Train and a Loaded Team Came Near Colliding.

When the 4:06 passenger train pulled in from the west last evening it approached the depot at a rapid rate. A dray of casks was being hauled from the Sevres China company and the driver had a narrow escape from getting his team, if not himself, in a frightful collision. The horses had stopped on the track, but were pulled back and slightly turned, the train rubbing the side of one of the animals. Fortunately there was no injury done.

At the Broadway crossing, notwithstanding the fact that there are gates and a company tower man, there are close calls from serious accident almost daily.

State Farmers Will Meet

EAST END

AN EXPRESS AGENT

THE EAST END HAS SUCH AN OFFICIAL AGAIN.

People Also Want a Freight Agent. Great Inconvenience Because There Is None.

Business men of the East End have succeeded in getting the reestablishment of the Adams express station which was abolished a week ago. It was abandoned because W. C. Supplee had resigned and no one had been found to take his place, on account of the smallness of the salary.

A strong remonstrance was presented to the Adams company, for it had been a great inconvenience to manufacturers and merchants to go to the down town office for express. They were highly pleased when H. H. Dooley, a newly appointed agent, reopened the East End office this morning. His headquarters are in McAllister's store.

The people would like very much to have a better arrangement with the Pennsylvania in freight consignments. Unless the shipments are prepaid they are not unloaded at the Mulberry street crossing, but at the down town freight house. This is unsatisfactory, for the reason that it is generally desirable to pay freight bills after the goods have been unloaded and examined.

One man could serve in the capacity of depot agent for freight and passenger traffic and could likewise attend to the express business. It is considered by East Enders that this would be an economical arrangement and would also be of incalculable convenience to patrons of the railroad. However, this brings up the proposed new depot, which the Pennsylvania has not yet started.

LARGE STEAM FAN

Installed at the East End Brick Works to Be Used in Drying Process.

Another improvement has been made at the East End brick yard, which the owners hope will be of much benefit. Trouble has been experienced at this plant, since the new management secured control in drying bricks in the green state, and during the past few months several appliances have been tried without success.

A steam fan four feet in diameter was installed yesterday in front of a large furnace to drive the hot air into the new drying kilns.

While this change could be called an experiment the company is of the opinion that in forcing the hot air into the kilns in this manner the bricks can be dried more quickly.

Dramatic Club Proposed.

Several young people of histrionic bent are discussing a home talent dramatic club which will perhaps be organized in the course of a week by E. M. Fisher. They will undergo training and anticipate giving a series of entertainments for pleasure and profit.

SENSATION AT BELOIT

YOUNG WIDOW LOVED WELL AND OFTEN BUT NOT WISELY.

Suitors of the Woman Use Her As a Tool And Work a Swindling Game.

Beloit, January 9.—The latest acquisition to a long list of sensational episodes that have furnished unlimited material for interesting gossip in this usually quiet village for several months, has culminated in the disappearance of Eugene Walton, a young man, who has been making his home at the Beloit hotel.

Walton had recently been paying some attention to a young widow who resides at Damascus. He seemed infatuated with her and lavishly expended money upon her. He lived beyond his income, but used his credit to make up the deficiency. Back of this there is another who comes upon the scene, another who had paid attention to the same young Damascus widow and who also roomed at the Beloit hotel. He had for a time been infatuated with her, but the infatuation subsided and it is alleged he procured Walton as a substitute.

A ring purchased by the former suitor for the widow was withheld and Walton bought it and presented it to her. He persuaded Homer Boyle to become security for a new suit of clothes. He betrayed Heacock Bros. for about $5 and a like sum was extracted from Goddard & McLean. He borrowed money of others and forgot to see them to say "goodbye." He even asserted that the widow and himself were to be married at an early date, and that he was preparing for the event.

As the widow is sick he found many willing to become his creditors. But the widow proved unsatisfactory to him in the eleventh hour, or he to her, and the engagement was broken off. It then dawned upon some fertile brains that it was a well laid plot of suitor number one to untangle his alliance by entangling another, and it certainly succeeded.

As a fitting climax Walton absconded, leaving numerous creditors to mourn his departure for fresh fields of conquest. The widow is almost distracted.

A CAT IN A MAIL BOX

It Gave a Carrier a Warm Reception And Trouble Is Promised for Somebody.

Beaver Falls, Pa., January 9.—A United States inspector has been here for several days trying to learn who put a big "Tom" cat in a small paper box in Twenty-fourth street a few days ago.

When Carrier James Patterson, in the darkness of early morning, unlocked the box, the cat sprang at his face and scratched him badly. It then dashed out of sight before he realized what had struck him. The mail in the box was in a badly mutilated condition.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

MISS FORAKER MARRIED.

Youngest Daughter of Senator Wedded to a Philadelphia Man—Rev. Dr. Smith Officiated.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Miss Julia Foraker, youngest daughter of Senator and Mrs. Foraker, was married at her parents' residence here to Mr. Francis King Wainwright, of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Mackay-Smith, and was followed by a reception at which about 400 guests were present. The bride's wedding dress was of heavy white satin, with yoke and sleeves of rose point. The veil of tulle was held by orange blossoms. The jewels worn were gifts—a crescent of diamonds from her father and a dog collar of pearls from the groom.

The bridal party and personal friends of the couple, twenty in all, sat at the table together for their wedding breakfast. Senatorial, diplomatic and social circles were largely represented in the guests attending the reception. The bride received a number of elegant gifts, which made a glittering collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright left for a honeymoon jaunt. Their future home will be at Bryn Mawr, but until their new house there is completed the couple will live in Philadelphia.

AID EVERETT-MOORE CONCERN.

Seventy Per Cent of Creditors Agree to Extension.

Cleveland, ., Jan. 9.—Seventy per cent of all the creditors of the Everett-Moore syndicate have now given their consent to the asked-for extension of time; this includes both traction and telephone interests, and is regarded as very encouraging. The main committee of seven has decided to divide itself into sub-committees, each of whom will be allotted certain portions of the interests to investigate thoroughly, and when the work is completed the several sub-committees will then report as a committee of the whole. At the completion of the investigation a general statement will be issued to the press.

Henry A. Everett was to go to New York City last night, to confer with creditors of the syndicate in that city. He hopes to secure their consent to the desired extension of time. A statement from the bankers' committee may be given out today covering the work already done, and which will include the seven or eight traction companies. Reports were also made today, concerning seven of the constituent telephone companies out of the twenty forming the Federal company's system. Six of these show a surplus over fixed charges and operating expenses, the seventh being the only one not showing a surplus, and this is accounted for because of its being a new company and but recently having begun operation.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER TAKE HOLY VOWS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—At the Ursaline convent in this city, Mrs. J. King and her daughter, Miss Katherine King, of Niles, Mich., took perpetual vows before Vicar General Hickey. Mrs. King is a widow and is greatly attached to her daughter. When the latter entered the Ursaline convent here, about two years ago, her mother, rather than be separated from her daughter, followed her, and ended by taking vows yesterday with her daughter.

After nearly six years of absence Kyrle Bellew has returned to New York and is appearing at Wallack's theater as the star of "A Gentleman of France." It is enough to delight the heart of any actor to see such fashionable and crowded houses, and indeed a pardonable cause for pride to get the overwhelming reception with which this favorite was greeted.

Mr. Bellew has lost none of his handsome, manly appearance or his inimitable grace and ease of manner. It is doubtful if his many admirers will be quite satisfied with the medium selected for his return to this city. The play, "A Gentleman of France," is a dramatization by Harriet Ford of the novel of the same name by Stanley Weyman. I have not read the book, but I doubt if the handling has done justice to the original. As it stands now it is incoherent and too talky and must be touched up in many places before it will make a good play.

Gaston de Marsac, the hero, as played by Mr. Bellew cannot fail to win applause, not untinged with regret that this excellent actor has not a role more fitted to his ability. It is not good enough for Kyrle Bellew. Of course the hero overcomes all difficulties, and when he thinks his labors are ended finds himself again worsted by fate, only to rise triumphant and once more hear the approbation of the audience, especially that portion of it nearest heaven. The admirable work of every one on the stage in the fifth scene deserves special mention, and the storm which greeted them was sweet music to ears which carned every atom of it. In this scene the hero has almost rescued the heroine when he finds himself at the head of a straight flight of steps, threatened by five assailants with drawn swords.

In a twinkling the stage is a moving, fighting crowd, with flash of steel and final victory over all by Marsac. Everything was so well and so quickly done as to rouse the wild enthusiasm of the entire house. It was a bit of training and stage management many players would do well to copy. The fall of one of the dead men down the whole flight was almost startling. I would name this gentleman if it were possible in the whirl of this scene to know any one except the hero and the rescued lady.

I took up my programme during the fourth scene to assure myself of the identity of the actor who was playing the role of Simon Fliex, Marsac's faithful servant, and was not surprised at his magnificent work when I read the name of Edgar Selwyn. This part was admirably done and gives the gentleman even more scope than Tony in "Arizona," in which he made such a hit.

Mlle. de la Vire, played by Eleanor Robson, was beautifully worked out. It is a sweet, attractive character, and all that can be said is that it could not have been better carried out than was done by Miss Robson. Next, in my opinion, in point of merit comes Ada Dwyer, whose rendition of Fanchette, the attendant of Mlle. de la Vire, would have been even better if she had been more serious in some parts. She verged painfully on comedy in the balcony scene.

Clarence Handysides looked handsome and played the role of Baron de Rosny in a manly and pleasing fashion, and Manthurine, the jester, was well done by Janet Ford. The mounting of "A Gentleman of France" was in every respect fine.

At the Victoria theater the present attraction is George H. Boker's play, "Francesca da Rimini." Otis Skinner is the star, and he is surrounded by a very good company. The character of Lanciotto, a deformed soldier of Rimini, is, of course, taken by Mr. Skinner. Lanciotto is a great military leader, and his victories are a foregone conclusion. His bravery and his slavish love for his younger brother are two of his characteristics, but his greatest quality is his true unselfishness, his total self obliteration. Almost every noble quality of manhood is centered in him, and mingled with these are a sort of dread of social prominence and a timid retirement of nature owing to his deformity.

began his diplomatic career as an attache of the Belgian legation at The Hague. From there he went to Madrid, then to Vienna, Berlin and Lisbon. In Rome Baron Moncheur represented his government as councilor, and in Luxembourg he was acting charge d'affaires. His next post was in Mexico as Belgium's minister.

While in Mexico Baron Moncheur met the daughter of Powell Clayton, American embassador, Miss Charlotte Clayton, to whom he will be married on Jan. 15 in her father's home.

Baron Moncheur is a widower and one of the most genial and democratic men in the diplomatic service. His wife was Miss Holman, the half sister of Mr. Padelford of Washington. The baron has three children, little girls.

who are still in Mexico, but will come to Washington in the spring with their grandmother, with whom they will live after their arrival here.

Baron Moncheur has taken the house of the late Senator and Mrs. Davis, 1719 H street, and is furnishing it very handsomely for the reception of his bride. The minister and his bride will doubtless entertain extensively, as the baron enjoys society.

More than usual interest is manifested in the new Persian minister, who succeeds General Isaac Khan, one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps. On his arrival in Washington he was entertained at a large dinner given in his honor by the Russian embassador and Countess Cassini, thus receiving his introduction to social life under the most happy auspices.

Phya Akharaj, the Siamese envoy, comes from the land where the white elephant is a sacred creature, housed in a golden palace, fed and attended by awestricken domestics and served on bended knee. Nevertheless he displays all the outward signs of civilization. His diplomatic uniform is, according to the international fashion of the corps, a spiketailed coat, richly embossed with fern leaves and branches laid on heavy bullion. He wears the regulation cocked hat of a lieutenant general and the white trousers of a huzzar.

He is a young man to have attained his diplomatic rank, a native of the capital of his country, Bangkok, and a descendant of the ancient nobility. After completing his home education he was sent to Oxford, where he took both graduate and postgraduate degrees. He is a very wealthy man, both in his own right and in his expected inheritance. His previous official experience

Mirrors of the Greeks and Romans.

The mirrors of the ancient Greeks and Romans were thin disks of bronze, highly polished and usually fashioned with handles, though sometimes they were set upright on stands. Later on silver was used, and the first mirror of solid silver is said to have been made by Praxiteles in the time of Julius Cæsar. Subsequently silver mirrors took the place of brass or bronze ones almost altogether, though steel, copper and even gold were also employed. Looking glasses of metal were employed everywhere up to the fifteenth century.

MISSIONARY WORK

Interestingly Discussed by Second Presbyterian Church Ladies. Encouraging Reports.

A most interesting missionary meeting was held by the ladies of the Second Presbyterian church at the home of the Mesdames R. and W. E. Baird, on Mulberry street, yesterday afternoon. It was the first session of the new year and largely attended.

The general subject of the home field was "A Century of Home Missions." The subject on the foreign branch was "The Open Door." Papers that were instructive and interesting were read and discussed. Reports from the different committees exhibited gratifying progress by the society which has grown in membership and effective zeal. At the conclusion of the exercises an hour was spent in social interchange and a substantial luncheon was a happy feature of the meeting.

FELL IN A HOLE

Roy Myers and His Younger Brother Narrowly Escape Serious Injury.

An accident befell Roy Myers, aged 17, and his brother, two years younger, on St. George street last evening. They had dug a vault 15 feet deep, and had reached the top in climbing out when the younger lad lost his balance. Roy Myers endeavored to rescue him from a dangerous fall when both tumbled to the bottom. The elder of the two struck on his head and was rendered insensible. Severe bruises were sustained by each, and neither could get out until neighbors heard calls for assistance and helped them to the top.

In bounding against the wall of the excavation the force of the fall was broken, else a fatality might have happened.

TROLLEY CAR TO MT. SINAI

American System of Rapid Transit Rapidly Winning Its Way In the Orient.

Cleveland, Jan. 10.—The trolley car is about to displace the patient donkey as a means of locomotion in the orient. A company of Cleveland and Chicago capitalists, incorporated as the Cleveland Construction company, has been successful in negotiating, through J. F. Spanier, of Rome, Italy, for concessions for electric lines from Cairo, Egypt, to Mt. Sinai, and thence along the coast of the Red sea through Syria and Arabia to Macca. A branch is to connect Damascus with the system at Mt. Sinai.

It is argued that the business during the period of a single Mohammedam pilgrimage to Mecca, whither it is the pious duty of every Mohammedan to go, will pay a handsome profit on the cost of construction. Letters received from Senor Spanier say the Sultan of Turkey has gained the necessary concessions for the system.

Already trolley cars are running from Jerusalem to Galilee. The Cleveland Construction company is working under an agreement to finance all undertakings if the constructions contracts are awarded to it.

Rear-End Collision.

It was a rear end collision between a South Norwalk local that ran in over the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and was halted by block signals at the southern entrance of the tunnel and a White Plains local that came by the Harlem branch of the New York Central. The wreck occurred at 817 yesterday morning, at which hour the trains were crowded by suburbanites. Most of the deaths, injury and damage were wrought by the engine of the White Plains train which plunged into the rear car of the motionless train and was driven through to the middle of the car, smashing the seats and furnishings and splitting the sides as it moved forward. The victims either were mangled in the mass of wreckage carried at the pilot, crushed in the space between boiler and car sides, or scalded by steam which came hissing from broken pipes and cylinders. The engine, in its final plunge of 40 feet, carried the rear car forward and sent twisted iron, broken timbers and splinters crashing into the coach ahead. Lights were extinguished and from the wreckage and darkness came the cries of the injured and calls for assistance by those who escaped. Within a few minutes the work of rescue marked by heroism and sacrifice, began. Alarms that brought every available ambulance in the city, the police reserves of five precincts, and the firemen of the central eastern district of Manhattan, were sounded at once. With police, firemen and surgeons, came a score of volunteer physicians and half a dozen clergymen.

Noble Work of Chaplains.

Ladders were run down the tunnel air shafts and the firemen and police attacked the debris with ropes and axes. Passengers already had rallied and were trying to release those imprisoned in the debris. Rev. Father Smith and Rev. Dr. Walkley, chaplains of the department, crawled in over the wreckage and ministered to the dying. Lieut. Clarke, of the fire department, forced his way to the point where Miss Rice and Miss Short lay, and stood in water that scalded the flesh from his limbs until the women were released. T. M. Murphy, a passenger, both of whose legs were broken and still held by the timbers, volunteered to remain as he was until those around him were assisted.

Two policemen and Chaplain Walkley reached Mrs. Howard. and the chaplain gave her a stimulant. The policemen were cutting away the seat which held the woman down when a pipe broke. The scalding steam drove them back, and when the rescuers returned Mrs. Howard was dead.

Injured persons in need of immediate attention were given temporary dressing by the ambulance and volunteer surgeons, and then hoisted to the street. Many Park avenue mansions were thrown open to the suffering but most of the injured were at once taken to hospitals. The dead were carried to morgues and police stations.

Responsibility for the disaster is unfixed, but Supt. Franklin said that so far as he had been able to discover, J. M. Wischo, engineer of the White Plains train is to blame. It is declared that when the South Norwalk train stopped a flagman ran back into the tunnel, and besides placing a torpedo on the track endeavored to flag the oncoming train. The tunnel was beclouded with steam and smoke while the snow which fell through the air shafts tended to obscure the view Engineer Wischo and Fireman Christopher Flynn were arrested. A signalman also was detained for a time, but was released.

The high tension to which the nervous system is constantly subjected, has a depressing effect, and soon headache, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, etc., develop in severe form. Such was the case of Mail Carrier S. F. Sweinhart, of Huntsville, Ala., he says:

"An attack of pneumonia left me with muscular rheumatism, headache, and pains that seemed to be all over me. I was scarcely able to move for about a month when I decided to give Dr. Miles' Pain Pills and Nerve Plasters a trial. A Step Ahead For Labor and Capital

By Senator MARK HANNA

I CONSIDER THE RECENT CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK THE GREATEST STEP EVER TAKEN FOR THE SPEEDY SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES ARISING BETWEEN LABOR AND CAPITAL. The organization of capital, which has come to stay, was an evolution which naturally followed the organization of labor, which also has come to stay, and the concentration of the interests of the two sides, which should be friendly and not hostile, into the hands of a comparatively few individuals will make for the best interests of both.

Too much, of course, must not be expected at first. The agreement reached at the New York conference was simply a platform, and the good that is to result from it must develop in the future. The public must not get the idea that we are to revolutionize everything relating to the condition of labor and capital or that the joint committee is to undertake arbitration by compulsion.

The first step will be to establish a relationship between the two interests, and this will serve as a foundation to work on. WHILE WE DO NOT EXPECT THAT THERE WILL BE NO STRIKES, THEY WILL BE MINIMIZED AS A RESULT OF THE CONCILIATORY AND ARBITRATION POLICY.

Chinese Official Asks Conger to Induce Americans.

Pekin, Jan. 9.—The director of railroads and mines of Shan-Si province visited United States Minister Conger, and said that a branch of the Belgian railroad will be extended to Shan-Si in the spring.

He explained the great mining resources of the province and requested Mr. Conger to exert his influence to induce Americans to invest capital in the province, saying that the policy of the United States during the recent troubles had led the Chinese to prefer dealing with Americans. as they have greater confidence in their honesty.

HONOR TO MISS ROOSEVELT.

German Foreign Office Pleased With Its Effect in America.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The German foreign office is delighted with the excellent effect produced in the United States by Emperor William's request that Miss Alice Rosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, christen his new yacht now being built on Staten Island. The German people are equally pleased at the result of this request.

The illustrated papers published this week contain portraits of Miss Roosevelt, and the social columns of the aristocratic journals give considerable space to a description of the Twelfth Night ball given January 6 in Washington by the Misses Kean of New Jersey, in honor of Miss Roosevelt, and print a long list of the diplomats who attended the function.

NO REPLY FROM CASTRO.

But Germany is Inclined to Allow Him Reasonable Time.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The attention of the German foreign office has been directed to the recurrence of stories to the effect that Germany is about to send an ultimatum to Venezuela. The foreign office has again informed the correspondent here of the Associated Press that a reply from President Castro of Venezuela to the note handed him January 2 by the German charge d'affaires at Caracas (Herr Von Pilgrim Baltazzl), has not yet been received; that Germany will give Castro a reasonable time in which to answer, and that she has no disposition unduly to press the President of Venezuela.

WILL HOLD DOWN PENSIONS.

Gallinger So Amended—None Likely Ror Lazeare's Widow.

Washington, Jan. 9.—During consideration by the Senate of private pension legislation some important statements were made by Mr. Gallinger, chairman of the Committe on Pensions, in respect to regulations adopted by the committee to govern it in consideration of private pension bills. He announced that none but absolutely meritorious cases would be presented to the Senate for its consideration, and that the closest scrutiny would be given by the committee to every bill introduced. He said that no pension exceeding $50 a month would be recommended by the committee for the widow of a general officer, and that pensions for the widows of other officers would be scaled down proportionately.

The interesting case of Dr. Lazeare, who at the instance of Johns Hopkins University and of the Government went to Cuba and submitted himself to inocculation with yellow fever through mosquito bites and died from the disease thus contracted, was brought to the Senate's attention by Mr. McComas, who inquired whether Dr. Lazeare's widow would be entitled to a pension. No decision was reached, but it was the opinion of Senators Gallinger and Cockrell that the case had no pensionable status.

CANAL BILL PASSED

In the House, Almost Unanimously--Only Two Votes Against It.

ALL AMENDMENTS REJECTED.

During Debate, Preceding Final Vote, Hepburn and Cannon Had Controversy—Some Features of the Measure—Cost Fixed at $180,000,000.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The Hepburn Nicaragua Canal Bill passed the House late yesterday afternoon by practically a unanimous vote. Only two members out of 310 voted against it. Messrs. Fletcher (Rep.), Minnesota, and Lassiter (Dem.), Virginia, were the two voting in the negative. The opposition to committing the government to the Nicaraguan route attempted to secure amendments to lodge with the President the discretionary power to purchase and complete the Panama canal, if it could be purchased for $40,000,000. The test came on the first vote, when the advocates of an alternative route polled 102 against 170 votes.

Strength Gradually Dwindled.

At each succeeding vote their strength dwindled until Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, under whose leadership the fight was made, was unable to get the ayes and noes on a motion to recommit. All other amendments failed, and the bill passed exactly as it came from the committee. None of the votes except that on the final passage of the bill was a record vote.

The debate which preceded the taking of the final vote was made memorable by a clash between Mr. Hepburn, the author of the bill, and Mr. Cannon, chairman of the Appropriation Committee. On several previous occasions they have measured swords over canal legislation. Two years ago a similar bill was passed by a vote of 224 to 36.

Some Features of the Bill.

The bill as passed yesterday authorized the President to secure from the States of Costa Rica and Nicaragua in behalf of the United States, control of such a portion of the territory belonging to said States as may be desirable and necessary on which to excavate, construct and protect a canal suitable to the wants of modern navigation and commerce, and appropriates such a sum as may be necessary to secure the control of said territory.

Section 2 authories the President, after securing control of the needed territory, to direct the Secretary of War to construct such canal from the Caribbean Sea at a point near Greytown, in Nicaragua, by way of Lake Nicaragua, to a point on the Pacific Ocean near Brito, and also to construct proper harbors at the termini of said canal, and to make necessary provisions for the defense of the canal and harbors.

President Can Order Surveys.

Sections 3 and 4 authorize the President to make such surveys as may be necessary, and to employ such persons in constructing the canal as may to him seem wise, and directs that in the construction of the canal the river San Juan and Lake Nicaragua shall be used as far as they are available.

Section 5 authorizes the President to guarantee to the States of Costa Rica and Nicaragua the use of the canal and harbors, upon terms to be agreed upon, for all vessels owned by said States and by citizens thereof.

$180,000,000 Total Cost.

The last section makes a present appropriation of $10,000,000 to carry on this work, and authorizes the Secretary of War to enter into proper contracts for material and work as may be deemed necesary therefor, such work and material to be paid for as appropriations may be made from time to time. The section fixes the aggregate cost at $180,000,000, to be drawn from the treasury on warrants on the President.

TO REPORT COINAGE BILL.

House Committee, By Majority Vote, So Decided.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Yesterday the the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, by a party vote, ordered reported to the House a bill providing for the maintenance of the legal tender silver dollar at a parity with gold, and for the increase of the subsidiary silver coinage. The measure was introduced by Representative Hill, of Connecticut. It was considered last year in Congress.

The action was opposed by the Democratic members.

Mr. Shafroth, of Colorado, sought to have the vote deferred one week in order that Alexander Delmar, a writer on economic subjects, might be heard. This was voted down, as were all other motions to defer action. It authorizes the coinage of subsidiary silver coin without regard to limit, and as public necessity may require. The most important feature of the bill, for the parity of gold and silver dollars, is as follows:

"The Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed ta maintain at all times at parity with gold the legal tender silver dollars remaining outstanding; and to that end he is hereby directed to exchange gold for legal tender silver dollars when presented to the treasury in the sum of five dollars or any multiple thereof; and all provisions of law for the use or maintenance of the reserve fund in the treasury relating to United States notes are, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, hereby made applicable to the exchange of legal tender silver dollars.

CONGRESS AND THE CUBANS

By Congressman CHARLES H. GROSVENOR of Ohio

I FAIL TO SEE THAT WE ARE UNDER OBLIGATIONS TO SHOWER BENEFITS UPON THE CUBANS AT THE EXPENSE OF OUR OWN PEOPLE. After Cuba has organized a government which is national in scope and responsible I am willing to do whatever may be wise in the way of helping the Cubans if in so doing no American industry now protected by our tariff policy is harmed. I am and will be in the future a supporter of the national policy of the administration; but, speaking for the present and independently, I see no reason to hasten to aid Cuba's commerce.

WE HAVE CERTAINLY DONE A GREAT DEAL FOR THE CUBANS, AND I DO NOT SEE THAT WE OWE THEM ANYTHING. WE RELEASED THEM FROM THEIR OPPRESSOR, AND THEY HAVE SHOWN THEMSELVES TO BE ABSOLUTELY UNGRATEFUL. THEY HAVE MANIFESTED NO SPIRIT OF APPRECIATION.

It would seem that the old Spanish hostility to us still prevails.

I certainly am not in favor of doing anything in the line requested by the Cubans IF IT WILL HURT THE AMERICAN BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY. Last year we produced one-third of the beet sugar that enters into our consumption of sugars of all kinds, and there is every reason to believe that if the industry is still further protected we will eventually raise all the beet sugar sold in the United States.

WAS ENGINEER TO BLAME?

Smoke and Steam From Locomotives Obscure Lights in New York Tunnel.

New York, Jan. 10.—At the Grand Central station it was said yesterday that as the district attorney had commenced an investigation to determine the cause of and responsibility for the wreck in the New York Central tunnel, the railroad officials had definitely postponed their investigation and would present all the facts in their possession to the county prosecutor.

Another investigation will probably be made by President Cantor, of the borough of Manhattan. Mr. Cantor said in part yesterday:

"My opinion is that if electricity had been used by the railroad the accident would not have happened. I visited the scene of the wreck at 9:30 last night. I watched the trains passing through the tunnel. The volumes of smoke from the locomotives filled the tunnel so that it was impossible to discern the lights."

In New Rochelle, where all but one of the dead live, business was almost entirely suspended yesterday.

The district attorney's inquiry was held behind closed doors. Mr. Jerome presided. At the conclusion he announced that as far as the evidence which is to be submitted to the coroner at the inquest is concerned the investigation has practically been concluded. He added, however, that the investigation will be carried on for some time yet and that more witnesses will be examined this week.

He admitted the present grand jury may be asked to act in the matter. All the evidence went to show that the engineer was a careful man and of good reputation, both as a citizen and an employe. It was learned, though, that Wischow passed his examination as engineer only last August. Before that he was a fireman. Of late he had been acting as engineer at intervals.

There has been no further deaths among the injured and all are doing as well as could be expected.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL E. LIVERPOOL, O.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1902.

The advocates of the Panama canal route are now coming to the front with many and specious arguments in favor of building the shipway across the isthmus there. The question is not one to be lightly or hastily settled. The canal is to be for all time. It will be a costly work, but the United States has the money to pay for it. Before it starts work, however, it should have the assurance that it is to get the best possible results for the investment. The offer of the Panama Canal company to sell its holdings for a comparatively low figure is one that should not be rejected without due consideration. Better a little delay in starting the work than an error in doing so that will be irremmediable. The subject is one demanding the utmost wisdom and discretion on the part of congress.

Governor Nash's words concerning corporations and the duty of the state to exercise supervision over them are being warmly commended. On this subject the Chicago Record Herald says: "If the state creates the corporation and gives it a permit to do business under papers bearing the state's seal it is difficult to see how it can escape the obligation to exercise supervision over it to the extent that the public may not be deceived regarding its stock, its liabilities and its securities. This is certainly as far as the state can go in regulating the affairs of the corporations. It cannot be permitted to unjustly interfere in the legitimate business of industrial enterprise. It cannot heed the senseless clamor of politicians in dealing with great industrial activities involving investments of capital."

Secretary Gage has issued an order intended to prevent treasury department employes from piling up debts which they do not intend to pay. Government employes' salaries, unlike other people's, are beyond the reach of creditors, and it is said there are a good many clerks in Washington who take advantage of this fact to defraud creditors out of their just dues. The order of the secretary declares that any employe who fails, without good reason, to pay his debts, shall be promptly dismissed from the service. It is a commendable rule. The clerk who cheats his grocer or his tailor will bear watching. There are enough honest men in the land so that Uncle Sam need employ none who are not above suspicion. The man who can pay his bills and won't is not deserving of success, nor is he likely to attain it.

The United States, including the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam, Porto Rico and Alaska, had a population of 84,250,000 at the close of the nineteenth century. At the beginning of that period its population was about 5,323,000. It has increased about 16 fold in 100 years, and only China, the British empire and the Russian empire are now more populous. In material prosperity its progress has more than kept pace with the increase of numbers.

A wealthy Englishman has made a gift of $1,000,000 for the establishment of a sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis. It would be hard to point out a field where philanthropic or scientific effort could be invested with better prospects of benefit to the human race.

There is nothing encouraging for China or for the world in the fact that the imperial Chinese court is again established in Pekin. There is small chance for reform in Chinese government as long as the Dowager Empress lives. She is the evil genius of her people.

Some of the East Liverpool grocers appear to have misunderstood what was said in this column yesterday regarding the supreme court decision on the Ohio oleomargarine bill. The idea intended to be conveyed was this: That a customer should get what he pays for. That is the intent of the law, which, we understand is well observed in this city.

The christening of the kaiser's yacht by Miss Roosevelt will be such a pretty international incident, if it takes place, that it is difficult to see why even professional grumblers should object.

A Tennessee candidate for office has read himself out of politics and out of southern favor by revising Dave Hill's famous dictum, making it read: "I am a Democrat, but I don't drink."

Among the most enthusiastic celebrators of "Jackson day" were Democrats in whose company Andrew would never have been seen with his knowledge or consent.

With all his millions John D. Rockefeller cannot buy a good appetite though he stands in sorest need of it.

AT THE THEATER

The Blondells in the three act farce comedy, "The Katzenjammer Kids," replete with sparkling fun, bright dialogue, tuneful music, ludicrous situations and striking tableaux will be seen here tomorrow night. Edward and Libbie Blondell, the popular exponents of broad comedy, will be seen in the roles of the kids and will undoubtedly do credit to their respective parts. A funnier commedian than Edward Blondell would be hard to find. Everywhere he is repeating his wonderful success of last season. Manager William Fennessy, who has been identified with the Blondells for the past three years, is again directing the tour, and has surrounded these noted stars with a company of artists who aid materially in making the farce a melange of pure fun, witty dialogues bright situations and side-splitting laughter.

Chester De Vonde and an excellent company will begin a week's engagement at the opera house, commencing Monday night. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday. "Ten-Ton Door," the greatest scenic sensation ever seen at popular prices, will be among the plays produced. It is a British military comedy drama and has been considered and constructed with uncommon skill by its author. There are five acts essential to the development of the plot and the spectator is led on through the various scenes in a fever of excitement. High class specialties will be introduced between the acts.

Briquettes From Garbage.

One problem which municipal authorities of all countries have been seeking to solve is how to best dispose of the city's garbage. A process has been discovered in France by which garbage is converted into briquettes. It consists of mincing the refuse from abattoirs, fish markets, etc., straw, paper and the like, and adding tar and naphthalene. The whole mass is then mixed in a kneading apparatus, dried and pressed into briquettes.

HALO OF HEVELIUS IS RARE

St. Louis Astronomer Talks of Unusual Phenomenon.

"The great halo of Hevelius observed recently at Cleveland, O.," said the Rev. M. S. Brennan, lecturer on astronomy at St. Louis university, to a reporter of the St. Louis Republic, the other day, "is a phenomenon remarkable only for its rarity. It is produced by the same condition that gives us rainbows, parhelia, paraselenæ, sun dogs and a number of other halos about the sun and moon.

"All these are caused by light both reflected and refracted by vesiculous clouds—that is, clouds which carry small particles of water. In these the light is separated as in a prism, the white rays of the sun or moon coming forth in bars showing all the colors of the spectrum. That is refraction. If this is then reflected upon the earth, it is visible to us. We then see the various phenomena I have mentioned.

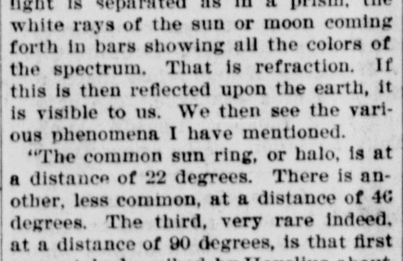

"The common sun ring, or halo, is at a distance of 22 degrees. There is another, less common, at a distance of 46 degrees. The third, very rare indeed, at a distance of 90 degrees, is that first accurately described by Hevelius about the time of Galilei, though observed previously. This has been seen since its description only seven times until the recent observation of the Rev. Frederick Odenbach of St. Ignatius' college in Cleveland.

"Though this observation has not yet been reported officially, I have no doubt it was substantially correct as related in the press dispatches. The atmospheric conditions over the country are now in a state calculated to exhibit such phenomena. This great halo may not be seen again in hundreds of years, or it might possibly appear every day for a week."

HEATING THE WHITE HOUSE

Open Fireplaces Made Use of by the President.

With a thought to solid comfort the architects of the White House planned an open fireplace for almost every room in the house, but not since the furnaces were put in years ago have they been generally used until the advent of President Roosevelt and his family, writes the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. Mrs. Roosevelt always has open fires in the rooms in which she receives her guests on reception days.

The president and, in fact, the entire family use the library more than has any president's family in many years, and an open fire glows on the hearth all the time. Each of the other living rooms have open grates, and they are kept in use most of the time. In the executive part of the White House the open fires also are used, and nothing so accentuates the southern air of the White House as the carrying of coal in huge scuttles from room to room to replenish the fires.

It is a matter of unceasing interest to the northern bred children of the president to watch the firemen keep the fires going. They are planning great times for Christmas, when corn popping over the bright coals will be one of their amusements.

NEGRO WORLD'S FAIR.

Company Has Been Organized and Cities Are Asked to Bid.

The Negro World's Fair company has been organized, the plan being to hold the fair some time in 1904, and cities throughout the country are being asked to bid for it, says a dispatch from Savannah to the New York Tribune. The Rev. H. N. Newsome of Opelika, Ala., is president of the organization that purposes to hold a mammoth fair for the amusement and enlightenment of the colored race. He has urged the Savannah city council to make an offer to secure the fair.

The north, east, south and west are already represented in the company. The promoters say that the fair will attract persons from the four corners of the globe and are enthusiastic for the undertaking.

For Nursing Tramp, $5,000.

George Adams, a miner living at Shaner, near McKeesport, Pa., ten years ago was summoned to his door one cold night. A stranger was there almost famished from hunger and cold. Adams gave him food and a bed. In the morning the stranger was too ill to proceed on his way. Adams and his wife nursed him for two weeks. After he recovered the stranger, who gave his name as David Craig, left. Adams has just received a letter, according to the New York World, from a lawyer in Denver saying that Craig, who had died in that city, had left $5,000 in his will to Adams and his wife.

WHIPPED THIRTY CADETS.

West Point Graduate Has a Record as a Fighter.

When a cable dispatch announced the other day that Captain Frank Schoeffel of the Ninth infantry had been wounded in a fight with bolomen in the Philippines, his friends recalled an interesting episode in the career of the young soldier. While a student at the Military school at West Point young Schoeffel met and defeated with his fists the whole upper class of thirty men.

CAPTAIN FRANK SCHOEFFEL.

At the time of the Booz hazing investigation Mr. Schoeffel was called to the stand and told of his experience in that line. In telling his story to the board of investigation young Schoeffel related under oath a most remarkable experience.

He said that he had attained his full growth when he decided in 1887 to try for West Point. Having heard of the physical requirements of a young soldier from his father, Colonel Francis A. Schoeffel, he determined to be prepared for whatever might come his way.

When he made application for a cadetship, he was over six feet tall and possessed of good muscular development. He went into systematic training and took boxing lessons from an expert, so that when his appointment came he was in fine condition for the ordeal that awaited him.

At West Point he was promptly called out, and before his would be tormentors had got through with him he had met and defeated every one of the upper class in the academy. One day the class planned a severe test to humiliate him, and five picked sluggers were sent up against him one after the other. He defeated them all in one, two, three order in twenty-six rounds. One particularly obnoxious upper class man had something of a record as a bully, and it was arranged that they should fight. Young Schoeffel won a signal victory, and the bully went to the hospital for repairs.

The Kress Airship.

The airship upon which Herr Kress has been working for the past twenty-five years was recently tested at Tullerbacher, lower Austria. The idea which the inventor has been trying to evolve is that of a machine to be run upon water until it developed a certain speed, which, when attained, would raise it into the air. This speed was fixed at thirty-five feet a second. In the trial the speed was reached, and the airship rose in the air, but when only a few feet from the surface of the water it was struck by a terrific squall, which turned it over, and it went to the bottom of the lake. Herr Kress had a life belt and so escaped drowning.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1902.

Members of the United States senate who are recognized leaders have taken alarm at the progress of the movement for the election of senators by the people. Resolutions from six states have been received already in this congress and referred to the committee on privileges and elections of the senate, asking the submission of an amendment to the federal constitution under the provision of article 5, to a convention to be called upon the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states. The states which have been heard from thus far are Colorado, Michigan, Montana, Oregon, Idaho and Nevada. If 30 states, through their legislatures, make such a demand the congress must act. More than 30 states have already declared in favor of the election of senators by the people. There is no general opposition to the plan save in the United States senate. It begins to look as if the reform were bound to come.

The new code bill, backed by the state bar association and the state board of commerce, having for its object a uniform system of municipal government for Ohio cities and towns, will come prominently before the legislature at an early date. Of course it will be vigorously opposed, because it is to the interest of a lot of people to oppose it. But the opposition will not come from a majority of taxpayers nor from those who are interested in good government. Local conditions do not vary so much that all Ohio municipalities cannot safely be placed under one code, provided it be a wise one. Effort in that direction certainly deserves to be encouraged.

The Michigan and Ohio members of congress, whose districts touch the lakes, are interested in a bill being prepared by the secretary of the navy providing for the establishment of a naval training station on the great lakes. The secretary says that one is needed very much and he hopes congress will make the necessary provision. The states bordering on the great lakes form no inconsiderable part of the country. They are capable of strengthening the navy greatly, as they have done in the past. The sea shore is distant, and a lake training school would be valuable, both to the naval militia of the central states and to the country at large.

Not to be outdone by the Parisians, the managers of the coming St. Louis exposition are going to have balloon races that will attract the attention of the world. A prize of $200,000 is to be awarded to the inventor of the best dirigible balloon. A Chicago Darius Green already has his airship in process of construction, and numerous others will undoubtedly follow suit. Progress in aeronautics has been so rapid of late years as to lead to the hope that the great problem may be completely solved during the twentieth century. And in bringing about that result it will be strange if Yankee ingenuity does not figure conspicuously.

The champion absent minded clergyman appears to be Rev. Joseph M. Avann, presiding elder of the Toledo Methodist Episcopal district. He is 54 years old and has been marrying couples for 25 years, yet when he came to get married himself he forgot to get a marriage license. The minister who performed the ceremony neglected to ask for one, thinking no preliminaries had been neglected, and it is now said the presiding elder must be remarried.

Iceland and Greenland cut but a small figure in the world, but they propose to do better. Iceland, it is said, intends to spend $45,000 to establish communication between her shores, Greenland, the Faroe islands and Canada by means of the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy. The distant nations of the earth are likely to derive most of the earth are likely system of communication, when once it is put in successful operation.

The Republican county central committee announces that it will meet at Lisbon on Friday forenoon, Jan. 17, "in conjunction with the aspirants for nominations at the coming county primaries," to fix the date for the primaries and transact other business. The meeting is an important one and should be attended by all interested parties.

Pitchfork Tillman says President Roosevelt is "utterly incapable" of performing the duties of his office. It is indeed fortunate that the Tillman standard of measuring capability prevails to but an extremely limited extent. An administration whose course should suit that fire-eater would be a national calamity.

The British public is excited about a poet with a prod. It is clear that Kipling will never reach the laureateship on the strength of skill in flattery.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Wm. H. Adams.

The final summons came suddenly to Mrs. Wm. H. Adams, at her home, 357 Lincoln avenue, about 11 o'clock last night. She had not been in good health and was confined to her bed a portion of the time, but was sitting it in a chair at noon when a stroke of paralysis overcame her. No rally occurred and it became evident that living lease was short.

The maiden name of the deased was Laura M. Timmons. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Timmons, who reside at 361 Lincoln avenue, and was born September 2, 1852, in Uhrichsville. Her marriage to William H. Adams occurred in Canal Dover. In 1879 she came to this city, where she has since resided. Besides the husband, three children, Edward C., Bessie E. and Mayme Adams, survive. There is also a sister, Mrs. Ted Brooks, and a brother, Fred Timmons, who reside in East Liverpool.

Mrs. Adams was a devout member of the Methodist church, and on account of her kindly works had many friends. Arrangements for the funeral have not as yet been made, but the obsequies will be held some time Monday.

AT THE THEATER

A long laugh, set in smiles to the "Katzenjammer Kids" with the Blondells, is the attraction at the opera house tonight. It is presented by clever comedians, dashing soubrettes and a large chorus of pretty girls who can sing and dance and make the hours merry. The "Katzenjammer Kids" met with instantaneous success and is accepted in the east and west as a positive novelty in farce comedy. Edward Blondell, who has become famous for his bright and witty vaudeville sketches, is the author. Messrs. Blondell and Fennessy, the managers, have placed it before the public with one of the strongest companies ever seen in farce comedy. Every member is selected for his line of work which embraces selection from grand to comic opera, vaudeville and drama. Incidental to the play are unique and novel specialties.

Chester De Vonde and an excellent company will begin a week's engagement at the opera house, commencing Monday night. "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde," that weird and interesting story of Robert Louis Stevenson's, with Mr. De Vonde in the dual role, will be played. Mr. De Vonde will produce the authentic French version, which is the most remarkable and only spectacular rendition of this strange play. An eminent critic has pronounced Mr. De Vonde's work in this most trying double role as the most finished of any other interpreter besides Mr. Richard Mansfield who created the part. Special scenery and novel lighting effects will be used.

POTTERY NEWS

D. A. Hayes, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada, and one of the vice presidents of the American Federation of Labor, has been engaged by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters to address a meeting of the working men of Trenton. Mr. Hayes will speak in Association hall in that city some time in February. He is one of the most prominent labor leaders in America and has served several terms as the head of the glass blowers. He recently organized all the men employed in the glass houses in South Jersey and conducted their strike, which netted them a number of reforms.

John Allmon, late foreman of the decorating department of the French China company at Sebring, has accepted the position of salesman for that company, and is now out on the road. Charles Miller, formerly employed as printer by this firm, is now filling Mr. Allmon's place in the decorating room.

The packers were off duty at the Chelsea plant at New Cumberland several days last week, on account of no packages, and all the time a shipment of empty barrels were lying at the uptown wharf. The steamboat had put them off at that point by mistake.

The new electric light plant at the Chelsea pottery at New Cumberland is ready to start, but is now waiting for some connections about the dynamo with the main shaft of the big engine.

Porto Rico is proving to be an interesting field for the scientists in the employ of the government, says the Washington Star. They have already discovered much that is new in plant and animal life on this island. Among recent discoveries are the finding of many new fresh water leeches, new sea crabs and shrimps and a peculiar class of crayfish, which seem to be intermediate between shrimps and lobsters.

The eyes of these little crayfish are not set in their heads, but grow on the end of long stalks, sprouting forth from either side of the head. The limbs of these strange creatures resemble toothbrushes, being covered with a growth of something akin to hair.

The Smithsonian institution has received a number of specimens of bird and animal life from Mona isle, a strange rockbound island off the coast of Porto Rico. The island has a peculiar fauna. Most interesting objects are enormous iguana lizards, which have been discovered in great number. These lizards are very much larger than those of Cuba and Mexico.

WELLSVILLE

BIG BUSINESS BLOCK

Ten Business Firms to Be Accommodated on Lower Floor And Families Above.

There is a deal on among some of the most prominent business men of Wellsville, which, if it materializes, will mean much, not alone to the promoters, but citizens in general. The men are now simply considering the advisability of the deal, but they have employed a lawyer to negotiate with several parties concerned, and it is highly probable that some definite understanding will have been reached within a few days.

The plan is to purchase the block which fronts on Main street and extends from Fifth street up to Wooley's confectionery store. If this can be done, the gentlemen intend to remove all of the buildings which are now standing and have erected in their stead one massive two-story brick structure which will cover the entire block. The new structure is to be partitioned off into ten store rooms and each room on the ground floor will be occupied by one of the promoters. The second story will be divided into living apartments and will be rented to tenants.

One of the promoters stated last evening that the paramount idea is to dispense with the enormous rent bill which they are compelled to meet every month. None of them own the buildings in which they conduct their business and they are far-sighted enough to see that it will take but a few years' rent to pay the amount which will be required of each in the deal.

The estimated cost of the block is placed at $50,000, and a rough estimate on the cost of the proposed new building is $40,000, making a total cost of $90,000.

As the men in the deal will number not more than ten it will require a capital of $9,000 for each man. The project is pronounced a most worthy one.

IT DOES NOT SATISFY

A Twelve-Minute Street Car Schedule in Wellsville Alone Not Enough.

The street car which will be placed in Wellsville by Supt. Healy in a few days will run between the turntable at Eighteenth street and the bridge at First street. Wellsville residents are very thankful to Supt. Healy for his concession, but do not think it enough.

The council assuredly did not think, when it ordered Mr. Healy to reinstate the 12-minute schedule, that he would simply have the schedule operated in Wellsville. It was not principally for the benefit of Wellsville travelers that council issued the order. It was more for the benefit of the workingmen of both East Liverpool and Wellsville, who are compelled to ride to and from their work.

The reinstallment of the old schedule will do such men no good. It is said the only way to have a 12-minute schedule from the West End, Wellsville, to the East End, East Liverpool, will be for the residents of each city to jointly appeal to the county commissioners. The commissioners have the power to dictate to Supt. Healy in regard to the running of cars between the corporate limits of the cities as have the councils in their respective cities.

To Meet Alliance Bowlers.

Captain Shingler is in receipt of a letter from the Alliance bowlers in which they stated that they have dates for every night of this week, but will be open for an engagement the first of next week, and are very anxious that a Wellsville team make them a visit. Captain Shingler will likely accept the invitation and feels assured that his team will come out victorious. His men have all bought new uniforms and are capable of playing an excellent game.

Shut Down for Repairs.

The I. B. Clark brick yards have shut down for a few weeks, owing to the urgent need of repairs. When the repairing is finished Mr. Clark states that the manufacturing of brick will be resumed. He has the contract for furnishing Contractor Rinehart with the thousands of brick which will he will use for street paving in the spring.

Engagement Canceled.

The sophomore class of the high school held a meeting yesterday and decided to cancel their engagement with the Roney Concert company, of Chicago. They will hold another meeting this evening and will likely make arrangements for another company.

FAMOUS ENGLISH ACTRESS.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell to Display Her Art In America.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the famous English actress, who with her London company is making her first American tour, is said to be a woman of extraordinary fascination. Enthusiastic, she loves to win applause and hates to be adversely criticised.

Mrs. Campbell is the widow of Patrick Campbell, an English army officer who was killed at Petersfontein in

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL.

April, 1900. Her courtship and marriage were romantic. She fell in love with young Pat Campbell of Stranraer, Ireland. Her father did not wish her to marry Campbell, and his parents also opposed the match. The lovers continued to meet, arranged an elopement and finally succeeded in getting married.

No actress in London theaters during the last decade has held more of public attention than Mrs. Patrick Campbell. She had been a provincial actress until in 1893 she appeared in the title role of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Her success was immediate, her power and originality as an actress capturing the public, although the critics mercilessly attacked her.

It is significant of her individuality that Mrs. Campbell has never acquired what is known as a theatrical manner. Her acting is natural, sometimes to the point of ineffectiveness in parts which are not distinctly marked. Mrs. Campbell is an exquisite musician, and in Paris, where she was educated, she won a scholarship in music. Her voice is rich and ample, and she uses it with great skill.

The American tour of Mrs. Patrick Campbell will last for a limited number of weeks, brief engagements being allotted to the leading cities. Her repertoire includes "Magda," "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith," problem dramas; "Mariana," from the Spanish; "Beyond Human Power" and "Pelleas and Melisande." These will give to Mrs. Campbell full opportunity to display her art.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Light Question And Speed of Railway Trains Will Be Considered.

The city council will meet tonight for the first time in two weeks. Among other important matters will be the light question. Nothing definite can be done toward contracting for the lights for the reason of a deficiency in the treasury. To furnish the city with lights an outlay of nearly $2,000 is required, and there are now only $400 in the treasury.

The ordinance passed at the last meeting of council affecting the steam railroad will also be discussed tonight. A representative of the railroad company will be present and endeavor to convince council of its error in drawing up the ordinance. The company wants the regulation of speed raised from six miles per hour hour to eight and also also desires that the provisions prohibiting flying switches within the city limits be altered.

HOW TO FIGHT THE AMERICAN TRUSTS

By WILLIAM II., Emperor of Germany
(As Reported by Gaston de Segur, Noted French Litterateur)

I SEE A FUTURE MENACE IN THESE COLOSSAL "TRUSTS" DEAR TO THE YANKEE BILLIONAIRE. THEY TEND TO PUT AN INDUSTRY OR AN INTERNATIONAL TRAFFIC INTO THE HANDS OF A SINGLE MAN OR A HANDFUL OF INDIVIDUALS.

SUPPOSE THAT J. PIERPONT MORGAN SHOULD SUCCEED IN COMBINING UNDER HIS OWN FLAG SEVERAL OF THE OCEANIC LINES. He occupies no official position in his country—no position outside that which the power of his money gives him.

It would then be impossible to treat with him if it should occur that an international incident or a foreign power became involved in his enterprise, yet one could not make representations to the state, which, having no part in his affairs, would decline all responsibility. Then to whom could one turn?

TO OBVIATE THIS DANGER I FORESEE THE NECESSITY OF FORMING A EUROPEAN "ZOLLVEREIN"—A CUSTOMS LEAGUE—AGAINST THE UNITED STATES, SIMILAR TO THE BLOCKADE ATTEMPTED BY NAPOLEON AGAINST ENGLAND, TO THE END THAT WE MAY SAFEGUARD CONTINENTAL INTERESTS AND ASSURE FREEDOM OF COMMERCE AT THE EXPENSE OF AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT.

In such an eventuality, I say without reserve, England will be placed in the position of choosing between two policies absolutely opposed to one another—EITHER TO JOIN IN THE BLOCKADE AND RANGE HERSELF ON THE SIDE OF EUROPE AGAINST THE UNITED STATES OR ELSE ALLY HERSELF WITH THE STATES AGAINST THE POWERS OF THE CONTINENT.

FAMOUS AUTHOR MARRIED.

Mary E. Wilkins Becomes the Bride of Dr. Freeman.

The much talked of and often delayed marriage of Mary E. Wilkins, the novelist, having at last taken place, hereafter she will be known as Mrs. Charles M. Freeman. The bridegroom is a physician, forty-two years old, while the bride acknowledges thirty-five summers.

Miss Wilkins was born at Randolph, Mass., and began her literary career by winning a prize of $50 offered for a children's story by a Boston newspaper. In her girlhood Miss Wilkins suffered from extreme poverty. She is descended from old Puritan stock and carries the stamp of her descent in her appearance and in her rather shy though direct manner.

Miss Wilkins is one of the really good short story writers, and she has earned her reputation by honest hard work. She is not a prolific producer, but her stories are always finished and rarely lack distinction. Most of her subjects are taken from New England life.

Relating the circumstances of her start on a literary career, Miss Wilkins said she was much indebted to a friend who encouraged her to try for the fifty dollar prize which she captured. Then came her second story, "The Old Lovers," which was sent to Harper's Bazar. Because of the peculiarly child-like characters of the handwriting the editor, Mrs. Booth, at first decided not to read it, but something in it arrested her attention, with the result that the story was accepted. This launched Miss Wilkins on a literary career, and she has continued writing with success. In 1895 her story "The Long Arm" captured a prize of $2,000 from the Bacheller syndicate. There were over 3,000 manuscripts submitted in this contest, and that Miss Wilkins' story was considered the best of the lot is a sufficient guarantee of its high quality. The judge in making the award said that the story combined dramatic interest, inventiveness, novelty and simplicity and directness of style in the highest degree.

Miss Wilkins' marriage is the culmination of a romantic wooing on the part of Dr. Freeman, who is a wealthy business man.

A High Balloon Ascension.

MM. Siering and Berson of the Meteorological institute of Berlin have lately ascended in a balloon of 8,000 cubic meters capacity to the great height of 33,800 feet. Success was possible only because the aeronauts began to breathe pure oxygen at an elevation of about 24,000 feet.

WELLSVILLE

THE SEWER BREAK

Mr. Brannan Places Responsibility for It to Council—Commission Meeting.

The sewer commission met in the city engineer's office last evening, but was not called to order owing to the absence of a member. Nevertheless several matters of importance were presented and discussed. Mr. Bowers read a communication which he had received from Mr. Riggs, of the Riggs & Sherman company, of Toledo. In the letter Mr. Riggs stated that had the plans submitted to the city engineer by them been adhered to the break in the storm sewer on Sewer street would never have occurred.

The plan, stated Mr. Riggs, provided for a grade two feet lower than the one in use. Mr. Brannan accused the city council of being responsible for the demolished sewer. He said that it was through the influence of two members of council that the grade was changed by Engineer White.

Clerk Snowden was not ready to file his final report and the members decided to meet again next Monday evening.

At this meeting several resolutions will be presented, one of which will be to thank the council for the courteous way in which they dismissed the commission.

FLAT DISOBEDIENCE

Of the Wishes of the Principal Alleged to Have Been Shown By High School Seniors.

Rumors are rife of trouble in the high school. It is said that a misunderstanding in regard to money in the treasury of the senior class and how it shall be expended has led to a controversy that may have serious consequences.

The seniors, according to custom, decided to use money which had been gained by entertainments in buying a class pin for each member of the class, but, it is alleged Miss Ruby Mason, the principal, strenuously objected. Yet the seniors, contrary to her wish, bought pins for themselves out of the treasury fund. The end can only be conjectured. There has been talk of taking the matter before the board of education, but a member of that body said yesterday that he could not see how the board was concerned.

A SKATER'S MISHAP

Arthur Steele, Aged 14, Fell on the Ice, Badly Breaking His Arm.

Arthur Steele, the 14-year-old boy who recently had the end of a finger severed in the shops, very unfortunately met with another accident yesterday.

He was skating on the pond on the fair ground when he slipped and fell violently, breaking his right arm in two places. As a result of the accident he is in a badly crippled condition.

Thank Offering Meeting.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church held a thank offering meeting in the church last evening. Over $25 was subscribed for the furthering of the cause and the membership was increased quite materially. Rev. C. E. Tucker Lyons, while at work in the West End shops, received painful injuries to his left cheek. He was helping in the blacksmith department when a piece of metal was blown from a forge and struck his cheek bone, inflicting an ugly wound. He will be laid up for several days.

A Profitable Meeting.

WONDERFUL CAVE FOUND.

Marvels of a Prehistoric Dwelling Place In the Rockies.

A new cave that gives promise of developing into the most wonderful of its kind in the known world has been discovered in the mountains about forty-eight miles east of Butte, Mon., in Jefferson canyon, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Its extent is as yet unknown, though it has been explored for a distance of ten miles and to a depth of about 800 feet. The entrance to the cave, which is near the track of the Northern Pacific railway and about 1,600 feet above the bed of the river, was discovered a few weeks ago by a hunter, and the cavern has just been explored by a party headed by J. W. Gilbert, a newspaper writer of Butte.

Mr. Gilbert returned recently with evidence of his discoveries and the wonders of the cave. Several skeletons were found in one of the many rooms, and many articles and utensils of stone and copper were lying about, some of which have been brought out. The skeletons are of people of gigantic stature, and the belief of Mr. Gilbert is that the cave was the abode of a prehistoric people and that further explanation will bring to light proof of that fact and more remains of its inhabitants.

A theory is that by a sudden change and disturbance of the earth the entrance to the ancient home was closed and the inhabitants walled up and left to die. A large river, with a fall of 100 feet at one place, is one of the wonders of the cave, and a score of apartments, some hundreds of feet in extent, are decorated with the wonderful formations of nature. One room resembles the interior of a cathedral, with a gigantic pipe organ, the pipes being formed of stalactites tuned by nature to give forth beautiful notes of harmony. A member of the exploring party, by striking the pipes with a stick, played "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and the explorers declare it was the grandest music ever heard.

Access to the cave is very difficult, as a direct descent of 400 feet is necessary before any footing can be secured. Another party will shortly visit the cave fully equipped for a thorough exploration.

We will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in order to mark down prices. Wait for us. 8h

MANY ARGUMENTS

ENLIVENED THE WORK OF THE CHESTER COUNCIL.

Train Running Ordiance Modified. Several Bills Debated And Ordered Paid.

Lengthy debates and heated arguments helped to swell the enthusiasm and excitement displayed by the councilmen of Chester at the meeting last evening. When the ordinance providing for the operation of trains within the city limits was presented for its last reading and final passage serious objections were made by several members.

At the conclusion of the reading one member had difficulty in gettin the floor. He stated that as the railroad company had submitted a letter asking that sections 1 and 5 1-2 be changed and eliminated, he thought that the request should be complied with.

As a result of his speech council ordered that the rate of running trains should be increased from six to eight miles per hour and that the section which prohibited the use of flying switches, be obliterated from the ordinance. The ordinance was then passed.

A bill of Engineer J. C. Boyd, amounting to $77.95, was ordered paid after considerable wrangling. Councilman Riley thought that the engineer should have more thoroughly itemized his bill, but Recorder Marshall convinced Mr. Riley that the work had really been done by the engineer and that the money was due him. Mr. Riley again remonstrated when the bill of C. A. Smith was presented, holding that $154 was too much to pay a man or an organization of men for the work connected with the incorporation of Chester.

City Solicitor Marshall, of New Cumberland, was present and explained in detail the work attached to an incorporating committee, but Mr. Riley remained obstinate and voted against the payment of the bill. The remaining councilmen thought the bill very reasonable and ordered a warrant drawn on the city treasury for the full amount.

J. J. Marshall was compelled to state how many days he worked and in what manner he put in the time when assessing the city property before his bill of $16.65 was allowed.

Commissioner A. G. Pugh was for the third time ordered to submit an itemized account of his work during the year 1901. The auditing committee agreed to assemble in the city hall next Tuesday evening for the purpose or examining the recorder's books.

Council appointed a committee to purchase a safe which will be used as a protection of the valuable city documents against burglars and fire.

It is stated that they will undergo no difficulty in securing options on the coveted land, as the owners are very anxious to realize a nominal sum of money for the coal which underlies their land.

Wintering in Colorado And Utah.

The climate of Colorado and Utah has long been world famous, but it is only within recent years that attention has been given to the delightful winter climate of these states. Today physicians all over the United States send their patients to Colorado and Utah to escape the rigors of eastern winters and to benefit by her invigorating atmosphere and health-giving sunshine.

It is not necessary to add an elaborate argument—the conclusion is self-evident and inevitable. The winter climate of Colorado and Utah on the whole presents advantages for the invalid and the pleasure-seeker that cannot fail to command attention.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky mountains have a high elevation the mercury in the thermometer drops down below zero in the winter season and stops there, and that the snow mounts up with the altitude. The fact is that the average precipitation of moisture in the lowlands of the mountain region during the entire year is only 14.15 inches. With such average precipitation there is practically no danger of snow blockades on the railroads, save at a few points exposed to drifts and these points have been amply protected. This is especially true of the lines of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western between Denver and Ogden at all seasons of the year. Facts speak for themselves, and the fact is that travel over "The Scenic Line of the World" has gone on with less interruption from snow blockades during the last ten winters than it has upon the majority of railroads in other localities which are popularly supposed to be more free from such delays than the mountain systems. NATURE'S ENERGY.

Possibilities of Utilizing Heat of the Earth's Interior.

New methods of utilizing nature's energy constantly are being discovered, and doubtless the future has in store greater discoveries than yet have been made. T. C. Mendenhall in Cassier's Magazine writes of the stored energy of the heat of the earth's interior and the possibilities of using it as a source of power. He says:

"The stored energy of the heat of the earth's interior is beyond power of calculation, and some not entirely unsuccessful attempts to utilize this have already been made. From a short distance below the surface the temperature increases downward at an average rate which indicates that at a depth of fifty miles it is not less than 5,000 degrees F., and there is abundant reason for believing that the earth is an intensely hot body with only a thin layer of poorly conducting, cold surface matter.

"These are the essential conditions of a heat engine of enormous capacity, and as in many parts of the world comparatively high temperatures are found very near the surface, while in all parts considerable ranges are possible within reasonable differences of level, the interior heat of the earth, which has an origin more remote in time than the sun or its own axial rotation, is worthy of most serious consideration as a possible and reasonable source of power.

"Its importance will be greatly enhanced when we are able to transform heat energy directly into electricity on a large scale and with economy, avoiding the great waste which necessarily accompanies the use of the steam engine, and this must soon come about."

The needles of the pine are in pairs, and when a pair is bound with fine wire near the point a pen capable of writing is made. As penholder, put the length of the needles in a piece of lilac branch, only leaving the points to show by about a centimeter. The space between the needles fills with ink by its capillarity, and you have a "fountain" pen capable of writing twenty lines right away.

RUSSIANS WHIPPED

In Fist Fights With American and British Tars, at New Chwang.

OFFICIALS ARE UNFRIENDLY.

Due to Social Code of Administrator Russian Foreign Officials Refused to Recognize—Russians Arrested Americans By Mistake.

Pekin, Jan. 9.—While the actual casualties during the fighting at New Chwang between American sailors belonging to the United States gunboat Vicksburg, which is wintering there, and Russian soldiers attached to the garrison of that port, are trifling up to date, the matter has resulted in unpleasantly strained relations between the Americans, Russian and British authorities there. The Washington and St. Petersburg governments are now endeavoring to arrange matters so there may be no further friction.

The trouble originated in the action of some sailors belonging to the British sloop of war Algerine, also in winter quarters at New Chwang, in carrying ashore six rifles for use in a theatrical performance. The Russian administration sent a force of men to arrest the British sailors. The Russians, however, by mistake, broke into a reading room where a party of the Vicksburg's men were seated and tried to arrest them. The Americans resisted, defending themselves with chairs. They were overpowered after a sharp fight, however, and handed over to the United States consul, who sent them on board the Vicksburg. The bad feeling which arose from this incident resulted in several fights whenever American or British sailors met Russian soldiers, and the latter, not being accustomed to fist-fights, were usually badly worsted. This condition of affairs culminated on New Year's day in a more serious affray, and the Russian minister here, M. Paul Lessarn, complained to Minister Conger that two members of the Vicksburg's crew had fired a revolver at an unoffending Russian soldier, wounding him in the arm.

Relations between the American and British consuls and naval commanders and the Russian administration at New Chwang are strained, which makes a friendly settlement of the affair difficult. The administration attempted to enforce a social code which the foreign officials refused to recognize, and consequently their relations have been limited to strictly official interviews, and these have not been amiable, consisting mostly on the one side in protests of the administrator against the conduct of the sailors.

The memorandum presented by the Russian minister to the United States minister here related to various alleged assaults committed by Americans. On one occasion, it was asserted, three sailors attacked a sentry, and owed their lives to the sentry's forbearance in not exercising his right to shoot. The administrator demanded that the United States consul try the offenders, but the commander of the Vicksburg, E. B. Barry, wrote a curt refusal.

Minister Conger is endeavoring to restore friendly relations at New Chwang. He is urging the United States consul there, Henry B. Miller, to co-operate with the Russian authorities in suppressing and punishing violence. The steps taken are, however, seriously handicapped by the action of the Russians, who refuse to allow foreigners to use the telegraph line.

The foreigners at New Chwang attribute the trouble largely to lack of tact upon the part of the administrator.

A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world-famed Dr. Chase's recipe book and family physician, and whose fame is now doubly increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials "A. W."

They imitate, but dare not counterfeit the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which identifies the Nerve Pills now recognized as infallible for building up pale, weak, thin-blooded, nerve exhausted sufferers,

Who are easily exhausted.
Who are wakeful—cannot sleep.
Who have nervous headache.

They remove the cause of blood impurities, securing refreshing sleep and impart strength.

They build up people who find their strength and vigor waning.

They settle irritated nerves, replace lax nuor and lassitude with energy and animation, Cure Nervous Dyspepsia.

The above is the right kind prepared by the Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y., 50 cents per box. All others are imitations.

How I Would End The Boer War

By LORD ROSEBERY,
Ex-Premier of England

I BELIEVE in the stern, efficient, vigorous prosecution of the war to its natural end, but I believe that its natural end is a regular peace and a regular settlement. THEREFORE I SHOULD NOT BE DEAF TO ANY OVERTURES OF PEACE THAT CAME FROM THE EXILED GOVERNMENT WHICH SURROUNDS EX-PRESIDENT KRUGER. You may say that it is a scattered government, but it is the government which went to war with us and must, even in Holland, in the absence of any other, retain some vestige of its former authority. I do not mean, of course, that a Boer embassador should visit London or that the king should send an embassador to Holland. Some of the greatest peaces in the world's history have begun with an apparently casual meeting of two travelers in a neutral inn, and I think it might well happen that some such fortuitous meeting might take place under the auspices of his majesty's government and of the exiled Boer government. Though I would not offer terms to them, I should not be deaf to any overtures from them.

I DO NOT BELIEVE IN INDEPENDENCE or in Lord Milner being the difficulty in the way of peace.

I wish the Boers to blend with our people when peace comes and not to settle once more as a hostile and injured and a sullen camp in the middle of our nation, for we have got to bring 40,000 of them back from prison to their own country.

I AM FOR AS LARGE AND AS LIBERAL AN AMNESTY AS IT IS POSSIBLE TO GIVE. Of course, there will be cases which must be excepted which do not fall within the rules of warfare. There may be necessarily temporary disfranchisements, but on the broad policy of a large and liberal amnesty I am as clear and convinced as on any subject of politics at the present time, and, what is still more, that no other policy is practicable.

I would go so far as to give full civil rights to all Boers who took and signed a definite and drastic oath of allegiance.

I do not believe that as regards representative government we can settle that at once. We must wait till the country is resettled.

And with regard to all transactions which involved money, such as the resettlement and restocking of the farms, I would act with the most lavish liberality. We are spending five millions a month in prosecuting this war. I would infinitely rather spend that five millions a month in procuring, even by lavish generosity, a definite peace in South Africa and in appeasing the remains of civil rancor. And as to what is called the Kitchener proclamation—a proclamation which, so far as I know, has done unmixed harm in prolonging the war and in driving the Boers to desperation—I would certainly annul it. Then, as regards the other matters in dispute between Lord Kitchener and General Botha, I venture to say that half a dozen sound business people representing the Boers on one side and Great Britain on the other could settle them in a week.

ANNOYING THE PRESIDENT.

Reply Sent to a Woman Who Lectured Him For Sabbath Breaking.

Among the annoyances of a president's life are the intrusions of well intentioned people upon his private and personal affairs, says Harper's Weekly. He is the common property of the nation. He has no home, or as little of one as the public is compelled to leave him. He is worse off than any private citizen in the country in this respect, for when he and his wife ask some friends to call on them on a certain day of the week persons who are not asked and who do not know them accept the invitation which was not given them and go also. Not so annoying perhaps are the people who open upon the president as teachers of personal morality. They have no delicacy. They rush in where they are not asked, and they insist that now the president is in the White House he shall conform his life to theirs, shall live as they think is right and is a monster of iniquity if he does not accept their tutelage. There is not a president who has escaped them, and there never will be until we have a score or so of presidents each of whom will not heed them, who will not answer their letters, who will insist on having his own habits and on living according to his own light and not according to the light of another.

We have recently had a temperance president who has been called a drunkard because some one said he saw him drink a glass of champagne at dinner. Denials of the truth of the statement merely whetted the appetite for objurgation. And now we have another president, a very abstemious man, who receives letters nearly every day whose writers express the regret that we have a "winebibber" in the White House. These letters, we are told, are not answered, but a reply was sent to the woman who reminded the president of the commandment, "Six days shalt thou labor," and then lectured him for Sabbath breaking. The reply was written by Secretary Cortelyou and was this:

"I am directed by the president to say that he goes to church on Sunday morning and takes his wife and children into the country Sunday afternoon.

"To which of these occupations do you object?"

Lead Enamel on Iron.

A new and successful process for applying a coating of lead enamel to iron surfaces by mechanical means, invented by M. A. Dormoy, was recently described in La Nature. The articles to be coated, after being heated to redness, are placed in a double hermetically sealed chamber with glazed sides. Each half of the chamber can be worked alternately, and the surplus enamel powder, dusted over the metal by means of a sieve, is removed from the chamber by the draft from a high chimney.

OUR LANDED GENTRY

Old World Outdone In Magnificence by Modern Millionaires—Vast Estate of George Vanderbilt at Biltmore—A Mighty Hunting Lodge.

The progress of anglophobia in this country has been marked in the last ten or fifteen years by the rise of the American country place, and during that period more rural estates have been made by men of wealth than the whole country contained before. The idea, borrowed from the English, seems destined to continue until so called gentlemen farmers will be as numerous here as they are in Great Britain.

While in a measure this movement of wealthy men to form country estates is an aping of our over the sea cousins, the real reason is the desire to escape from the turmoil of city life, and as large fortunes have been established their lucky possessors have turned to the country as affording a better medium for its enjoyment.

As a result, great landed estates have been established in various parts of the country, where the life and surroundings of the English nobility are closely copied. Idle Hour, the country seat of W. K. Vanderbilt on Long Island, very nearly approaches the British idea. There is a fine mansion, with parks, drives, greenhouses, etc., the forests stocked with game and all guarded by a gamekeeper and assistant foresters.

More famous and better known is Biltmore, on the Swannanoa river, near Asheville, N. C., the property of George Vanderbilt. Here on a vast tract of land containing 120,000 acres, comprising mountain ranges, picturesque valleys, waterfalls, forests and meadows, has been constructed the most remarkable country home in the United States.

Originally a tract of almost valueless mountain land, it has been transformed by the touch of gold into an ideal spot. The chateau is situated on a plateau 2,000 feet above sea level and overlooks the Blue Ridge mountains. The building is 375 feet in length, and its extreme width is 192 feet. The main building is of Indiana limestone, and in its construction 6,000 barrels of cement and 11,000,000 bricks were used in addition to the stone.

The grand entrance opens upon a winter garden octagon in shape and sixty feet in diameter. From this garden or court radiate the principal apartments. To the north is the banquet hall, 72 feet wide and 70 feet high, with one span and a domed ceiling. Opposite is a magnificent library 60 by 40 feet. On the main floor also are the music room and tapestry gallery, the latter seventy-five feet long and containing numerous specimens of historical and valuable tapestries.

On the upper floors there are about a hundred rooms. The family and guest chambers number about twenty, and each possesses a bath.

Farther up in the mountains has been built of rough oaken logs a hunting lodge that cost upward of $30,000, and here Mr. Vanderbilt entertains his guests in regal style. All the year round this place is kept in order, ready for a chance call from its owner, and beside the enormous fireplace in the great hall is kept a heap of logs ten to twelve feet in length, the fireplace being of such size as to accommodate fuel of this mammoth size. The great hall is a huge square room with the fireplace at one end. Hanging to the chimneypiece are rows of iron spits designed to hold the carcass of deer or bear or such other animal as may be cooked over the mighty fire.

Here on New Year's day Mr. Vanderbilt gave a truly Brobdingnagian feast, among his guests being Joseph Choate, embassador to England, and Prince Delgracio Talleyrand Perigord. In this mighty hall, decorated with hundreds of skins of wildcats, deer, bears and smaller game, the distinguished guests were regaled on the products of the chase, cooked and served by the corps of keepers.

Our modern millionaires easily outstrip the old English lords and barons in the magnificence and extent of their country seats and in the rich lavishness of entertainment.

When Mr. Vanderbilt starts on the thirty mile drive that intervenes between his Biltmore estate and the hunting lodge, one might imagine that the traveler was some European potentate and his attendants sworn vassals, so imposing is the turnout and so deferential the servants. Thus like barons of old are the new lords of wealth.

PROLONGED BY YEARS.

Short Lives Lengthened By Removing Cause of Disease.

Many Glowing Tributes Paid to Blood Wine, The Great French Discovery, Which Cures Colds, Consumption, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, etc.

That "Blood Wine" fully comes up to the expectations of our people is evidenced by the expression of satisfaction from the many who have already given it a test. "If I had to go without some of the necessities of life, I would have 'Blood Wine' in the house," said a certain gentleman living in the northern part of the city. It wards off coughs, colds, indigestion, bowel troubles and a dozen and one other diseases that are apt to attack any one. "A bottle of good medicine always handy is the 'stitch in time' that saves suffering and misery; and this is just the kind of medicine that will do it." To begin away down at the roots of any sickness, what is the first step to be taken? "Purify the blood," is the answer from every physician. Regulate the bowels and purify the blood. Microbes, Bacteria, Baccilli and all kinds of germs float through the system in the blood.

Just stop and reason it out; think of your blood teeming with these myriads of little demons, floating hither and thither like wreckage on a great ocean, to be cast up against the delicate organs of the system where they find lodging places, stay, thrive and breed, perhaps in the lungs, perhaps in the throat, kidneys, heart or tender tissues of the body anywhere. This is the beginning of trouble. Cleanse your blood and you purify the whole system.

With pure blood and a good circulation no one ever contracted consumption or other fatal disease. "Blood Wine" gives new life because it makes new blood. It brings rest and quiet because it soothes the nerves; it creates a good appetite by toning up the digestive organs; it regulates the system by producing healthy, regular operations of the bowels. It kills that tired feeling and makes one feel like running, jumping and exercising; it gives elasticity to the body by acting directly on the muscles and causing them to respond to the mind's dictates. One teaspoonful of "Blood Wine" makes the blood tingle; it is instantaneous in its action and leaves no room for doubt. It contains no wine or opiates.

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle but you can sample it at Will Reed and Hodson's drug stores, free of charge. It stands on its own merits; it is the only medicine that has ever been placed on sale with the local dealer authorized to keep a bottle of it always open to be administered to anyone free of cost.

5 PER CENT BONDS

Announced as the Form of Carnegie's $10,000,000 Gift.

PURPOSES OF THE DONOR.

Stated by Himself, in Request Sent to Different Persons to Become Members of Board of Trustees. Some Men Elected by Incorporators.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Official announcement was made of the board of trustees of the Carnegie institution, which has been incorporated here under the $10,000,000 gift of Andrew Carnegie. The only indication as to the form of the gift is that it will be in "five per cent bonds."

The announcement was made in the form of a statement given out by Dr. Charles Walcott, Secretary of the incorporators. Its contents were in part: The board of trustees elected by the incorporators are given. The ex-officio members are: The President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, the President of the National Academy of Sciences. Among the other members are Grover Cleveland, William N. Frew, Lyman J. Gage, Daniel C. Gilman, John Hay, Seth Low, Wayne McVeagh, Elihu Root, Andrew D. White, Chas. D. Walcott and Carroll D. Wright.

The board of trustees will meet to organize and elect officers in the office of the Secretary of State, on January 29.

Mr. Carnegie's Purpose.

Mr. Carnegie's purpose, as stated by himself, in requesting the various trustees to become members of the board, is as follows:

"It is proposed to found in the city of Washington, in the spirit of Washington, an institution which, with the co-operation of institutions now or hereafter established, there or elsewhere, shall, in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research and discovery, encourage the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind; provide such buildings, laboratories, books and apparatus as may be needed, and afford instruction of an advanced character to students whenever and wherever found, inside or outside of schools, properly qualified to profit thereby."

Among its aims are these:

"First. To increase the efficiency of the universities and other institutions of learning throughout the country by utilizing and adding to their existing facilities, and by aiding teachers in the various institutions for expermental and other work in these institutions as far as may be advisable.

"Second. To discover the exceptional man in every department of study whenever and wherever found and enable him by financial aid to make the work for which he seems specially designed, his life work.

"Third. To promote original research, paying great attention thereto, as being one of the chief purposes of this institution.

"Fourth. To increase facilities for higher education.

For Those Desiring Washington.

"Fifth. To enable such students as may find Washington the best point for their special studies to avail themselves of such advantages as may be open to them in the museums, libraries, laboratories, observatory, meteorological, piscicultural and forestry schools and kindred institutions of the several departments of the government.

"Sixth. To insure the prompt publication and distribution of the results of scientific investigation, a field considered to be highly important.

"These and kindred objects may be attained by providing the necessary apparatus for experimental work, by employing able teachers from the various institutions in Washington or elsewhere, and by enabling men fitted for special work to devote themselves to it, through salaried fellowships or scholarships, or through salaries with or without pensions in old age, or through aid in other forms to such men as continue their special work at seats of learning throughout the world."

TO CONSIDER THE BIBLE.

Pope Appoints a Commission—An American One Member.

Rome, Jan. 10.—The membership of the papal commission on modern questions concerning the Holy Writ is officially announced. It consists of Cardinal Parechi, Vice Chancellor of the Holy Roman church, and Cardinals Segna, prefect of the vatican archives, and Vives y Tute, as assessor. Among the consultors chosen from the various countries is Prof. Garrigan, of the Catholic university at Washington. The scope of the inquiry is to ascertain the limits of freedom to be allowed the Catholic exegetist in biblical questions of the day and to point out definitely what must be maintained and what must be rejected in the interests of orthodoxy, what are allowable and what are left to the individual conscience.

The commission, notably the president, is said to represent broad-minded, progressive tendencies.

CONSUMPTION

Right food—right medicine—right time—these three things are of the utmost importance to the consumptive. Right food and right medicine—these are contained in Scott's Emulsion of pure cod-liver oil. Right time is at first sign of disease. Right time is now.

Scott's Emulsion always helps, often cures. Ordinary food helps feed. Fresh air helps cure. Scott's Emulsion does both. Begin early.

By A. S. STICKNEY, President of the Chicago Great Western Railway Company

IT IS MY CONVICTION THAT THERE IS NO SAFETY AND CAN BE NO SAFETY TO FINANCIAL AFFAIRS IN THE UNITED STATES UNTIL THE TREASURY IS ABOLISHED; but, at the same time, we must not close our eyes to the fact that it has become an integral part of the banking system and cannot be safely destroyed until a central reserve bank has been developed. Otherwise the duty of protecting the gold reserve from exportation would fall upon 4,064 national and 5,648 state banks and institutions.

THE IMPOSSIBILITY OF MORE THAN 9,000 SEPARATE BANKS PROTECTING THE GOLD RESERVE AGAINST EXPORTATION WOULD NECESSITATE A CENTRAL RESERVE BANK.

Such is the central bank which I advocate, a bank produced by evolution and controlled by the natural laws of trade, INSTEAD OF A BANK CONTROLLED BY PARTISAN, ILL CONSIDERED AND COMPROMISE LEGISLATION.

Under free banking laws many and perhaps a majority of the present banks would continue to conduct local, independent banks for an indefinite period. Being free, they could continue their independent banks as long as they saw fit.

MANY FILPINOS ARE IDLE.

Root Said to Have Blamed Spooner Amendment—Cause of Some Hostility.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Secretary Root gave an interesting exposition of the condition of affairs in the Philippines, in the course of a hearing yesterday before the House Committee on Military Affairs, in connection with the army appropriation bill. The meeting was behind closed doors and no exact statement of Mr. Root's remarks were given out. The Associated Press furnished a statement of what was understood to embody the more essential features. This statement contained the following in part:

The discussion of the Philippine conditions was brought out by a question by Mr. Hay, of Virginia, as to whether civil government could be maintained in the islands without the presence of an army. In reply Mr. Rot stated that the army was necessary as a moral force to maintain the civil administration now established. One of the main causes, he said, why there had not been more progress in the Philippines was that the Spooner amendment passed by Congress last year and restricting the grant of franchises had the effect of preventing the investment of capital, and the consequent employment of labor.

Many people were idle, and many of these became conspirators simply because they were idle.

Mr. Root pointed out that even in provinces where civil government had been a success there were men conspiring to assist in the agitation and warfare carried on in neighboring provinces. On the whole, however, the Secretary expressed the belief that if Congress enacted the bill proposed by Senator Lodge, or that of Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, providing systems of laws for the Philippines, it would be possible soon thereafter gradually to reduce the military establishment in the Philippines. He did not believe it would be rapid or complete termination of military rule. Mr. Root said that better progress had been made in the last year than had been expected, and he expressd the opinion that civilization ultimately would be extended to the people of the islands.

BRYAN WELL RECEIVED.

Cheered in Boston—Held Reception. Guest at a Banquet.

Boston, Jan. 10.—Hon. William Jennings Bryan arrived in Boston yesterday afternoon from New Haven to be the guest of the Commonwealth club.

There was a large crowd at the station to see the distinguished visitor, and when he stepped from the train and passed along the platform he was loudly cheered. He was recognized on the street and heartily greeted.

At 6:30 o'clock Mr. Bryan held a reception at the Quincy and many men of political and business prominence paid him their respects.

Following the reception a banquet was served to the company, and Mr. Bryan was again the central figure.

Former Mansfield Man Charges Alienation of Wife's Affections.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Benjamin F. Williams, formerly a school teacher in Mansfield, O., and once a follower of "Dr." John Alexander Dowie, began suit in the circuit court of Cook county for damages in the sum of $50,000 against "Dr." Dowie and Elders John G. Speicher and Cyrus B. Fockler, of the Christian Catholic Church of America for alleged conspiracy to alienate his wife's affections.

Williams alleges that through the teachings of Dowie and his followers, Edith R. Williams was influenced to treat him as a stranger. He avers that the cause of this influence was that he did not contribute tithes to Dowie's numerous business enterprises.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S FOE.

Lady Henry Somerset Sides With Labor Against Yachtsman.

Sir Thomas Lipton, although personally popular and supposed to have prospects of promotion to the British peerage owing to the king's friendship for him, is having trouble of his own just now. Society seems to be taking a great deal of interest in the welfare of his employees, and some of the society papers are collecting evidence of the charges that women in the Lipton factories are subjected to many indignities besides being underpaid.

Arrayed against Sir Thomas are Lady Dilke, Lady Henry Somerset and the beautiful Countess of Warwick in the contest that is coming over the wages that he pays his army of cheap labor. Lady Somerset is president of the Working Women's league.

In Lady Henry Somerset the famous yachtsman will find a formidable foe. She is an inveterate reformer and is almost as well known in America as in England. She was the bosom friend of Frances Willard and is one of the great apostles of temperance.

A WIDESPREAD BOOM IN PEDESTRIANISM.

New York the Next City to Hold a Walking and Running Contest.

Pedestrianism seems to be forcing its way back into public favor. The splendid sport, which "flourished as the green bay tree" a score of years ago, is deserving of a revival, and it is not surprising that promoters throughout the country have started the good work along. Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Rochester have held interesting matches, and now New York falls into line.

Kennedy and Powers of New York, who conducted the recent successful six day bicycle race in New York, have arranged to hold a go as you please contest in Madison Square Garden Feb. 9, and the entries have poured in so rapidly that the managers are puzzled over the problem of providing running space for the contestants. The race is to continue for six days.

The coming race will be something of an innovation. In the old days a man could stay on the track as long as he pleased, but the present law in New York state will allow a man to compete only twelve hours each day, and this race will therefore be held under the same conditions as the recent six day bicycle race.

It will undoubtedly prove a more grueling contest than the old six day walking matches, for it will mean a dog trot all the time and will have to change every half hour.

In this race will be seen several men who were famous in the one hundred and forty-two hour struggles in New York city more than a decade ago. They are Frank Hart, considered the neatest walker that ever stepped in a shoe; George Cartwright, a very graceful runner; Peter Hegelman, famous for his immense stride; Noremac, the plucky little Scotchman, whose real name is Cameron, but who spells it backward when he competes; Peter Golden, who has a smile when in a race that no amount of fatigue can obliterate; "Old Sammy" Day, who in the old days was wont to keep the spectators in a roar by his witty sallies and cockney songs, and Gus Guererro.

The presence of these old campaigners will recall to many a spectator the heyday of the sport, when Rowell, Fitzgerald, Albert and Littlewood made thousands of dollars. Rowell won $27,000 in one race at Madison Square Garden and carried back to England the sum of $44,000 as the result of two races in New York. He is a small, broad shouldered fellow and probably the pluckiest runner that ever trod the sawdust track.

In one of the big races at the Garden he trotted sixty-two miles without a break, with the wild eyed "Lepper" Hughes at his elbow, and covered 150 miles in the first twenty-four hours. Rowell still holds the world's records from 90 to 383 miles.

The greatest struggle ever seen at the Garden was when the lanky Fitzgerald beat Rowell. For the last three days the men were practically together, and the entire city was frantic with excitement. Wall street men met at the Garden every night, and thousands of dollars changed hands on the result.

The crowd at the Garden during those days has never since been equaled in the big arena, and Fitzgerald won a good sized fortune. He afterward became an alderman and staid citizen of Long Island City, N. Y.

Rowell is now a prosperous innkeeper in England. George Cartwright, who will be seen in the approaching race, still holds the professional records for fifty and sixty miles.

All the old timers entered in this race are still strong, healthy looking men, and with a big prize as an incentive they will undoubtedly train hard and give the younger men in the race a hard task to beat them.

The best of the new blood appears to be Stokes, Tracy, Cavanaugh, Hegelman, Hjertberg, Glick, Dean and the Seneca Indians, Frank and Jerry Pierce.

PANAMA SENTIMENT

Developed In Debate on Nicaraguan Canal Bill, In the House.

FINAL VOTE LIKELY TODAY.

Nine of the Speakers, Yesterday, Advocating Amendment, Authorizing President to Select Panama Route if Found Best.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The debate on the Nicaraguan canal bill in the House yesterday developed sentiment in favor of giving consideration to the recent offer of the Panama company to sell its franchises and property for $40,000,000, this sentiment taking the form of advocating the Morris amendment to empower the President to select the latter route if the canal commission, upon considering the company's offer, recommends it, and the required concessions can be obtained from Colombia. Of sixteen members who spoke yesterday, nine favored the Morris amendment. It was agreed that general debate should close today at 2 o'clock, after which the bill will be open to amendment under the five-minute rule. The final vote probably will be taken today.

The speakers to-day were Messrs. Shackleford (Mo.); Parker (N. J.); Lovering (Mass.); Morris (Minn.); Burton (Ohio); Hill (Conn.); Bromwell (Ohio); Gillett (Mass.), and Littlefield (Me.), in favor of the Morris amendment, and Messrs. Burgess

MAURICE HUTIN.
Represented Panama Canal Company in Washington.

(Texas); Bell (Colo.); Cooney (Mo.); Cummings (N. Y.); Gibson (Tenn.), and Lacey (Iowa), for the bill in its present form.

Mr. Morris (Minn.), who offered the amendment Tuesday to give the President the alternative authority to select the Panama route if it was recommended by the commission after the consideration of the Panama company's new offer, in the course of his speech, explained the purpose of his amendment, which, he said, was not to impede the construction of the canal, but to insure the selection of the best canal—the best as to location, cost of maintenance and operation, durability and freedom from danger from destruction. Before the Isthmian commission made its report he did not believe the Panama route feasible. He thought it had been used solely for the purpose of delay. But since reading the report he was unable to reach a conclusion as to which was the better route. Moreover, he did not believe that any gentleman could read the report and tell which route the commission would have selected had the cost and conditions been equal. In embarking upon an enterprise that was to cost $200,000,000, perhaps more, he considered it wise that the experts should have an opportunity to consider the new offer of the Panama company.

If the bill passed in the form in which it was reported the President could not entertain the offer of the Panama company, and under it the President by treaty might bind the United States to construct the Nicaraguan canal even though we afterward became convinced that the other was the beter route.

Mr. Burton (Ohio), who led the opposition to a similar bill in the last Congress, said he would now be glad to see the pending bill pass. The pending bill conformed to treaty obligations and insured the neutrality of the proposed canal. As between the two routes which the commission reported to be feasible he was inclined to favor the Panama. He could not rid himself of the conviction that the shortnes of the Panama route in time would tell powerfully in its favor. He believed that the Morris amendment should be adopted. In speaking of the advantages of the Panama route he said a member of the commission had told him a few days ago that the examination of the Panama route had been much more thorough than the other, and there was far less danger of disagreeable surprises as the work progressed. Mr. Burton received a round of applause as he concluded.

From Former Panama Canal Employes

Mr. Hill (Conn.), read a letter from Prof. Ward, of Bridgeport, Conn., who was employed as an engineer on the Panama canal for six and a half years, contending that the Panama route was the better on the following grounds:

First, it has two excellent ports with a well-equipped railroad.

Second, an established line of steamers to New York.

Third, competent equipment of cars and machinery.

Fourth, accommodation for 10,000 laborers.

Fifth, actual definite plans for the completion of the canal with all the experimental work done.

Sixth, the serious danger of volcanic disturbances at Nicaragua.

Prof. Ward, in his letter, said he was not actuated in writing the letter by the French company, but because he desired to have his country have the best. Mr. Hill said he would vote for the alternative proposition.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From East Liverpool Citizens.

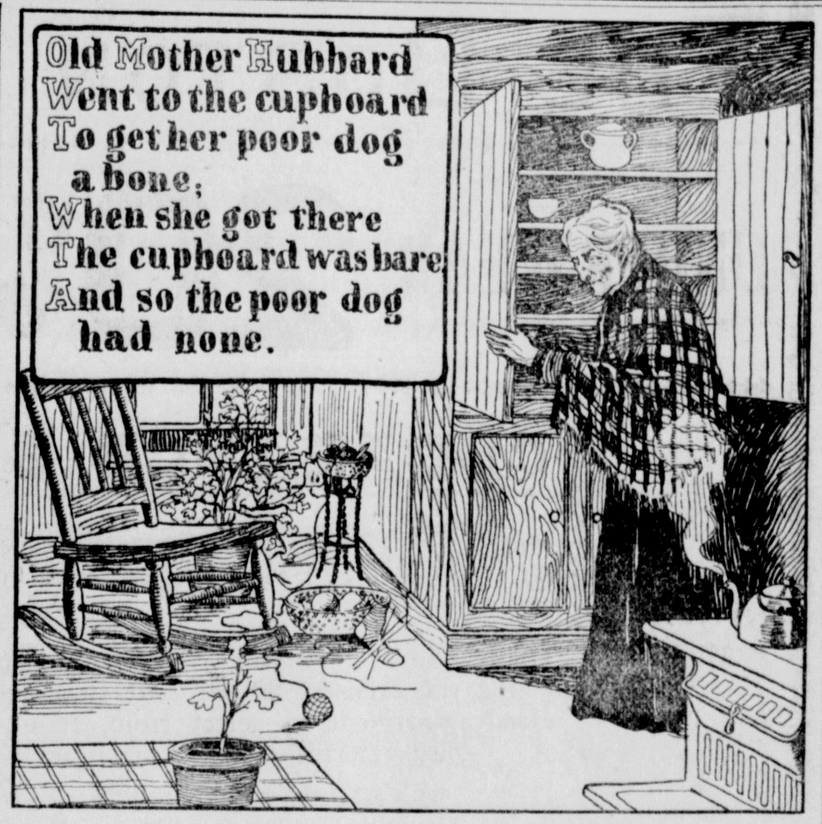

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of East Liverpool, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Mr. P. J. Green, veterinary surgeon, says: "When attending a sick horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Gardiner, of 168 Jackson street, he remarked to me that the horse seemed to be in pain. I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could at that time scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pains. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me, and it was agony to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and acidous; that I had spells of dizziness when I could see black specks floating before my eyes and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said he had the very thing I needed to cure me in his house—Doan's Kidney Pills. He went into the house and brought me eight pills. I took them with me and I used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing, I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. pharmacy and bought a box and took them. The encouragement held out to me by the first eight pills was not mythical, as by their continued use the improvement continued and I consider no expression of praise too strong for Doan's Kidney Pills; in short, they are ne plus ultra."

CAN YOU SEE THE POOR DOG?

WEAKNESS IN U. S. STEEL.

Yielded to By the Stock Market Wednesday—Some of the Features.

New York, Jan. 9.—The stock market yielded this morning to the sympathetic effect of the acute weakness in United States Steel stocks, and fell generally from 1 to 2 points below last night's level for the principal stocks. After the speculative liquidation in the United States Steel issues had spent its force there was an effective rally in the market, led by Union Pacific and the whole of the transcontinental group. The driving to cover of the considerable short account which was put out yesterday and this morning in the downward course of prices helped on the recovery of the latter part of the day. The closing was very active and strong, with prices aggressively on the upgrade. The recovery in the Steel stocks was not decisive, and they closed at net losses of ¾ for the common and preferred. The extreme declines were 2¼ for the preferred and 1½ for the common. Considering the fact that rumors recently in circulation had placed the net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter at as high as $38,000,000 and that other rumors had alleged average monthly earnings of $12,000,000, the actual figures for the quarter, $29,751,615, were naturally a disappointment, especially as the three months showed successive declines down to the estimate for December of less than $8,000,000. An increase of only about a million dollars over the previous quarter was considered unsatisfactory, as that previous quarter included the period of the costly steel strike and reports of current trade have been enthusiastic for some time past. The enormous absorption of the Union Pacific and its aggressive recovery to 104⅛ from the early low level of 101⅝ was an effective factor in soothing the uneasiness caused by the proceeding against the Northern Securities company in the supreme court. Owing to the wide reaching importance attached to this whole subject, the resiliency of this group of stocks had a notable sentimental effect on the whole market. There was no news to explain the movement, unless it might be due to a report that the inter-state commerce commission had adjourned its proposed inquiry into the affairs of the Northern Securities company until later in the month. The excuse offered by the United States Steel authorities that car shortage and freight blockades had affected their earnings was taken as renewed confirmation that the railroads had all the business they could handle. The speculators used this as a favorable argument for the rally in the railroads. Somewhat inconsistently, last week's sharp decrease in gross earnings in some of the soft coal carriers was attributed also to car shortage. Rock Island was strong on the large net earnings for November. The movement in Sugar was characteristic of an annual meeting today. The rise to 124¼ was attributed to the appeal by the President of the company for the abolition of the duty on raw sugar. The seeming certainty that no gold will go out this week and the hope that next week's probable outgo will be offset by receipts of cash from other sources helped on the late rally. The firmness of Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting was due to reports of a heavy export movement of copper.

The bond market was somewhat irregular but responded to the late United States bonds were all unstrength of stocks.

Total sales, par value, $3,800,000. changed on the last call.

ALLEN FOUND DEAD IN ROAD.

Washington County Farmers Greatly Excited Over Supposed Murder.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 9.—James Allen, 55 years old, a farmer of East Bethlehem township, was found lying dead along the county road. Foul play is suspected.

Allen had left home to drive to the county seat, and had gone but a short distance when it is supposed he was attacked by some unknown persons and killed. His body was found within a few miles of his home by a boy, who ran to the man's home and notified his family.

Allen's horse and buggy were found about a half mile from the place where his body was found, and there were evidences of a struggle. On Allen's head was a deep wound, where he had evidently been struck with some heavy instrument.

The farmers of the township are greatly excited over the affair. Allen is survived by a wife and nine children.

She has indigestion or she would not have taken sick and if she had taken Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she would not have had indigestion. In 50c and $1 bottles at W. & W. pharmacy.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop formation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. Your only need a few does of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. How the... BRITISH Parliament OPENS

The session of the British parliament which opens Jan. 16 promises to be a most interesting and exciting one. It is called upon to face a serious situation of public affairs in England, and all classes are interested and anxious as to what measures will be adopted. Great Britain's three years of warfare in South Africa have absorbed a stupendous sum of money, and a great deal more is being added every week. Taxes are very high, the necessities of life are at the top notch, and the entire working class are wondering how they are going to make both ends meet.

The opening of a session of the American congress is attended with little or no formality, and anything like ceremony is dispensed with. The opening of the British parliament, however, is a most brilliant and impressive spectacle, and the ceremony is stately and interesting. Officially it commences at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but unofficially it begins at midnight. Of the 670 gentlemen elected to serve in the house of commons any one of them can at any moment after 12 take his seat, and seats are secured as early as possible owing to the fact that there are only enough seats for about two-thirds of the members.

A member secures his seat by placing his hat upon it; but, according to the rules of the house, it must be his real working hat and not a colorless substitute. This means that if a member were to bring a second hat with him and were to leave the house for a walk in the street he would forfeit all right to the seat on which he had placed the other hat. Members must, therefore, stay about the precincts of the house, no matter how early they may have made their appearance. But this they can do very comfortably, having at Westminster all the advantages of a first class club, dining rooms, tearooms, smoking rooms, library, bathrooms and a large staff of attendants.

Remembering how long the house of commons has existed and the part it has had to play in national annals, there need be no surprise perhaps that quaint rules and old world traditions should be so inextricably mixed in its affairs. Parliament is summoned in the name of the sovereign, but really by the cabinet. A proclamation signed by the king is published calling together the lords and the representatives of the people for the transaction of divers urgent and important business on a certain day. Tuesday or Thursday is usually chosen, and 2 o'clock is the hour fixed for the opening ceremony.

The extensive cellars beneath the houses of parliament are always

searched in the morning that parliament opens. This is done by a number of yeomen of the guards or the guards of the Tower of London, clad in quaint and picturesque uniforms. This searching of the cellars originated after the attempt of Guy Fawkes to blow up the two houses and their members in the days of James I., and such is the unwillingness of parliament to part with any of its ceremonies that this custom has survived for nearly three centuries and will probably last as long as parliament itself.

The house of commons, as the lower branch of parliament is called, opens with less ceremony than the house of lords. As the hour approaches the animated buzz of conversation is suddenly stilled by cries of "Way for the speaker! Way for the speaker!" The cry is followed by a rush of members to their places. Arrayed in a flowing silk gown, knee breeches, silk stockings, shoes with silver buckles, on his head a huge wig and carrying his three cornered hat in his right hand, the speaker, attended by his chaplain and the sergeant at arms, marches slowly and solemnly up the floor of the chamber, and as he approaches the chair which he is to occupy he makes it three low obeisances.

The members, in single file, then pass the chair and shake hands with the speaker. Before half of them have tendered their greetings, a cry again resounds through the lobby outside. This time it is "Black Rod! Way for Black Rod!" It puts an end to the shaking of the speaker's hand, and the members at once return to their seats. Black Rod, however, is not given a very warm welcome. The moment the shout of "Way for Black Rod!" reaches the sergeant at arms he springs from his chair, rushes to the open door, slams it with a most inhospitable bang right in the face of the approaching Black Rod and securely locks and bolts it.

Members, however, do not look in the least alarmed. The house of commons is full of odd ways, peculiarities and traditions, and as Black Rod is a messenger of the upper chamber this ceremony of slamming the door in his face is the immemorial way in which the commons shows its independence of the lords. The sergeant at arms is presently seen peering through a grating in the door he has just closed and presently three faint knocks are heard. The knocks are intended to indicate that Black Rod requests admission to the house of commons and does not demand it as a right. In response to this humble summons, the doors are thrown wide open at a signal from the speaker, and in walks Black Rod.

He has come to summon the commons to the house of lords to hear the king's speech. He marches up the floor, making three low bows to the chair, and on reaching the table delivers his message to the speaker, while all the members are on their feet with heads uncovered as a mark of respect to the sovereign.

When parliament is opened by the king in person, Black Rod says, "Mr. Speaker, the king commands this honorable house to attend his majesty immediately in the house of peers." But in the absence of the king the summons comes from the lords commissioners, and Black Rod softens the command to a "desire."

There is then a retreat on the part of the messenger, and it is only when he reaches the door that he turns his back on the commons. The speaker, attended by the sergeant at arms bearing the mace on his shoulder and accompanied by the members in a mass behind, follows Black Rod out through the lobbies to the bar of the house of lords.

The spectacle in the upper chamber is a most brilliant one when King Edward opens parliament in person. So keen is the desire of the commons to witness the ceremony that the members hustle and jostle each other and press closely on the heels of the speaker in their eagerness to secure good places in the very limited space allotted to them in the house of lords. The king sits on the throne, a magnificent oaken chair, richly carved and raised on a crimson dais at the end of the chamber; the crimson benches are crowded with the peers in their scarlet robes, with the bishops in their black, flowing robes and lawn sleeves of liberal amplitude; the galleries around are bright with the fair faces, the variegated dresses and the diamonds and flowers of peeresses and other ladies of high degree. This brilliant picture is magnificently framed by the dark oak paneling of the chamber. The speech gives a forecast of the business of the session and is usually read by the sovereign or by the lord chancellor at his command. In the absence of royalty the most conspicuous figures in the ceremony are five personages sitting in a row on a bench beneath the throne and wearing scarlet robes trimmed with white fur and black three cornered hats. The center figure is the lord chancellor, and the others are the lords high commissioners, who are appointed by the king to act on his behalf when he does not open parliament in person. The clerk of parliament reads the royal commission, which is the royal authority for the opening of parliament.

M'CREARY IS CHOSEN

By Kentucky Democrats As Their Candidate For U. S. Senator.

EQUIVALENT TO AN ELECTION.

Smith and Wheeler Withdrew—Cantrill Stayed in For Complimentary Vote—Brief Sketch of Prospective Senator's Career.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 10.—Standing in the rostrum of the old hall of representatives of the Kentucky capitol where nearly 30 years ago he began his public career, James B. McCreary last night accepted the nomination of the Democratic party to succeed William J. Deboe in the Senate of the United States. He received the nomination by a vote of 62 to 37 over Circuit Judge James E. Cantrill, of Scott county, nearly two-thirds of the Democratic members. He will be elected by the general assembly in joint session on Tuesday of next week over Senator Deboe, who was endorsed by his party for re-election.

The Democratic caucus was harmonious throughout, the only surprise being that occasioned several hours before it convened by the withdrawal of Congressman Charles K. Wheeler and Congresman David H. Smith, who have been in the contest for the past year. They withdrew only when it became apparent that McCreary would be nominated, and Judge Cantrill remained in the race only to receive a complimentary vote. The nomination was afterward made unanimous.

A special committee notified the nominee of the action of the caucus. He accepted the nomination in a few words, and pledged himself to his constituents and to his country.

Sketch of McCreary's Career.

James B. McCreary surrendered with a Kentucky regiment to Grant at Appomattox, being at that time a lieutenant-colonel. He entered politics in 1866, being chosen to represent Madison county in the Kentucky Legislature.

n 1875 he was elected Governor on the Democratic ticket.

After retiring from the executive office he was elected to the Forty ninth Congress and re-elected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses.

Governor McCreary was appointed by the President of the United States in 1892, one of the five commissioners to represent the United States in the International Monetary Conference. In that conference he distinguished himself as an advocate of bimetallism.

GUNS SALUTE LIBERTY BELL.

Welcome Given the Historic Relic on Its Arrival at Charleston, S. C.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 10.—The Liberty bell under the escort of Mayor Ashbridge and the delegation from the Philadelphia council, arrived yesterday at 10 o'clock from Savannah. The train was met at the station by Mayor Smythe and the board of aldermen of Charleston, and President Waggener and the directors of the Charleston Exposition company. A detachment of regulars from the artillery post and several companies of marines from the camp at the exposition with a regiment of militia, was drawn up at the station when the train bearing the bell rolled in. As the bell was lifted from the flat car a salute of thirteen guns was fired. The historic relic was placed on a decorated truck prepared for the occasion, but it was found that the wagon would not bear the weight, and the bell had to be replaced on the car and taken to the grounds by rail. At the exposition grounds Mayor Smythe extended a formal welcome to the bell and its escort, and Mayor Ashbridge responded. Several brief addresses were made and patriotic airs were sung by 2,000 school children. The bell will be placed in the Philadelphia building.

TWIN TROUBLES

They Are Often Together These Days They Wrok Havoc All Over the Country and In East Liverpool.

Weak, nervous, the digestion out of order. That is what ails a host of people. It comes about in this way. First from overwork or other causes, the nerves are burdened beyond endurance, nerve waste is not replaced, nerve force is weakened. Then the stomach loses its nerve controlling power, and indigestion follows with failing strength. When first Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills came to East Liverpool, people could hardly be convinced that this great medicine would remove these troubles. Now it is an accepted fact because of their cure of very stubborn cases no other medicine would influence. Mrs. Margaret Tracy, of 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool, O., says: "One of my family was very nervous, subject to nervous spells, weak and irritable, could not sleep and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. The result was splendid; the medicine built her up, enriched the blood, made the nerves strong, gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect. The old-time languid, played-out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy, and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine company, Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

MANHATTAN PRINCIPAL STAY

Of Market During Time of Resistance to Decline—Some Features of Market.

New York, Jan. 10.—Speculation came to a halting place yesterday and showed much hesitation about branch-cut out into new courses. The sharp upward movement in the latter part of Wednesday's session was evidently due to a drive against the shorts which were put out in the course of speculative liquidation on previous days. In the absence of important new devieopments the stock market followed the normal course in the culmination of a speculative movement, the price vibrations becoming less by degrees. There were efforts, which persisted during the greater part of the day, to contest the dropping tendency of the market, and to continue Wednesday's recovery. The marking up of special stocks was the device resorted to. It was not very effective at any time, although there was a rally one time which generally wiped out earlier losses. In the late dealings, however, when the futility of the efforts of the bulls became apparent, tired holders began to throw over stocks. Prices went to the lowest point of the day and generally closed there. St. Paul was under severe pressure and lost 2⅜. Declines of between 1 and 2 points are numerous among the prominent stocks. The principal stay of the market during the time of resistence to the decline was Manhattan. This stock was taken on an enormous scale by brokers who have been active in it ever since the present advance began. They made it touch 140⅜, an extreme rise of 4⅛, after which it reacted, closing with a net gain of 2¾. The running of the first experimental train by electricity over one of the company's lines was the ostensible cause of the stock's strength. Metropolitan Street Railway and Brooklyn Transit, the latter in a small degree, were affected in sympathy. There was a strong advance of 7⅝ in Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis on supposed prospects of larger dividends, and some of the junior Vanderbilts were affected in a similar way. Sugar, after an early decline, had its period of strength under operations by a speculative combination, based on expectation of a remission of raw sugar duties. The stock afterwards weakened to the lowest and closed at a net loss of 2. The action of U. S. Steel stocks has proved a great disappointment to a large element among professional speculators who have been looking for a sustained rise in those stocks, and an aggressive bull leadership of the market. Both classes of stocks were sold yesterday both for home and foreign account. The hostile steps still in prospect against the Northern Securities company continued a repressive influence. The market has lost its stringent tone, but renewal of supplies is by no means so abundant as expected.

Bonds were dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,630,000.

U. S. Ref. 2s coup advanced ¼ per cent on the last sall.

Many St. Croix Inhabitants Cable Minister of Finance and Rigsdag.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., Jan. 10.—The following cablegram, signed by a large number of residents of the Danish West Indies, was sent from the Danish Island of St. Croix to the Minister of Finance and the Rigsdag at Copenhagen on January 3:

"Confirming the memorial of His Majesty, King Christian, of June. 1900, the undersigned planters, representing 38,000 acres out of a total of 50,000 acres, and merchants and other representative inhabitants of the Danish West Indies, assert that if the American market is not secured by the sales of the islands, the sugar industry here will suffer severely and will have to cease in the near future, the prices for sugar now ruling being below the cost of producing that article."

Subsequent signatures secured to this message raised the ratio of representation to nine-tenths of the total acreage under cultivation.

WAS SCHLEY VERDICT LEGAL?

Knox Considering This Phase of Case. On This Depends President's Review.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The Post was expected to say today:

The case of Rear Admiral Schley is now being considered by the Attorney-General for the purpose of discovering whether there was any illegality in connection with the court of inquiry. It is understood that at the recent conference between the President and Rear Admiral Schley the later pointed out some alleged violations of law in regard to the court, and these matters have been deemed worthy of examination.

The Attorney-General is not to pass upon the merits of the case, but will deal solely with its legal phase. If he shall find that the court was properly constituted, that the precept was legally drawn, and that the rules of law were followed as to the evidence, it will then be within the province of the President to consider the case upon its merits. If the Attorney-General decides that there were illegalities, as claimed by Admiral would be vitiated. It is understood that Admiral Schley's future course concerning a formal appeal in writing to the President will depend very largely upon the decision of the Attorney-General.

NOT TO PENN'A OR WABASH.

Denial of Sale of West Virginia Central—Will Meet Wabash at Parkersburg.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10.—The Evening News yesterday has a statement from C. H. Livingston, private secretary to Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, in which he is quoted as reiterating that gentleman's denial of the alleged sale of the West Virginia Central railroad to either the Pennsylvania or Wabash systems. He explains the reported sale as follows:

"Our westerly extension will be to the Little Kanawha river to connect with the Little Kanawha River railroad. The latter will take the West Virginia Central to Parkersburg, where it will meet the Wabash railroad. The Wabash has completed its plans to build to Parkersburg, and has let a contract for the construction of a bridge across the Ohio river at that place, and approaches to cost $1,000,000."

The Lone Yuletide.

Where spend ye the eve of the Holy One's birth,
Oh, child who hast wandered away from my hearth?
The joy of the Christmastide fills all the earth;
Where pass ye the Yule of the year?

There stands a lone fir in the field of the dead,
Bedecked with frost tinsel beside thy white bed;
For candles the glint of the stars overhead,
But still is thy chamber and drear.

If one of yon stars could but guide me to thee,
I'd follow its beams to the uttermost sea;
I'd hang thee my gifts on some paradise tree
If death would but let me anear.

O mother of Christ, by the love that ye bore
The Bethlehem babe, by the Christ ye adore,
Oh, find ye my motherless child, I implore,
And give her thy love's Christmas cheer.

It is the purpose of the committee in charge to make the occasion an enjoyable one. A Pittsburg costumer will provide the suits.

Didn't Appear at Trial — Mr. and Mrs. George Parry, who were defendants in two civil cases which were set for trial in Justice McCarron's court yesterday afternoon, failed to appear and judgments against them were rendered by default. The plaintiffs were Stephen and Jennie Hague. The former claimed $24.50 for labor performed and the latter $14.40 for labor also.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Given By Miss Lillian Burford in Honor of a Visting Friend.

At her home on Sixth street last evening, Miss Lillian Burford entertained a large company of friends in a delightful manner. The affair was in honor of her visiting friend, Miss Eula Smith, of Fremont, O.

The Burford residence was beautifully decorated in pink and green. The dining room was especially pretty, red and white forming the color scheme. Strands of red and white were festooned from the arc light above the table to the four corners. In the center was a large bouquet of carnations and trailing vines. Every variety of refreshments were served.

The principal amusement of the evening was that favorite game "Tailless Donkey." The amusement was entered into by all present with the greatest of zest and resulted in the carrying off of first prize—a handsome water color, the work of Miss Josephine Burford—by Harry T. Hall. David Crumrine won the "booby" prize. Music, both vocal and instrumental, aided in making the evening more pleasant.

About 40 guests partook of the hospitality of the hostess. Among the out-of-town guests were: Miss Elizabeth Martin, of East End; George Lowrey and David Crumrine, of Wellsville. The young people had a most enjoyable evening.

Woodmen's Installation.

The Modern Woodmen installed officers at their meeting last night. An enjoyable entertainment was held, the program consisting of vocal and instrumental music and readings. The order is in a prosperous condition.

The new officers are: V. C., W. S. Culp; W. A. D. F. Bowers; banker, Samuel McShane; clerk, H. L. G. Jackson; escort, Josiah Ford; watchman, William Maley; sentry, H. Mossman; managers, Joseph Garner, C. C. Wells, Joseph Ford; D. H. C., Louis Lord.

Notice of Meeting.

WILL GIVE 'EM TIPS

CINCINNATI'S CHIEF OF POLICE HAS A SCHEME.

Will Unfold It at Columbus at a Meeting of the "Blue Coats." Thompson Going.

A meeting of the chiefs of police and marshals of the different cities and towns of the state will be held at Columbus Jan. 14, at which time an effort will be made to effect an organiaztion. The call for the meeting has just been sent out by Chief of Police Philip Deitsch, of Cincinnati.

The organization when effected will be of great worth to the police departments in the state in apprehending criminals. While all the larger organizations are members of the national organization of chiefs of police, the smaller towns and villages are entirely without the protection which such an organization can give. The mutual help that is given the members is very great.

Chief Thompson, who expects to attend, and who received a notification of the meeting today, said to a reporter: "I think it is the best move that has ever been made by the police authorities of the state, and it will go a long way toward putting down the crimes which are being committed daily all over the state.

"Organized gangs work in the small towns, robbing banks and committing similar crimes, and their harvest has been great in the past year. This organization will do much toward putting down crime."

NO ROBBERY ATTEMPTED

Officers Deny a Report Concerning the Recent Commotion At a Broadway Saloon.

Policemen Davidson and Aufderheide, who were Tuesday night covering the beat in which lower Broadway is included, at which time the shots were fired in front of Campbell's saloon, are indignant over the report that has gained some credence that a burglary at the saloon was attempted.

The officers were on the scene immediately after the shots were fired, and the young man with the pistol admitted himself that he saw no robber. The facts of the case are as published in the News Review, and the alleged thief was no one other than a harmless drunken man who broke the glass in the saloon door while trying to gain admission to get another drink.

There is a probability that the young man who did the shooting will be called on to pay a fine.

FOR CLERK OF COURTS

CITY CLERK JAMES N. HANLEY IS A CANDIDATE.

Well Fitted For the Position—A Good Republican, Deserving of Hearty Support.

The announcement is made elsewhere in these columns today, of the candidacy of James N. Hanley for the office of Clerk of Courts for which office he is undeniably peculiarly well fitted. Local voters will undoubtedly confine their efforts largely to the canvass of Mr. Hanley for the nomination to the office to which he aspires.

"Jim" Hanley, as he is popularly known, was born and raised in this city and received a good common school education in the city schools.

He left school early and took a position as a jiggerman in a local pottery which he held for several years after being first elected city clerk, attending largely to the duties of that office after working hours.

He was a member of the local jiggermen's union and was presiding officer of local union No. 12, N. B. of O. P. two successive terms.

For the past ten years Mr. Hanley has devoted his entire time to the duties of city clerk with complete satisfaction to the citizens of East Liverpool.

He has been an active member of both city and county Republican central committees for several years and is at present treasurer of the county Republican executive committee, and of the city central committee.

These qualities demand that loyal voters should stand by the home candidate and give him full support, thus undoubtedly serving the best interests of the county.

Mr. Hanley's career in this city has left him peculiarly clean handed and he has never been half hearted or lukewarm in his efforts to serve the interests of the party from whose hands he asks support and election to the office of clerk of courts. 7-h will get a place on the Australian ballot this year without petition as it obtained the requisite number of votes at the last state election.

Wm. S. Harris, who represents the 24th-26th joint senatorial districts in Ohio legislature, is the son of Rufus Harris, who was reared in Salem, Columbiana county. Mr. and Mrs. David Harris, the grand children of Senator Harris, moved to Salem from an eastern city considerably over a half century ago, and resided there many years. Both died in Salem and were buried in the Friends' cemetery there. Mr. Harris' home is in Ashtabula. He served two terms in the house of representatives in the 90's, and was the author of the famous Harris local option bill. The bill, it will be remembered, was defeated after a hard struggle. The Anti-Saloon league is relying on Senator Harris to secure the passage of a local option law similar to the Clark bill, which was defeated two years ago in the senate.

Andy Jackson, a friend and comrade of Postmaster Surles, of East Liverpool, was elected sergeant-at-arms in the house. A candidate named Booze was turned down by the Republicans because his name was too Democratic.

FOR CITY CLERK

John Reark, an Earnest Republican Party Leader, Aspires to Office.

RIVER INTERESTS

QUESTION OF IMPROVED NAVIGATION A LIVE ONE.

All Along the Ohio Agitation for Government Work Is Growing.

The river has been at a stationary stage of 8 feet for two days, and there is a continuance of good packet water. Floating ice is not impeding navigation.

Boats are arriving with fair regularity, but the Lorena, which was due yesterday noon, did not arrive yesterday as expected and Mr. Martindill received no dispatches as to her whereabouts. She had been caught in the ice below, but was supposed to have been repaired and able to start up this week.

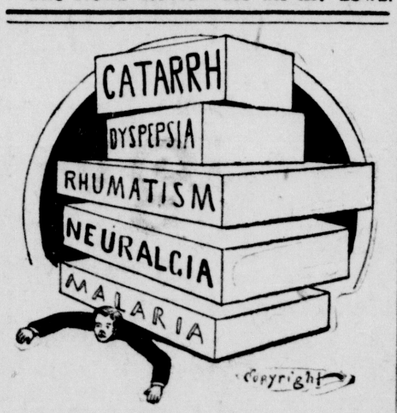

The Greenwood was up and the Ben Hur came down late last night. A considerable amount of freight is being handled and East Liverpool continues to hold her own as one of the best points for shipping along the river.

Proprietor Gus Martindill has now occupied his new quarters at the lower end of the wharf boat. His office is nicely carpeted and cozy. Carpenters commenced the work of remodeling the upper deck. The old waiting room and office are being turned into living apartments. A kitchen, dining room, parlor and sleeping rooms. The small pained windows are being changed to modern windows and other alterations are taking place. Painters have also begun the first coat on the exterior of the boat.

Towns along the river are agitating congressional action on the improvement of the upper Ohio, which would be invaluable to summer shipping. A citizens' meeting was held in Beaver Thursday evening to discuss the topic. To give a depth of water sufficient for the larger river boats at all seasons between Cincinnati and Cairo it is estimated by engineers that 93 dams are necessary. These would cost almost that many millions in money, but any partial number of dams on the upper river will be beneficial. A feeder favored by engineers in supplying water is to have a well located canal constructed between Beaver and Lake Erie.
